Wilson Signs Bills on Way Home.

First Time in History an Executive has Made Laws Away from America.

Pretty War Brides on Presidential Ship; Due to Arrive Monday.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ON BOARD THE U.S.S. GEORGE WASHINGTON, June 30.—(By Wireless to the Associated Press.) At her present rate of progress, the George Washington will arrive at Hoboken at noon, Monday.

The bills awaiting the President's signature and documents relating to much other government business were soon spread on the President's desk. In addition there were a number of army and navy court-martial reports and several reports from the Department of Justice.

This, the first time in history that such operations of receiving and signing bills in mid-ocean had occurred, was commented upon on board as marking another record breaking advance in modern methods of communication.

The President signed the railroad appropriation bill, the Indian bill, some minor measures and other documents which needed signature to become law before July 1, in mid-ocean at 8 a.m., Greenwich time, today.

A pouch containing the bills was dispatched on the eastbound transport Great Northern from New York on June 24. This morning the Great Northern met the George Washington and the important papers were sent on the President's ship.

Technically, the President was on American territory when he signed the measures.

RUSH TO WASHINGTON.

The President's ship was 357 miles out at noon today, running sixteen knots an hour, which indicates her arrival in port about Monday noon.

It is expected the Presidential party will proceed direct to Washington, without stopping at New York, and that the President's first official utterance in America is likely to be when he in person will present before Congress a detailed statement of the proceedings of the Peace Conference. He carries with him copies of the treaty.

President and Mrs. Wilson are enjoying the balmy air and sunny breeze on an ideal passage. They spent much of the day on the upper deck. The President wore his customary tweed cap and Mrs. Wilson a blue tam-o'-shanter.

At 11 o'clock in the morning the alarm sounded for boat drill and the President went through the maneuvers with the rest, taking a place with his wife and the others in a lifeboat. The President complimented Capt. McCauley on the smartness of his crew in manning the boats and having everything prepared.

CHRISTIAN SERVICE HELD IN COLISEUM.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

ROME, June 15.—On the very site where once Christians were offered as the prey of wild beasts to amuse the Roman populace, in the Rome coliseum, a Christian service has at last been held. It was celebrated recently in memory of the Boy Scouts of the Italian army, who had done messenger service at the front and were killed in action.

FIELD ARTILLERY ON BORDER ASK DISCHARGE

PETITION OF 406 NONCOMMISSIONED OFFICERS AND MEN ADDRESSED TO CONGRESS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

EL PASO, June 30.—Immediate discharge from the army is asked by 406 noncommissioned officers and enlisted men of the Eighty-second Field Artillery stationed here, in a petition which they forwarded to Washington tonight.

The petition is addressed to the Senate and House Military Affairs committees.

Referring to conditions on the Mexican border, the petitioners declare:

"We are reminded of the unsettled conditions prevailing on the Mexican border. We wish to bring to your attention the offer of Gov. Hobby, (of Texas) of two brigades of troops, 7000 men, for border service. The refusal of the offer indicates the War Department's intention to hold us for all emergencies arising along the border, even though our enlistments have expired."

"Conditions on the border are such that it is impossible to discharge the men enlisted for the war emergency," said Brig.-Gen. James B. Erwin, commanding the border district tonight.

The Ninety-sixth Aero Squadron passed through here today on its way from Aberdeen Md., to Columbus, N. M., for duty in connection with the border patrol. Official announcement that a dirigible was to be sent here for border patrol and observation work was made today.

ST. LOUIS BARTENDERS SERVE IN MOURNING.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ST. LOUIS, June 30.—War-time prohibition will be enforced to the letter in St. Louis unless official instructions are received to the contrary, Federal officials here announced late today. All policemen were ordered to report violators to the Federal authorities.

More than 50,000 persons were served at cafes tonight, it was estimated. In the downtown saloons, all bartenders wore black neckties and mourning bands, and the mirrors were festooned with crepe.

SEVERAL KILLED IN MONTANA WINDSTORM.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MINOT (N. D.) June 30.—A windstorm which bordered on a tornado swept Northeastern Montana and Northwestern North Dakota late last night and early this morning, killing several, injuring many others and causing great damage to buildings both in towns and in rural sections.

Wires are all down west of Minot and only meager details are available tonight.

MUST GET FLEET OIL.

Pacific Dealers are Given Orders.

Bids Considered Excessive, Navy Department Commandeers Product.

Protest is Made to Carranza Against Stopping American Drilling.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Forced to abandon the plan to maintain a large naval force in the Pacific or to commandeer enough fuel oil to supply the new fleet, the Navy Department today placed navy orders with west coast concerns for sufficient gasoline and fuel oil to supply the demands of the large naval force recently ordered to the Pacific.

An effort was made recently to get the fuel required by contract but the prices bid for the lower grade of fuel oil required were almost double those asked by contractors on the east coast, regardless of the considerable difference in transportation cost.

Under the navy orders placed today the west coast concerns will be required to supply the navy's demands and to accept a price to be fixed later after the Navy Department has carefully investigated the cost of production and delivery at Pacific Coast points.

PROTEST TO CARRANZA.

[SECRETLY DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, June 30.—The State Department filed a protest with the Mexican government on April 2 of this year, it was learned today, against the refusal of the Carranza authorities to permit American oil companies to drill wells in their own lands. The Mexican government has just replied to this protest declaring that no permits, provisional or otherwise, would be granted to companies that "had not complied with the laws," which compliance would constitute admission that the Mexican government owned the lands legally acquired by the companies.

It was pointed out in official circles that the reply of Carranza was not made until after the Juarez incident, when American troops crossed the border and drove the Villistas out of the city. Since then Carranza has ordered troops to the oil fields to prevent forcibly the oil companies from drilling wells or doing other construction work in connection with the production of oil.

DRIVEN OUT BY TROOPS.

Advices from Mexico City report that several drilling crews of different American companies have been driven out by the soldiers under direct orders issued by Carranza. These orders were transmitted by the petroleum department to the War Department on May 16 and contain specific instructions to the military commanders at Tampico and Tuxpam.

This is interpreted here to be an overt act of confiscation.

The controversy between the Mexican and United States governments over Mexico's avowed determination to seize the oil properties belonging to American citizens and companies has reached another crisis. It is the subject of comment in official circles here, although no formal statement regarding the situation has been given out. The ordering of troops forcibly to prevent drilling is cited as another example of Carranza's truculent attitude which has invariably followed the granting of any favor by the American government.

GERMAN INFLUENCE AT WORK.

The Mexican government until now has respected the protests made by the United States, Great Britain, France and Holland against the seizure of oil lands, but has engaged in a continuous campaign to coerce the American companies into admitting that the Mexican government owns the lands. Such an admission would have the effect of making the protests of the State Department meaningless.

It has been definitely established, according to Mexican advices, that German influence is still behind the Carranza determination to force foreigners out of the oil fields and to confiscate their properties. German agencies have been steadily at work since the signing of the armistice to secure the Mexican oil and other trade for Germany. State Department officials are said to have information of this effort on the part of Germany and of Carranza's approval and aid in furthering the effort. The exclusion of Mexico from the League of Nations has been a feature of this "entente" between Germany and Mexico.

CANADIAN WHEAT TO BE SENT TO GREECE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

TORONTO, June 30.—Wheat in all Canadian elevators has been commandeered by the board of grain supervisors in order to provide Greece with 15,000,000 bushels within the next twelve months, it was announced tonight. No shipments can be made at present without permits from the board.

JOLLY END IS DEMON'S.

Bereft Crowds in "Full" Mourning.

Dying Gurgles Acclaimed by Throngs at Vernon and Wet Beach Areas.

Roads Guarded, but Disorder is Absent; Jails Become Temples of Sorrow.

Los Angeles went dry last night after the "wettest" day in its history. It was said that one-quarter of a million dollars was a conservative estimate of the last day's booze bill for Los Angeles county, including Venice and Vernon. More than $100,000 was spent yesterday in the city of Los Angeles, where crowds besieged the city's seventy-five retail and wholesale wine and beer stores, and carried away arm-loads, trunk-loads, automobile-loads of 14 per cent. goods of every description.

Big crowds filled the streets all day yesterday and last evening, and every cafe and hotel with a liquor license did a land office business. The City Jail was early turned into a temple of sorrow and at midnight the line of sorrowing drunks was coming stronger than ever. For the most part the crowd took their bereavement good-naturedly, and only minor disorders were reported at the score of "wakes" held in the city and county.

MANY "WAKES" HELD.

The old Baker block on North Main street, once the center of the city, and in the past years the true Bohemia of the city, was the scene of what was perhaps the largest, and undoubtedly the most picturesque farewell party and wake staged for John Barleycorn in Los Angeles last night.

Two bands, a traveling jazz band, that moved from studio to studio, and a confusion of pretty women, gaily colored lanterns, and artists of all sorts and descriptions held sway.

Exactly at midnight a pageant, "The Rise and Fall of John Barleycorn" was staged in the spacious hall of the building. There were seven scenes, beginning with the stone age, and ending with the mournful year of 1919. Beautiful cabaret girls, dancing, poetry, song and everything that old John ever claimed for his own were represented in the pageant, was written by Carl Clausson and Betty Murphy and staged by the artists of the olr Baker block.

The Eagles also had a sad wake, their ceremony including Tiny Kick, he of the 14-per cent. short-lived career, as well as his father John Barleycorn.

While a large audience gathered around the coffin, surrounded by candles stuck into the mouths of empty bottles, and some of the mourners reinforced themselves with long, bitter draughts of the things that was about to pass out, Bernard Mullen delivered a sad, sad oration.

"The youngster and his father came to the end of their career from a solar plexus blow delivered by a bunch of long hairs while the boys were away in trenches," the speaker said. "But costly flowers and empty beer bottles bring no condolence to the dead," he added, with a sob.

Down under the sidewalk in Jake's cafe, where the old Rathskeller was found in the ancient days, a cabaret girl was singing, "Should Auld Acquaintance be Forgot," as the clock struck 9.

At McKee's a few solemn parties were clustered around the tables. They, like Brutus of old, had come to bury John and not to praise him, so there was no weeping or wailing or gnashing of teeth.

At Jahnke's, the New China, the Maple and the few remaining others, when the clock struck 9 the beer steins gave way to glasses of milk, the dancing went on and poor old John was soon forgotten.

LIQUOR STOCKS GONE; CAFES TO STAY OPEN.

DEALERS QUIT; SAY 2¾ BEER "AIN'T, THAT'S ALL, IT AIN'T."

All of the downtown restaurants and cafes serving beer and wine with meals will be hard hit by war-time prohibition, but for the present at least all will remain open on strictly a food-and-soft-drinks basis. McKee's Cafe will continue its cabaret, and dancing will continue at Jahnke's Tavern.

All of the restaurants have been preparing for the "drouth" for many months and believe that they can survive on a dry basis by increasing the volume of their food business. The restaurants have been on a beer-and-wine basis since April 1, 1918, when the "kick" was taken out of the liquor business in Los Angeles.

Henry Laub, president of the Old Plantation Distilling Company, at 108 South Broadway, commenting on the inauguration of prohibition yesterday said:

"All of the seventy-five wholesale and retail beer and wine stores in Los Angeles sold out their stocks today. The demand far exceeded the supply. We are

THIRSTY FIND ROAD BLOCKED.

Locked in Jam of Traffic on Boulevard, Never Get to Beach Oases.

Deputy Sheriffs Clark, Ledbetter and Bennett, stationed on the Venice road to insure order among pilgrims to beach oases, reported to the Sheriff's office late last evening that traffic on Washington boulevard was so heavy that the thoroughfare was practically blocked, and many a thirsty wayfarer would not reach Venice until too late to slake his thirst.

The officers found two automobiles overturned on Inglewood road, a mile from Washington boulevard, but no traces of the cars' former occupants. One of the machines had been stolen from Ben R. Conrad, of 2742 Malabar street.

NOTHING IS KNOWN OF CYCLOPS IN GERMANY.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BERLIN, June 29 (via Copenhagen, June 30.)—After official inquiry into questions raised by the lost United Stateh collier Cyclops story, the German Admiralty today authorized the following statement:

"It is absolutely untrue that the United States collier Cyclops is in any German port. The German government has no information concerning the fate of the vessel, except it has heard it has vanished. No submarines were in the vicinity of where it disappeared and our records show nothing whatever concerning this vessel."

MILWAUKEE, June 30.—Milwaukee saloonkeepers are ready to obey the mandates of the war-time prohibition law. It is estimated that 6000 proprietors and bartenders are affected.

BOSTON, June 30.—Hotels, restaurants and saloonkeepers made preparations today for the "wettest" night in their history. Statisticians said 3825 bartenders, porters, bottlers, brewery workers and wine clerks would lose their jobs.

BALTIMORE, June 30.—In a statement today announcing the local government policy regarding the enforcement of the war-time prohibition law, United States District Attorney Samuel K. Dennis said that light wines and beer containing 2¾ per cent. alcohol or less may be sold in Baltimore after today. The statement was made after a conference with the police board.

The Statement by Attorney-General as to Prohibition.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—The statement of Atty.-Gen. Palmer, tonight, announcing that the Department of Justice will take no action, pending decisions in present litigation, against persons manufacturing or selling beer and wines containing 2 3-4 per cent. or less of alcoholic content, follows:

After today, it will be unlawful to sell for beverage purposes any distilled spirits and any beer, wine or other intoxicating malt or vinous liquor, except for export. This prohibition will continue under the terms of the law "until the conclusion of the present war and thereafter until the termination of demobilization." As long as the law thus remains in force, it must be obeyed, and I intend that the Department of Justice shall do its utmost to perform the duty which the Congress has placed upon it.

This law has been held to be constitutional and valid by the Circuit Court of Appeal, sitting in New York. It plainly makes unlawful the sale of whisky, brandy and other distilled spirits and wine.

The only controversy that has arisen is as to whether the sale of beer containing so little alcohol as not to be in fact intoxicating is prohibited. The government's contention has been that the act prohibits the manufacture and sale of beer containing as much as ½ of 1 per cent. of alcohol, but the interpretation of the act is not free from difficulty, and I am endeavoring to have the question settled by the courts at the earliest possible moment. My course, with respect to beer containing less than 2 3-4 per cent. of alcohol — which it is claimed is not intoxicating—will depend upon the ruling which will soon be made by the District Courts, in which cases are now pending, or in which other cases may be brought. I have no power to grant amnesty to any who may see fit to manufacture or sell beer pending an authoritative judicial construction of the law, and I am sure that brewers and dealers generally understand that the pendency of litigation will be no protection against prosecution for offenses under the law.

But, with respect to whisky, brandy and other distilled spirits, wine and beer containing more than 2 3-4 per cent. of alcohol, and other intoxicating malt or vinous liquors, the prohibition is beyond controversy, and but one course is open to the Department of Justice. All persons found selling such liquors must be arrested and prosecuted. The District Attorneys will cause warrants to be issued for all offenders as to whom evidence is furnished by the bureau of investigation, the agents of the Internal Revenue Bureau of the Treasury Department, lo-

COURTS TO FIX POLICY.

Palmer Waits Rule on Intoxicants.

Prohibition may not Stop Manufacture, Sale of 2¾ Per Cent. Beverage.

Warning Given that Whisky is Legally Dead; House Acts on Enforcement.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, June 30.—As war-time prohibition took effect tonight, the Department of Justice announced that its agents throughout the country would not attempt tomorrow to stop the sale of 2¾ per cent. beer.

This eleventh-hour development, a flat reversal of an earlier ruling today by the department, was due to the uncertainty as to how the Federal District Court of New York might rule on a pending claim by brewers that beer containing that much alcohol was not intoxicating.

But while this uncertainty existed as to beer of lighter alcoholic percentage than that sold generally heretofore, full warning was given that with respect to whisky and all beverages as to whose intoxicating powers there was no doubt, every government legal agency would be set to work in a determined effort to prevent their manufacture and sale.

CONGRESS MAY ACT.

How long the sale of 2¾ per cent. beer might continue would depend ordinarily upon the speed of the courts, but Congress meanwhile will step to the front in an effort to complete the effectiveness of the war-time law.

Exactly what they have refused heretofore to do, prohibition members of the House will now attempt —passage of a straight, clear-cut bill for enforcement of war-time prohibition.

When word spread tonight that the Attorney-General by his ruling had permitted beer saloons and breweries to remain in operation, members of the Judiciary Committee counted noses to find a sufficient number ready to go to the front to demand separation of the enforcement measures so as to get through at once a bill that would stop the sale of all beer containing more than ½ of 1 per cent. alcohol.

Congressional leaders, it was said, refused to abandon plans for a recess beginning probably tomorrow, in order to put the bill through as an emergency measure, and the whole question of prohibition will be held up until next Monday, at the earliest. There were indications tonight that a hard fight would be made in behalf of an amendment to be offered by Representative Igoe, Democrat of Missouri, would permit the President to set aside the war-time act in so far as it relates to light wines and beer.

BOLD STROKE.

While the Attorney-General's staff was wrestling with the question of intoxicating and nonintoxicating beer, the Judiciary Committee sent to the House its report in which the bold assertion was made that anything over ½ of 1 per cent. alcohol was intoxicating within the purview of the general law construction, and that Congress, and not the court, should fix the alcoholic percentage of all beverages, sale of which is restricted by prohibition statutes.

Atty.-Gen. Palmer in his statement as to the policy of the department, called attention to the fact

WYOMING SEIZES LIQUOR.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHEYENNE (Wyo.) June 30.—While the celebration marking the approach of State-wide prohibition was at its height here early tonight, Gov. Carey issued orders to the newly-created State prohibition department to seize at midnight all liquor left in the hands of saloonists throughout the State. The same orders were issued to prosecuting attorneys and sheriffs in all counties.

In practically all saloons here early tonight the stock of whiskey and other liquors had became so low as to make it improbable that a large amount would be left at midnight. The beer supply was exhausted.

Citizens of the city were joined by many from Colorado and Western Nebraska in today's celebration. Saloons were crowded throughout the afternoon and night. There had been no marked disorder up to an early hour tonight.

OBSERVE WET FUNERAL, REPRIEVE

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) June 30.—Wet celebrants in Kansas City paused a moment and pondered early tonight over the news from Washington that a temporary respite had been granted light wines and beer and then decided that the ceremony could be carried on either as a funeral rite or to observe an eleventh-hour reprieve for the liquor business.

Francis M. Wilson, United States District Attorney, declared he had received no instructions to permit the sale of wine and beer and that, until such instructions were received, persons who sold beverages after midnight tonight, which did not comply with the letter of the law, would be prosecuted.

San Francisco Lid Clamped Tight at Midnight.

But Liquor Purchased Before Lasted Long.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 30.—Hearing of a petition for an injunction by the Rainier Brewing Company to restrain United States Attorney Annette Adams from seeking to enforce the law prohibiting manufacture after June 30 of beer containing less than 2¾ per cent. of alcohol was postponed this afternoon by Federal Judge Sawtelle.

Judge Sawtelle from the bench took cognizance of press dispatches stating the Department of Justice intended to permit the manufacture and sale of light wines and beer. If the Department of Justice carries out this intention, Judge Sawtelle declared, the injunction suit would not be necessary.

Mrs. Adams said tonight she had received no order from the Department of Justice regarding enforcement of the prohibition act and in the absence of such an order would proceed on the assumption that sale of liquor for beverage purposes was prohibited after June 30.

Chief of Police White declared his previous order that the sale of liquor in San Francisco cease tonight at midnight will stand. Dancing was to be permitted all night at hotels and cafes and liquor purchased and on the tables before midnight may be consumed thereafter, Chief White said.

CELEBRATION UNHINDERED.

San Francisco had prepared tonight for a celebration of what was presumed to be the end for a time at least of the liquor traffic and word from Washington of a possible relaxation of the law seemed not to dampen the ardor of the merry-makers.

Hotel and cafe men were undecided as to their future course. Many said they would go ahead with plans for converting their barrooms for the sale of soft drinks. Others declared they would remain closed until final word came from Washington. Practically without exception, San Francisco liquor dealers paid their license fees for the coming quarter, hoping to retain any privileges possession of a license may bring.

A "going away party" to John Barleycorn and his generic family has been in progress since Saturday night, when hotels and cafes here did the greatest business of their history.

Retail liquor stores did a tremendous business today and most of the clubs have disposed of their liquor stocks. Many saloons will become restaurants soon, but in almost every instance the fixtures will be kept intact awaiting the return, even for a short period, of the liquor traffic.

Liquor dealers as a unit have announced there will be no attempt to evade the law, and strict enforcement has been promised by Chief of Police White and the District Attorney's office.

F. G. Roney, secretary of the California Wet Federation, said the order from Washington would permit breweries to operate and the sale of beer could continue, but wines still would be banned.

"The lowest percentage of alcohol in California wines is 9," Mr. Roney said. "This is in new claret and white wine. From 14 to 18 per cent. is considered a low alcohol content in wines.

"It would hardly seem worth while for the wine men to attempt to produce a wine with as little as 2¾ per cent. alcohol and if they did the wine would not amount to anything."

NEW YORK LID TIGHT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, June 30.—After midnight tonight New Yorkers will have all evidence of "hardness" removed from liquor consumed outside their own homes, according to a decision reached this afternoon by more than 6000 hotel proprietors, restaurateurs and saloonkeepers.

After meetings held in various parts of the city, the wets announced they would obey the war-time prohibition act "in letter and spirit"—but would keep their bars open. Gliding across these mahogany barriers, however, would be only 2¾ per cent. beer and light wines, they said. If the alcoholic content of these wines proved too high, it would be "modified with seltzer," they added.

The police received orders tonight to enforce the ban on "hard" liquor after midnight.

Intimations that there would be no "indiscriminate arrests" for the sales of 2¾ per cent. beer and wines were made at the offices of William N. Offley, agent of the Department of Justice, and United States District Attorney Francis G. Kaffey. Evidence of violations, however, it was said, might be taken and accumulated for prosecutions some time within the three-year statute of limitations, if a Federal court decided 2¾ per cent. beer is "intoxicating."

Upon his arrival in New York President Wilson will be met by a delegation representing all of the international labor unions in New York, who will present him with a demand that a referendum vote be taken on the constitutional amendment making national prohibition a law. This announcement was made today by E. R. Hannah, president of the Central Federated Union, which has a membership of 250,000.

"The 'no beer, no work' slogan is far from dead," declared Mr. Hannah in discussing the movement. "Labor now is watching developments in the war-time prohibition law. We have been assured that the sale of beer will not cease on July 1. If the war-time act is enforced serious trouble may result."

Mr. Hannah stated that the prohibition law was playing directly into the hands of the radical element of organized labor.

STILL WAITING ON WASHINGTON

No Word Yet on Enforcement of Prohibition Law.

However, Federal Officials Expect No Violations.

Liquor Still Held Here may be Redistilled, 'tis Said.

While advices from Washington yesterday were that the enforcement of the war-time prohibition law, which went into effect at midnight, would be placed in the hands of the Department of Justice, Special Agent Keep, who is in charge of the local office, had received no instructions last night up to the hour that he closed his office for the day. He did, however, state that he thought he would have definite and official news today as to what he was expected to do.

Mr. Keep stated that there is no reason why any retail or wholesale dealer in liquor should mistake the purport of the prohibition enactment. It makes it illegal for any one to sell to give away any liquor of any character after midnight of June 30, 1919, and prescribes a penalty of imprisonment of not more than one year and a fine of more than $1000, or both in the discretion of the court, for violators of the law.

Agent Keep had made no special arrangements yesterday to look after violators of the law, if there be any such. He was ready, however, at a moment's notice to move after those who imagined that Congress was in fun when it enacted the prohibition law. Other than the fact that the dispatches from Washington indicate that the Department of Justice would have the enforcement of the law, he had no information.

Agent Keep stated that he understands the law to allow the delivery of liquor after last midnight, in cases where bona-fide sales were made previous to that hour, but that dealers must be in a position to show that the sales were made before the ban was on.

Collector of Internal Revenue Carter awaited advices from Washington all day, but received none. He was more than pleased that it had been determined to place the enforcement of the prohibition law in the hands of the Department of Justice.

In spite of the fact that it was considered settled that absolute prohibition would set in after midnight last night, James Alexander, in charge of the liquor licenses in the office of the Collector of Internal Revenue, said that possibly 100 dealers in liquor, especially by retail, had purchased and paid for stamps showing that they had paid the government license for one year from June 30, 1919.

When Collector Carter was asked what the government would do with the 130,000 gallons of whisky and 30,000 gallons of brandy in the local warehouses, he stated that the only thing to be done was for the government to redistill the liquor and extract its alcoholic contents, that while there was a law against the sale of liquor, there was none against the traffic in alcohol, and the stuff might be utilized in that way.

MERE MONUMENT TO VANISHED INDUSTRY.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TO KEEP BIG WINE BOTTLE AS A SOUVENIR.

Among the thousands of speculations engendered by the passing of John Barleycorn, many were expressed regarding one of the largest displays in the Chamber of Commerce exhibit hall, second floor of the Chamber of Commerce Building.

This is a replica of a huge bottle of California wine. It stands nearly forty feet in height and is eight feet in diameter, and is made up of 1400 ordinary-size wine bottles, representing almost every variety of the grape beverage made in California during the past thirty years.

Secretary Frank Wiggins of the chamber, who assembled the exhibit years ago and who has made displays of California's famous wines at every world exposition for the past quarter century, has been asked thousands of times what disposition would be made of the majestic bottle representing vanished industry of California, valued at $200,000,000. Wiggins has made the same reply to all—that the biggest bottle will be left as a monument to the vineyards of the State—planted at a time when California wines were in great demand. Much of the growth and prosperity of the State are attributed to the wine industry by pioneer business men.

cal officers or others, and the marshals and their deputies will promptly serve such warrants.

With the co-operation of local authorities, it is believed that the law can be made effective. For this reason, I call attention to the fact that it is the duty of local arresting officers to make arrests for offenses committed in their presence, whether the offense be against the laws of the State or the laws of the United States. I confidently expect the hearty co-operation of local municipal authorities, and earnestly request that all police officers be instructed to arrest persons found selling in violation of the war prohibition act, and to take such persons before a United States Commissioner, when the District Attorney will cause warrants to issue. Local officers should also report to the United States Attorneys evidence of offenses not committed in their presence.

ARMY STARTS MOVING TOWARDS HOME TODAY.

FOURTH AND FIFTH DIVISIONS TURNED OVER FOR TRANSPORTATION TO BREST.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

COBLENZ, June 29 (via Paris, June 30.)—This man's army starts moving homeward at 6:45 o'clock Tuesday morning, July 1.

The Fourth and Fifth divisions have been turned over to the S.O.S. for transportation to Brest.

Including the five divisions, a corps of army troops, there are approximately 133,000 soldiers in Luxemburg and Germany. It is officially estimated they can be moved in 125 trains, each train carrying 1050 officers and men.

The divisions are to move at the rate of four trains a day. The first train will carry the headquarters of the Tenth Brigade and part of the Eleventh Infantry. The Fifth Division will be out of Luxemburg in four days. The first units of the Fourth Division will entrain on July 6. Twenty-four trains have been alloted to this outfit.

Movement of the last remaining combat divisions, scheduled to begin last Wednesday, was delayed almost a week, due entirely to the Germans and their difficulty in finding responsible persons to sign the treaty of peace.

Troop trains returning empty will be loaded en route with German prisoners who were captured by the American Expeditionary Forces.

LIQUOR STOCKS GONE, CAFES STAY OPEN.

permitted until Wednesday night to fill all bona fide mail orders received today accompanied by cash. It would be conservative to place the amount spent in Los Angeles today for beer and wine at $100,000.

"It has been the biggest day in the history of the beer and wine business in this city, of course. I am inclined to believe that the sale of war beer may be called off for a few months before January 1, after demobilization becomes a fact, but many of the dealers will not reopen for the short remaining period.

"While the retail and most of the wholesale dealers sold out their entire stock, the big vineyard companies and the brewers have plenty of wine and beer in bonded warehouses, but not as much as the public generally believes.

"The report from Washington that beverages containing 2¾ per cent. of alcohol might be permitted does not interest me. Two and three-quarters per cent. beer isn't; that's all, it isn't."

Col. Laub was jovial, as usual, even though he stood in the midst of empty crates and there was not a drop in the cellar of his old wine store. Signs on his windows attracted much attention. Some of them read:

We Know What We are Going to Do. But What are You Going to Do?

The New Industry—Blind Pig —Coming—

Good-by Booze—We are Leaving You. Best of Friends Must Part

Next Week is Buttermilk Week. How Does that Fix You?

Not Au Revoir, but Good-by Forever.

We Don't Monkey with Uncle Sam. He Says Quit Monday. —And We Quit—

One of the busiest wine-and-beer stores in Los Angeles was that of the Union Wine Association, at 516 South Main street, where the last crates on hand were being opened early last evening. Here the suitcase brigade clamored all day about the counters, and auto owners carried boxes of bottles to waiting machines. In one of the windows were signs in large letters reading:

Fill Your Cellar Now.

Time is Fleeting, So's Our Stock.

Last Day.

Time and Prohibition Wait for No Man.

OFFICERS ON HAND.

Agents of the Department of Justice and representatives of the Internal Revenue Collector's office centered their efforts last night at Vernon and at Venice, for in Los Angeles conditions from the law-enforcement standpoint were the same they have been since April, 1918. The Federal officials had notified Vernon and Venice dealers that they must stop selling liquor at midnight, and they had all promised to do so. Most of them took no chances and closed their doors at that hour, or stopped serving customers until the places could be cleared and the doors shut.

Federal agents visited all of the licensed places in the two resorts between midnight and 1 a.m. and reported all closed or not selling. Violations of the law by the licensed cafe and saloonkeepers is not feared by the Federal authorities, but the individual traveling liquor salesman and the keeper of the "kitchen barroom" are among those the Federal officials will go after now with a big club.

PLENTY OF BOOZE BUT DEALERS QUIT.

SANTA BARBARA GOES DRY WITH GOOD SIZE RESERVE STOCK.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA BARBARA, June 30.—Everything is dry as a bone in Santa Barbara tonight, though 10 o'clock was the official closing time for John Barleycorn, the wholesale houses turned the key in the locks early and called quits.

At the hotels, only dining reservations made in advance were served with intoxicants. Five years ago Santa Barbara voted out the retail saloon and public bar, only wholesalers could do business.

Hotel licenses were issued to several places under the law that prohibited a bar, but allow service at a table with a meal. The wholesalers report tonight a stock on hand valued at $75,000. Only Scotch whiskys have been exhausted in the sale of liquors preparatory to the closing, and dealers have been caught with large stocks of liquors on hand. The general public thought at the last moment the government would grant a stay of execution of the order.

GEORGE GOULD LOSES AS STATE EXECUTOR.

ACTION BASED ON MOTION OF FRANK JAY, BROTHER OF MAN REMOVED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, June 30.—George J. Gould was removed by Supreme Court Justice Whitaker late today as executor and trustee of the estate of the late Jay Gould, his father. The court based its action upon the motion made by Frank Jay Gould, a brother of George.

The charges on which Justice Whitaker based his decision were: "The failure of the trustees, with George J. Gould, as the dominating character, to divide the estate into six separate trusts as directed in Jay Gould's will.

World Now Turns to Contemplation of Peace

GERMAN SHOTS AT ERZBERGER.

Blame Him for Armistice and for Signing Treaty.

Paris Peace Crowd Cheers Wilson and America.

Regardless of Press Attitude, People for Him.

[1ST CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BERLIN, June 28 (delayed.)—Several rifle shots, some of which broke a few windows, were fired last night at the residence of Mathias Erzberger, who accepted Marshal Foch's armistice terms and whom opposition now is damning for acceptance of the Versailles treaty.

The night following adjournment of the National Assembly at Weimar the mob waited for Erzberger and threatened to hang him. He fled secretly, and today for the first time disclosed himself in Berlin.

Other threats are made against him, and Erzberger is reported to be thoroughly frightened, although determined to stick at his post because he and Noske are the guiding spirits of the Cabinet, which might collapse if he withdrew.

Although the situation in Hamburg, where street fighting was responsible for sixty deaths, still is serious and more trouble is expected from the Spartacists of Mannheim and other points, the Ebert government today is convinced it has regained its control and the danger of a new revolution almost disappeared.

Troops have squelched the Berlin food riots, at least temporarily, and the only visible menace is a general strike which the railroad employees demand. There was improvement in the strikes of the postal and the telephone employees today, but independent walkouts of small units of railroad workers continue in spite of the declaration by the national organization that strike agitation is purely a political maneuver.

Although great emphasis is placed on the tragedy of the situation Berlin itself was almost inclined to smile over the difficulty encountered in finding someone to sign the Versailles treaty.

To tell the truth, all Berlin seems relieved that the Entente has not insisted that the entire government, including Ebert, and all members of his Cabinet, go to Versailles and sign. There was a fear expressed that this spectacle of a long line of officials doing the lock step into the Hall of Mirrors might be a part of the programme.

CROWDS CHEER AMERICA.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PARIS, June 29.—The extent to which President Wilson and the United States triumphed in the world war and the peace negotiations could be gauged by French crowds in Paris late this afternoon and tonight following the signing of the peace of Versailles. Everywhere the crowds screamed "Vive l'Amerique!" and "Vive Wilson!" and picked out American soldiers and sailors and even civilians, to cheer on the streets. In the cafes and clubs Frenchmen stepped up to Americans and asked permission to buy them drinks, toasting the American and President Wilson invariably.

Regardless of whether a certain section of the French press has been attacking President Wilson there could be no doubt in any observer's mind that the rank and file of the French people, rich and poor alike, bear the same gratitude to the United States that they did on the day we declared war and the day Gen. Pershing arrived.

The only time America was not cheered was when French poilus and artillery passed through the streets from stations where they had been firing victory salutes, when they were cheered frenziedly.

Paris celebrated the actual peace signing in overcoats and furs. For ten days November weather has prevailed with damp, chilly winds and rain the daily menu.

An official street fete was scheduled to begin at nightfall with torchlight processions and a band. This was too slow a programme, however, for the populace which began scattered parades as soon as the subways and street cars brought the morning crowds downtown.

Three American bands scheduled for afternoon and evening demonstrations stepped about Saturday morning to tune up, giving to the impromptu parade one feature that always has been used by the Americans of Paris—music.

He Signed the Pact that Humbled Hun.

Hermann Mueller,

German plenipotentiary who was the first to affix his signature to the Versailles peace treaty that formally ended the world war. Mueller was recently appointed Foreign Minister in the new Bauer Cabinet, which was elected following the overthrow of the Scheidemann government when it refused to indorse the Allied terms.

GERMAN SIGNATORIES ARE HOME.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BERLIN, June 30.—Hermann Mueller and Dr. Johannes Bell, the German peace-treaty signatories, arrived here early this morning. Members of the party said that just before arriving at Compiegne occupants of the dining car were startled by a stone or a piece of fireworks thrown into the car through an open window from the direction of a crowd celebrating the signing of peace.

Both the peace delegation which conducted the negotiations at Versailles and the armistice commission at Spa will be dissolved.

EX-CROWN PRINCE ESCAPES.

Law Experts Hold Former Chancellor Cannot Take Kaiser's Responsibility.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BRUSSELS, June 30.—The former German Crown Prince Frederick William escaped from the Island of Wieringen Sunday, according to an Amsterdam dispatch to the Soir.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—International law experts of the Entente embassies in Washington hold that, since Dr. Theobald von Bethmann-Hollweg, in his capacity of Chancellor of the German empire, was responsible solely to the former German Emperor, the one-time ruler of Germany cannot escape full responsibility for any and all the acts committed by his subordinate.

Some international lawyers here are inclined to the belief that former Emperor William might be expected to escape trial and punishment at the hands of such a special tribunal as the peace treaty proposes by demanding a change of venue on the ground that the members of the court would be at once his accusers and judges.

BETWEEN TWO FIRES.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BERLIN, June 28 (via Paris, June 30.)—While Noske's drastic methods seem to have stumped at least temporarily the proponents of a general strike, the situation today brought new proofs of the two fires between which the present government is caught. With the entire Cabinet concentrated on an endeavor to check the suspected plotting of the Spartacans, the smoldering anger of the old militarists and Junkers again began to throw off sparks. No longer satisfied with mere denunciation of the acceptance of the peace terms, these forces began to talk of fighting and bloodshed.

QUAKE KILLS 127 IN ITALY.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

ROME, June 30.—Earthquake shocks in Tuscany, Sunday, caused the deaths of 127 persons and injuries to several thousand, according to the latest advices from Florence. The center of the seismic movement apparently was Vicchio, a town of 1100 inhabitants, fifteen miles northeast of Florence.

Among the victims at Vicchio, which suffered severely, were the local doctors. The railway station, churches and factories at Borgo San Lorenzo, north of Vicchio, were destroyed.

Airplanes have been sent in all directions along the Appenine Mountains seeking information. It is feared some regions may have been isolated by destruction of all means of communication.

All relief efforts are being centered at Florence, Arezzo, Muzelle and Siena. Arezzo is about forty-five miles southeast of Florence and Siena is about the same distance south. Speedy relief in the damaged area, it is reported, is rendered somewhat difficult because of the scarcity of supplies and lack of transportation facilities, because of war conditions.

RELIEF WORK UNDER WAY.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

FLORENCE, June 30.—The victims of the earthquake so far reported number more than a hundred killed and several thousand injured. A million and a half of people of the provinces of Florence, Arezzo and Siena where the shocks were especially severe, spent the night in the open air.

The prefect accompanied by engineers, soldiers and Red Cross workers, proceeded through the zone with medical and other supplies.

All the hospitals here are filled with wounded, and the work of rescue is going on under difficult conditions.

The shocks began about 6 o'clock Sunday morning. They were very slight at first, but continued at intervals until they reached their maximum intensity at 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

This earthquake is the most severe that Tuscany has suffered in the past fifteen years. The full force of the disturbance was felt in the Valley of the Mugello, on the western slope of the Central Apennines. Vicchio, a village of 1100 inhabitants, suffered most, most of the local doctors being among the victims. In Dorgo San Lorenzo, with a population of more than 5000, factories, schoolhouses, churches and railway stations were destroyed.

Among the other towns which suffered greatly were Marradi, San Piero, Sieve, Vaglia, Montorsoli, Dicomano, Covella and Lubiano. Much live stock was killed.

It is feared that some region might be entirely isolated through the destruction of communications, and airplanes have been dispatched in all directions on scouting missions.

About Digestion.

Digestion begins in the mouth. The food should be thoroughly masticated and insalivated before it is swallowed. When this is habitually neglected stomach trouble is almost sure to follow. If you now have indigestion eat no beef or veal and sparingly of other meats, masticate your food thoroughly and you may recover without taking any medicine. If your bowels are constipated take Chamberlain's Tablets. They not only cause a gentle movement of the bowels, but aid digestion and strengthen the stomach.—[Advertisement.

WILSON SIGNS BILLS AT SEA.

pretty French war brides are on board the Presidential ship on its voyage to the United States. A number of the soldiers, who were members of the guards at the Paris White House and the Hotel de Crillon, headquarters of the American delegation, were married during their sojourn in Paris.

The regulations provided no means for the brides to accompany their husbands aboard the George Washington and for a while it seemed that they might be left behind. A tearful joint dispatch from the brides to President Wilson, however, led to the making of arrangements for their accommodation and they are one of the happiest novelties of the voyage, which so far has been in perfect weather and on a calm sea.

Farewell messages were received by President Wilson from King George of England, King Alfonso of Spain, and the Emperor of Japan. The one from King George makes allusion to "the American and British people, brothers in arms, who will continue ever in peace."

The reply of the President to the message of King George was as follows:

"It gives me deep pleasure to express to you my conviction of the truth of your generous messages concerning the ends which have been attained by the present peace and the new ties which have been created between your own great people and ours. We are on the eve of realizing, more than we could realize them at the time, the real objects of the great war.

"The free peoples of the world, united to defeat the enemies of liberty and justice, have through their representatives wrought out a plan by which they may remain united in a free partnership of intimate council to promote the cause of justice and of freedom through the beneficent processes of peace and the accords of a liberal policy. It is within the choice of thoughtful men of every nation to enrich the peace by their counsel. I am happy to echo your greetings at this momentous time of renewed vision and confident hope."

JAPAN'S MESSAGE.

Emperor Yoshihito of Japan, in congratulating the President, said:

"It gives me heartfelt pleasure to congratulate you and the great friendly people whose First Magistrate you are, on the definite termination of the war in which you and they did so much to achieve victory. Accept my warmest felicitations on this magnificent triumph which I firmly believe is the forerunner of a great new era of the world's history, eclipsing all that have gone before in the general diffusion of happiness and security."

The President replied:

"Your Majesty's message of felicitations is received with the greatest gratification. It has been a privilege to co-operate with the very able representatives of Japan in developing the terms of peace which inevitably involved the interests of the whole world. I believe with Your Majesty that the results achieved forecast a new era in the world's history because they give promise of a peace in which justice will not be imperilled by selfish initiative on the part of any single nation.

"May I express my best wishes for the security and happiness of your people?"

King Alfonso of Spain sent this message:

"On the occasion of the signing of the peace in which you have, in conjunction with your country, taken such a preponderating part, I am pleased to send you my most sincere congratulations and I ask you to accept my very best wishes and those of Spain for the happiness and prosperity of the United States of America in the new era now beginning. I wish you, Mrs. Wilson and Miss Wilson a good journey."

In reply, the President said:

"I greatly appreciate your message; I rejoice with you over the signing of the peace and look forward with equal confidence to a new day in which it will be possible to give peace a new significance for the nations through common council of amity and co-operation, and I am sure that I am expressing the feelings of the people of the United States in wishing for you the fruits of the better day."

RAILS KILL 569 LESS FIRST 3 MONTHS 1919.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DENVER, June 30.—During the first three months of the present year 569 fewer persons were killed and 9569 fewer injured on the country's railroads than during the corresponding months of the preceding year, Arthur Kirkendall, regional supervisor of safety of the United States Railroad Administration, told delegates to the convention of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

"When the safety section of the administration was formed after the government took control of the roads many large systems had no safety departments," Mr. Kirkendall said. "Today every prominent railroad in the country is paying particular attention to safety of passengers and employees."

The convention's business session was devoted to the report of the committee on Grand Lodge rules and regulations. The report dealt with the brotherhood's constitution and bylaws.

A resolution praising President Wilson for his part in the making of peace is being framed, and probably will be presented to the convention tomorrow.

-Great!

Surf bathing at Santa Barbara—what greater summer joy than this? Here are but a few of the allurements: a splendid, sunbathed beach of pure white sand; "breakers" that are really-real but no treacherous undertows and tide-rips such as are found at many other places. And, for those who prefer it, an indoor salt water plunge of ample proportions where you can dip and dive and otherwise disport yourself.

In addition to swimming, there is no end of good sport at Santa Barbara—California's wonderfully cool play-place—where the mountains greet the sea. There is boating, yachting, fishing, hiking, hunting, camping, motoring, golf, tennis, horseback riding, dancing, band concerts, etc.

No matter what your vacation requirements—no matter how long or short your stay—no matter how much or little you may wish to spend—Santa Barbara is sure to suit your purse and purpose. For detailed information as to accommodations, rates, etc., write the

NEW MEXICO'S SENATOR WILD.

Fall Says Treaty Brands Independence Signers.

Borah Charges Finance Backs League of Nations.

Hitchcock Defends and Shows People are for It.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, June 30.—"By ratifying the treaty and League of Nations covenant," said Senator Fall, "we make a scrap of paper of the Declaration of Independence and brand its signers as falsifiers.

"We went to war with Germany because of specific acts of war of Germany against us; we indulged with President Wilson in the hope that peace might bring conditions which would make for the betterment of mankind and render wars less likely to occur.

"The President holds no commission from the people entitling him to form or join in creating or forming any other government. An attempt to ratify such an act by the Senate would be a violation of the BUY PAPER FOR PROPAGANDA. Senatorial sworn duty."

Senator Borah, Idaho, charged in the Senate today that Thomas W. Lamont, representing the Morgan interests, had purchased the New York Evening Post for the purpose of using it in connection with propaganda in favor of the League of Nations.

Senator Borah declared that before the debate on the league closed he would show that big financial interests were in conclave to exploit the natural resources of Europe and have the United States underwrite the investment.

"The mask of hypocrisy will be torn off," he said, "and even the sacred name of an ex-President can not be used to protect the men who propose to sell out this country."

CLAIMS FALSE IMPRESSION.

The Idaho Senator read from a publication of the League to Enforce Peace a statement that three-fourths of the contributions to that organization came from business men and said that while the name of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., was not among the concerns mentioned, he had evidence that it should be there.

Reading a letter which he said had been sent to agents of the league urging that telegrams and representatives be sent to Washington to aid in influencing Senatorial opinion, the Senator said:

NO POPULAR VOTE.

"Yet these people are determined that there shall be no popular vote upon this proposition while they organize for the purpose of having certain influential gentlemen come here to confer with Senators and create a false impression."

Senator Hitchcock, Democrat, Nebraska, interrupted to say that the average subscriptions received by the League to Enforce Peace had been $83 and that it was composed of 6575 members. Senator Borah, in reply, said if the statement read by Senator Hitchcock set forth that only two subscriptions were for $5000 or more, the error evidently was made intentionally by the league as the bulletin prepared by it and read by him undoubtedly was correct.

SHOWS PEOPLE FOR IT.

Senator Hitchcock referred to the overwhelming majority vote in its favor at the recent convention of the American Federation of Labor and read resolutions indorsing it, passed by the Federal Council of Churches of Christ, the Church Peace Union, the Presbyterian General Assembly, the Methodist Episcopal bishops, the Baptist Church of the North and the International Federation of Catholic Alumni.

The National Woman Suffrage Association, the Federation of Women's Clubs and many other women's organizations, he said, had approved it. He also asserted the farmers were for the league, the American Agricultural Association having indorsed it, and a poll of the editors of agricultural papers showed sixty-six unqualifiedly for the league and one unqualifiedly opposed, with three non-committal.

He argued also that returning soldiers were in favor of the league.

KENYON IN A FIX.

Senator Kenyon, Republican, Iowa, said he had received a letter from a minister declaring any one who voted against the league "would be boiled in oil," and another from a priest "saying that if I voted for it he would help hang me."

Senator Hitchcock submitted a list of 122 Republican and independent Republican newspapers which he said were supporting the league.

Senator Spencer, Republican, Missouri, said he thought the Senate ought to approach the league covenant with a "sympathetic interest" but, he said, no doubt should be left as to the application of the Monroe Doctrine, the determination of purely domestic questions, the right of withdrawal or the final authority of Congress to determine in future when war should be declared.

ARGUE OVER IRELAND.

An argument over Ireland's place in the league was started by a statement by Senator Borah that Article X of the covenant would enable Great Britain to call on other nations to help crush any movement for Irish freedom. The assertion was denied by Senators Walsh, Democrat, of Montana, and Phelan, Democrat, of California, who declared Article X applied only to external aggression.

Senator Poindexter, Republican, of Washington, suggested that if any outside nation aided an Irish revolution as France aided the colonies in 1776 the act could be construed as external aggression and all the other league members called on to help subjugate Ireland.

Senator Borah declared there was no consolation in the fact that decisions of the council and assembly must be by unanimous vote to be binding.

"They had to have a unanimous vote," he continued, "to put the chains of slavery on 40,000,000 Chinese in Shantung and they got it with the President of the United States one of those voting. It'll be no trouble to get a unanimous vote when you're sitting behind closed doors at Geneva."

VIOLATION OF CIVIL SERVICE ACT, CHARGE.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, June 30.—Although warrants have been issued for the arrest of L. F. Kuhn, former postmaster at Stockton, and Joseph P. Carey, attorney and railroad brakeman of Sacramento, charging them with conspiracy to violate the Federal Civil Service Act, the two men had not been taken into custody up to today, according to Federal Court officials here. The United States grand jury here returned an indictment against them Saturday.

The indictment charged that Kuhn, while postmaster, had Carey appointed watchman-laborer at the Federal Building in Stockton, but that instead of Carey serving, the position was filled by William Bouche, who it was alleged, was ineligible under the civil service provisions, Carey, it was charged, through an alleged conspiracy with Kuhn, received checks for the work done by Bouche, indorsed them and sent them to Kuhn, who cashed them and paid Bouche.

The alleged violation of the law was continuous between September 1, 1915, and October 1, 1917, according to the indictment. The bond of the two men was fixed at $1000 each.

TWO FRENCH KILLED IN BRAWL WITH YANKS.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BREST, June 30.—Two French civilians were killed and five American soldiers and sailors were injured severely, and more than 100 wounded in riots here last night. Two of the American soldiers are expected to die.

The casualties occurred as a result of the exchange of shots between military and naval police and French sailors.

The trouble began, according to available accounts, when an American naval officer, who is said to have been drinking heavily, tore down a French flag and trampled on it. A crowd of Frenchmen attacked the officer and it is said kicked and beat him until he was unconscious.

Americans who passed by and who were not aware of the cause of the fight went to the aid of the naval officer. The fight then became general.

A mob of French civilians and soldiers and sailors attempted to rush the Hotel Moderne, where American officers were quartered. The burned a sentry box and threw stones at Americans in uniform wherever they found them. The Americans, it is said, retaliated.

A company of marines with fixed bayonets was hurried to the scene and the Americans soon restored order. Admiral Henri Salaun, the French naval commander at Brest, ordered the marines to return to their barracks. As the marines marched back to their headquarters, it is declared, they were pursued by a mob throwing stones and bricks. The city is quiet today.

GEORGE GOULD LOSES AS ESTATE EXECUTOR.

COMMEMORATE HISTORIC MILL.

Patriotic Society to Place Bronze Tablet.

June Banner Month for Crown City Builders.

World-War Veterans Ask to Join National Society.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, June 30.—Regarding the old mill in the Oak Knoll district as the most historic spot in Pasadena, having been built more than a century ago by the padres of San Gabriel Mission, the Martin Severance chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will place a commemorative tablet of bronze upon the venerable structure.

This determination of the patriotic organization was announced today, and is in accordance with the plan of the organization to place commemorative tablets on historic spots in various parts of the United States. Plans for the unveiling of the old mill tablet will be made by Martin Severance chapter at a meeting tomorrow. The tablet has been cast and bears the following words:

"El Molino (the mill,) built by the padres of San Gabriel, 1810. This tablet, placed by the Daughters of the American Revolution, Martin Severance chapter of Pasadena, 1919."

The old mill is now used as a clubhouse for the Hotel Huntington golf links.

BUILDING RECORD LARGE.

The record of building permits for June, 1919, in Pasadena, is larger than the total for the first six months of the building department's fiscal year. In view of the fact that building permits have been increasing all spring, the present record is believed by Pasadena citizens to be a fine one. The total for June was $193,059, and for the first six months of the fiscal year was $170,922.

AMERICAN LEGION POST.

Application has been made by a group of Pasadena men who were in service during the war for a chapter for a Pasadena post in the American Legion, the national organization of world war veterans. Those who signed the application for a charter included Maj. N. J. Shupe, Rex. F. Braley, Harold W. Herlihy, Herbert L. Hahn, Dr. Charles D. Lockwood, Harold Schaffer, Arthur H. Fessler, John S. Staats, H. I. Jevett, Elvon Musick, H. B. Garwood, J. M. Goss, H. E. Wright, R. L. Newby, M. D. Remy.

Pasadena school sessions are over and vacation here at last. The public schools have continued two weeks over time this summer in order to make up the school days lost during the influenza epidemic of last winter. Today was the last day of school.

JULY FOURTH PROGRAMME.

The Fourth of July programme in Pasadena will be held at 9:45 o'clock in the morning instead of at noon, as first planned. The change was announced today by John McDonald, chairman of the Arrangements Committee for the day. The programme will take place in Library Park and preceding the exercises there will be a parade. Rev. Leslie E. Learned, rector of All Saints' Church, will be the orator of the day.

VETERAN MOURNS FOR YOUNG HERO.

GRANDFATHER HOLDS TO LIFE UNTIL WORD COMES FROM FRANCE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA MONICA, June 30.—Sitting day after day at the front window of his home at 1518 Twentieth street, Santa Monica, Daniel Meloy, 85, who died early this morning, is believed to have mourned his life away waiting for word to come from his grandson, Charles Meloy, a soldier with the Expeditionary Forces in France.

H. T. Meloy, son of the deceased, says that although the separation from the boy and the anxiety of not hearing from him caused the grandfather to fail in health, he clung to life, declaring that he must hear of the boy before he died. When word arrived one morning that the boy had been wounded and gassed months before and was safe in a hospital in France, the grandfather was overjoyed, and seemed willing to loose his hold on life.

Mr. Meloy was a Civil War veteran, and an ardent believer in the cause of the Allies. He had lived in Santa Monica for more than fifteen years and was a well-known and universally respected citizen.

WAR ROMANCE.

Wedding at Riverside Culminates Patriotic Courtship.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

RIVERSIDE, June 29.—A wedding of two young people, whose patriotism for their country brought them together in an unexpected quarter of the world, was solemnized in the St. Cecelia oratory of the Mission Inn, last evening. The bride was Miss Lelia Alice Woodward, a native of this city, who, after a course in art and drama in Miss Orton's School for Girls in Pasadena, entered the University of Southern California, and during the war joined the Westlake unit of the Woman's Land Army, whose members worked at Elsinore. The groom, Charles J. McClung, who is now superintendent of the Elsinore Valley Growers' Association, was stationed at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., but was incapacitated for service because of a broken arm, which made it impossible for him to shoulder a gun. Eager to serve his country in some capacity, McClung associated himself with the producing concern at Elsinore, where he met and fell in love with the woman who is now his wife. The groom is a Harvard man and comes from a prominent Tennessee family.

BIG CELEBRATION AT HERMOSA BEACH.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

HERMOSA BEACH, June 30.—Plans for a Fourth of July celebration completed by the Chamber of Commerce assure the biggest event of its kind ever held in this city, according to G. S. Thatcher, president of the chamber. One or more submarines and submarine chasers from the submarine base at San Pedro will be on hand to assist in making the celebration a success. Members of the crews will be feted by the Chamber of Commerce.

Among the attractions will be band concerts morning, afternoon and evening by Gregory's Royal Marine Band, open air dancing in the plaza, outdoor sports and races, fire works displays from the end of the pier and other Fourth of July attractions.

The stellar attraction, will be the men's bathing suit parade. Already more than one hundred entrants have been received. Motion pictures will be taken by several of the studios. The parade, led by a jazz band, will march down Pier avenue to the plaza.

AGED MAN LOST.

Santa Monica Officers Seek Resident Who Has Disappeared.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA MONICA, June 30.—Wandering from his home late yesterday afternoon with the belief that he could find the road that leads to the home of his youth in Stockton, J. M. McCarthy, 85, is being searched for in the Santa Monica Mountains by a large posse of police and relatives.

Mrs. William Morris, daughter of McCarthy, says that her father, who seemed to have lost all memory of any period of time except that of his early childhood, disappeared from his home at the Bundy apartments, Santa Monica Canyon, about 4 o'clock in the evening. The police believe that never remembering the situation of his home, McCarthy has been picked up by an automobile part'y.

No clew of the missing man was reported up to a late hour this afternoon.

TO CONSIDER NEW HENDERSON TRIAL.

COURT HEARS ARGUMENTS ON ALLEGED MISCONDUCT OF PROSECUTION.

After argument by counsel yesterday Judge Willis took under submission until tomorrow the question whether George Henderson, negro politician, convicted of offering and giving a bribe for police protection, will be granted a new trial.

LeCompte Davis, of counsel for the defense, finished his argument, in which he alleged that the defendant was entitled to a new trial because of alleged misconduct on the part of the District Attorney in two instances. These are, he claimed, that the District Attorney held over the head of George S. Brown, negro gambler and politician, a perjury charge, not connected with the Henderson case, and a charge similar to that against Henderson, and that immunity was offered in both cases, and that immunity was promised to Horace Karr without an indictment and dismissal of the case in court. Newly-discovered evidence was also a basis for the motion.

Chief Deputy District Attorney Doran argued that alleged misconduct of the District Attorney in the case was not grounds for a new trial, even if proved.

SENATE ACCEPTS NAVY SITES IN SAN DIEGO.

MEANS EXPENDITURE OF TEN MILLIONS ON HOSPITAL TRAINING SCHOOL.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, June 30.—The acceptance by the Senate Naval Committee of a site here for a naval training school and a large naval hospital means that $10,000,000 is to be spent at once in San Diego. This city is also to become the navy headquarters of Southern California, according to a message received here today by Mayor Wilde from Congressman Kettner.

The Southern California Congressman also stated that he has been placed on various committees which will enable him to do a great many things for Southern California and its harbors which otherwise would be undone. Among the subcommittees to which he has been assigned are the navy personnel, yards and docks, supplies and account, and aeronautics.

Further guarantee that Rockwell Field and the North Island Naval Aviation Station will be permanently retained was indicated in the message, which stated that it will be necessary for the San Diego Council to give up large bay areas for naval sites.

MEXICANS INDULGE IN FIGHT WHICH ENDS IN DEATH OF A PARTICIPANT.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA ANA, June 30.—Porfirio Nayrete, 40, is dead today and Uyene Garcia is a fugitive, following a shooting affair last night at La Habra, where the men lived. Both men had been drinking, it is reported, and there had been an ill-feeling between them for some time. Last night Nayrete, it is said, fired several shots from his revolver into Garcia's house. Then Garcia came out with his own gun, emptied it at Nayrete, and fled. Nayrete was picked up and brought to the County Hospital, where he died at 12:30 this afternoon. One bullet had passed through the abdomen from front to back, another had passed through the knee, and three others had cut the abdomen and intestines. Garcia is still at large.

FAIL TO STOP BOND ELECTION.

Citizens of Long Beach Make Effort to Postpone Contest.

Question of Civic Center has Strong Opposition.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONG BEACH, June 30.—Following an unsuccessful effort to have the election called off at the last minute because of rapidly increasing opposition voters of Long Beach will be called upon to go to the polls tomorrow to register their approval or disapproval of the issuing of bonds of the city for $1,250,000 for the purchase of a site and the erection thereon of a community building and a new City Hall. In connection with the project is the proposed purchase of the site of the Southern Pacific passenger station from the railroad company at a cost of $108,000.

A meeting between representatives of the Citizens' Association, opposing the bond issue, and advocates of the civic center plan was held today in an effort to reach an agreement as to the future programme to be pursued in the event the civic center sponsors would admit defeat of the issue at once and call off the election.

The conference, however, was not of a harmonious nature, and adjourned without a settlement. It requires a two-thirds majority to carry the bonds.

NEW CHAIRMAN.

C. H. Buffum has been named chairman of the members' council of the recently reorganized Chamber of Commerce. The council is composed of 400 active members, and will meet weekly at lunch to discuss matters of civic importance and make recommendation to the directors of the commercial organization.

BRINGS BRIDE HOME.

David M. Wormley, son of Inspector W. M. Wormley, of the public safety department of the city, has arrived in Long Beach from New York, following his discharge from two-years' service in the navy. Young Wormley surprised his parents by presenting them with his bride of a week, Miss Ethel Swanstrom of Brooklyn. The couple will make their home in Long Beach.

ESCAPES SERIOUS INJURY.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA ANA, June 30.—Fred Siefert, custodian of the Orange County Park, is nursing numerous bruises and is thanking his lucky stars that he is alive. He was hit by a tire ring and rendered unconscious for several minutes while preparing his car for a trip to Santa Ana. He was putting on a blown-up tire and gently tapped the ring, releasing the ends of the ring, which sprang off with such force as to knock him down. The inner tube exploded but the casing was not hurt. When Siefert regained consciousness he was lying fifteen feet from the car.

Yes, You Will Eat More Ice Cream After July 1—
But Why Crescent?

You will eat more ice cream after July 1 because it is the ideal thirst quencher, because it really refreshes and stimulates you.

You will eat more CRESCENT ICE CREAM for the same reason that thousands of people insist upon Crescent Milk and Cream in their homes and will buy no other.

Crescent Milk and Crescent Cream have been nation-wide prize winners for quality. Crescent's leadership in Southern California has been obtained in three years because Crescent installed the methods, the standards, and the equipment necessary to give its customers the finest dairy products possible.

The same standards apply to Crescent Ice Cream. The thinking person will buy ice cream as carefully as he buys milk. He will insist upon Crescent Ice Cream—for Crescent leads.

It is the popular ice cream of Southern California—Popular because its flavor, its smoothness, its purity and its deliciousness never vary.

Always insist upon Crescent Ice Cream from your confectioner, your druggist, or at soda fountains.

BRITISH FLYERS TO TRY PACIFIC.

Canadian Aviator Says will Start at San Diego.

Objective is Melbourne, via Islands and Nagasaki.

Rockwell Field Men Try for New Nonstop Record.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MILES CITY (Mont.) June 30.—Several British airplanes will start across the Pacific on August 15 from San Diego, bound for Australia, according to a statement made here yesterday by Capt. William McDonald of Melbourne, formerly in the Canadian flying service, who is here on his way to Southern California, via Seattle. He stated stops would be made at Honolulu, a small British island near Guam, and Nagasaki. He said he will pilot one of the planes himself.

SAN DIEGO, June 30.—Aviation officers here received with surprise the statement made by Capt. William McDonald that several British airplanes would be brought to San Diego, for the start of a flight across the Pacific. The statement by Capt. McDonald, it was said, is the first intimation they have received of any such plans, and until more details are received they stated that they could not talk for publication.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Departure from Ellington Field, Houston, Tex., shortly, of four De Haviland battle planes, for a flight along the Pacific Coast, and thence, possibly a transcontinental trip, was announced today by the air service. Most of the larger cities of the West will be visited.

FLYING FOR RECORD.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN DIEGO, June 30.—In an effort to establish a nonstop flight record between Rockwell Field and San Francisco, Lieuts. C. H. Palmer and C. F. Davis started on their flight at 10 o'clock this morning, it was announced by army aviation officials.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 30.—The nonstop aero record from San Diego to San Francisco is held by Miss Katherine Stinson, who made the flight, December 11, 1917, in nine hours and ten minutes. Her speedometer showed the distance to be 610 miles.

"CAN FLY AROUND WORLD."

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Secretary Daniels today welcomed home the commanding officers and crew of the American naval trans-Atlantic flight squadron.

"We can cross the Atlantic, as you have demonstrated," said the Secretary. "We can cross the Pacific. We can fly around the world."

CONGER APPOINTED.

Governor Accepts Resignation of Radcliffe After a Year.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, June 30.—W. S. Conger, editor and publisher of the San Bernardino Index, was named today superintendent of capitol buildings and grounds, by Gov. Stephens, to succeed George G. Radcliffe, whose resignation, tendered about a year ago, was accepted.

Conger was expected to assume his new duties tomorrow, it was announced at the Governor's office.

In a letter, dated June 23, in which the Governor accepted Radcliffe's resignation, the executive fixed June 30 for terminating his services.

The letter which was made public here today, said that as the Governor had not received from Radcliffe "any intimation of a desire" to withdraw the resignation, which had been filed "some time ago, unexpectedly to me," he felt it was "not right to impose further upon" Radcliffe.

Announcemnt that Radcliffe, who is part owner of the Watsonville Pajaronian, had tendered his resignation, was made here August 26, last, the day before the State primary election at which Stephens was nominated as the Republican candidate for Governor.

Radcliffe said the acceptance of the resignation was "unexpected."

"I voted for Gov. Stephens and worked for him in his campaign," Radcliffe said. "My object in placing my resignation in the Governor's hands prior to the primary was to be fair and square. I wanted to be in a position to support Heney if he were nominated."

ANGELENOS SEEK TO KILL STATE BILLS.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, June 30.—Referendum petitions directed against the anti-poison bill and the measure prohibiting officers, employees or agents of banks acting as agents of insurance companies were received at the office of the Secretary of State today. Both measures were passed by the forty-third Legislature.

The anti-poison bill would prevent the use of drugs in place of anaesthetics. Petitions were received against it from Los Angeles and Merced.

The petition against the insurance bill was received from Los Angeles.

SELF-INFLICTED WOUND ENDS DR. DODGE'S LIFE.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 30.—Dr. Washington Dodge, for many years Assessor of San Francisco county, died today from the effects of a bullet wound self-inflicted June 21.

Gavin McNab, an intimate friend, said the former Asseor had worried greatly over litigation in which he was involved.

CONGRESS FAILS IN RECESS PLAN.

House Opposition on Army Bill Delays Adjournment.

Naval Appropriation Carrying $616,000,000 Passed.

Democratic Objection Halts Civil Sundry Measure.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Congress failed today in its aim to enact the remaining appropriation bills before adjournment and to recess until Monday. House opposition to the conference agreement on the $766,000,000 army appropriation bill and obstruction by House Democrats to other measures forced adjournment of both the Senate and House until tomorrow, after the Senate had listened most of the day to debate on the League of Nations.

With the appropriation measures needed July 1 to provide funds for many government agencies beginning the new fiscal year, leaders hoped to clear up all of the bills tomorrw and then adjourn until July 7, when President Wilson is expected to arrive with the German peace treaty.

Of the five money bills left over, the naval appropriation measure, carrying $616,000,000, and providing a naval personnel of 170,000 men, was the only one completed today. Conference agreements were reported on all others, including reduction of the sundry civil bill from $775,000,000 to $605,000,000.

ARMY BILL RETURNED.

The House worked on conference reports all day, with several hours of spirited debate on the army report, which was returned to conference with its representatives instructed to insist that the appropriation for the air service be limited to $15,000,000. The House conferees previously had agreed to compromise the Senate's $65,000,000 appropriation for that purpose at $40,000,000.

The Senate planned a night session to carry through the supply bills, but the handful of Senators who returned at 8 o'clock agreed to adjourn, upon learning of the blockade in the House, where Democratic objection to consideration of the sundry civil and the District of Columbia conference reports forced postponement of final action until tomorrow.

Two important bills, the $26,000,000 agricultural appropriation measure, carrying the rider repealing the daylight saving law October 26, and that ending government control of wires, expected to be effective July 31, were sent late today to the White House.

WAR RISK INSURANCE.

For family allowances and compensation under the War Risk Insurance Act, the conferees agreed upon $98,000,000, compared with $123,000,000 proposed by the Senate and $64,000,000 by the House. The $98,000,000 fund, the conferees declared, will be sufficient, however, for all payments next year based on present rates of expenditures.

Reduction of appropriations aggregating $200,000,000 was made today in the sundry civil bill by Senate and House conferees. The principal cut was in the Shipping Board's construction fund, which was fixed at $356,000,000, as compared with $491,000,000 proposed by the Senate and $276,000,000 by the House.

Appropriation of $12,000,000 for Alaskan railroad construction was cut by the conferees to $2,038,000, the House appropriation.

Senate conferees also yielded the $100,000 appropriation for expenses in fighting the Alaska influenza epidemic.

ARMY OF OCCUPATION RULES STAY IN EFFECT.

CHICAGO MEMBER OF AIR SQUADRON KILLED IN FALL NEAR MONTABAUR.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

COBLENZ, Sunday, June 29.—The rules and regulations issued by the authorities of the Army of Occupation soon after entering Germany last December will continue in effect indefinitely, according to an announcement at Third Army headquarters today.

Capt. Walter Schultz of Chicago, Ill., a member of the One Hundred and Thirty-eighth Aero Squadron, was killed Saturday when his airplane fell near Montabaur.

COBLENZ, Saturday, June 28.—Robert Minor, the American newspaper correspondent and cartoonist, was today given a copy of the charges under which he has been detained here by American army authorities.

Minor was arrested several weeks ago in Paris at the request of British authorities who had been trying a number of persons charged with circulating propaganda. When later the British announced they did not wish to proceed against Minor, the American authorities began a separate investigation.

Minor's father telegraphed his son from San Antonio, Tex., not to spare expense in arranging for his defense.

MINOR MOONEY BOOSTER.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 30.—Robert Minor was publicity director and treasurer of the International Workers' Defense League here from August, 1916, to January, 1918. Minor was active in the defense of Thomas J. Mooney, now serving a life sentence for murder at San Quentin prison in connection with a "preparedness day" bomg explosion in this city. Minor came here from Mexico, where he was attached as a correspondent to the punitive force sent into that country under command of Gen. Pershing.

Five Years Ago Today

—this Bank was organized. Its capital was $300,000.00, and deposits some $70,000.00.

Almost immediately the great war began. Its entire existence has lain in times of world turmoil and uncertainty—when conservatism and conservation were the watchwords of every hour.

In spite of obstacles, in spite of the times, this Bank has steadily grown, and the close of its fifth year finds it with capital and surplus of $865,000.00, paid in and earned, and deposits of over $4,600,000.00. This from the small beginning of five years ago.

With peace and the business rejuvenation that will follow, we believe the five years next before us will show proportionately better results than the five year period just closed.

Now is the time to establish your Banking home with a rising bank, whose officers and employees, aggressive and alert, are pledged to personally serve every customer according to his needs.

MIDDLE WEST NEWS IN BRIEF.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

OMAHA, June 30.—All bids have been rejected on 500,000 pounds of government canned meats in Omaha. The bids were too low.

The Juvenile Court has established a "kid employment" bureau.

Mrs. Anna Kelinek, aged 80, attempted suicide today by jumping into Jetters Lake, South Omaha. Joe Novak, 13, jumped into the water and rescued her.

The Elsaser family will hold a reunion, July 6; 300 members of the family have accepted invitations.

MILWAUKEE.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MILWAUKEE, June 30.—Milwaukee saloonkeepers have given up the ghost. With President Wilson's message they are prepared to quit, but are confident that at some future date before January 1, they will be allowed to open up and sell liquors again. In contrast to other cities, celebrating or sympathizing with John Barleycorn, Milwaukee is quiet and orderly. Either the citizens do not mourn his departure or they have their cellars well stocked, for hotels and cafes do not report any extra reservations.

The State Assembly at Madison yesterday passed the Mulberger bill, legalizing 2½ per cent. beer as non-intoxicating. The bill was passed early in the week by the Senate. Gov. Philipp has already declared himself in favor of beers and light wines, and it is said he will sign it Monday. However, Milwaukee saloonkeepers will not take a chance, and have decided not to sell anything stronger than near beer after Monday.

Ten thousand teachers are in town to attend the annual convention of the National Education Association, which opens tomorrow.

ST. LOUIS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ST. LOUIS, June 30.—George M. Block, executor of the estate of Henry Wood, late millionaire dairy owner, who died March 19, 1917, leaving an estate, variously estimated at between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000, filed a report in the probate court yesterday, giving an accounting of the estate for the period of December 20, 1918, to June 2, 1919.

Circuit Judge Kimmel yesterday granted a change of venue in the separate maintenance of Mrs. Pearl Elizabeth Hyman Nolker against Robert E. Nolker, vice-president of the Commercial Electrical Supply Company. She asks for an allowance of $1000 a month.

An order, posted today by the board of directors of the fashionable Sunset Hill Country Club, demands strict enforcement of the rule that women bathers wear full-length stockings.

ST. PAUL.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ST. PAUL, June 29.—More than 1000 newly-naturalized American citizens of Minneapolis and St. Paul participated in the Americanization day mass meeting today at the Minneapolis Armory. Representative Royal C. Johnson of South Dakota and Floyd Gibbons, war correspondent, were speakers.

Thousands of sheep and cattle, starving on the dry stretches of Montana and Western Dakota, will be placed on green pastures in Northern Minnesota under a movement planned yesterday in the State Department of Agriculture at the capitol. State, railroad, live stock, land and commercial organizations are united in the scheme.

Rev. E. P. Baker of Berkeley, Cal., has accepted the pastorate of the Open Door Congregational Church, Minneapolis, according to an announcement made yesterday by the officers of the church. Rev. Mr. Baker, who will succeed the Rev. Russell H. Stafford, will reach Minneapolis August 1 to take up his duties.

KANSAS CITY.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

KANSAS CITY, June 29.—The Sinclair Oil Company has purchased forty-two acres adjoining its big refinery in Argentine, Kan., and will enlarge its plant.

Kansas City Republicans do not take seriously the boom started in St. Louis this week for Senator Selden P. Spencer for Vice-President in 1920.

Joseph R. Doneman, manager of the Edwards Hotel, announced today that he would turn the hotel bar into a woman's bar replacing the beer pump with a soda fountain. Other Kansas City bars will continue to operate, serving soft drinks.

INDIANAPOLIS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

INDIANAPOLIS, June 29.—Aid from various organizations in the effort to land the 1920 convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World will be sought this week by members of the Indianapolis Advertising Club, which is seeking the convention for Indianapolis.

Charles C. Deam, State forester, announced today that a visitors' day would be ordered at the State forestry reserve near Henryville, in Clark county, July 9. Gov. Goodrich is to deliver an address in the afternoon in the Administration Building. Richard Lieber, director of conservation, and members of the conservation commission will visit the park on this date.

Theodore Dreiser, classed by French and other European critics as the most eminent of living American writers and widely known in this country, is on a visit here as the guest of Addison Parry at Golden Hill. Mr. Dreiser is a Hoosier born and bred.

JOHNSON SAYS "IT'S JUST GRAND"

Had Tried for Six Years to Find Relief from Trouble.

Tanlac Does What All Other Medicines Failed to Do.

He Feels Fine in the Mornings Now.

"Tanlac has done for me in about six weeks what I have been trying for six years to get other medicines to do," said B. H. Johnson, of 4270 Wabash ave., San Diego, Calif., while in the Owl Drug Store recently. Mr. Johnson is a mechanic in the employ of the Savage Tire Company.

"I suffered terribly with stomach trouble," continued Mr. Johnson. "It just looked like everything I would eat would sour in my stomach and form gas and then I would be troubled with awful spells of heartburn. I couldn't sleep well at night, either, and when I would get up in the morning I would feel all tired out and, as a result of this trouble, I got to where I was so weak and run-down that I was hardly fit for anything and while I tried all kinds of medicine, nothing I took helped me till I started on Tanlac.

"Tanlac is just a grand medicine, because it took hold of my trouble from the start. I am never bothered with sour stomach or gas any more and can eat anything I want and enjoy it now, because all that is left of that heartburn is the memory of it. I am getting my strength back rapidly and can sleep as good as I ever did in my life and I feel rested and full of energy when I get up in the mornings now. I am going to keep on taking Tanlac and I can certainly recommend it to anyone who is suffering like I was, because one bottle of Tanlac helped me after everything else had failed."

Tanlac is sold in Los Angeles, Pasadena and San Diego, by the Owl Drug Co.—[Advertisement.

Vernon in the six hours from 6 o'clock last night until midnight, according to the Vernon police. Street cars were blocked and made no attempt to move for several hours, because it was impossible. Along Santa Fe avenue from the Vernon city limits to Vernon avenue and the Country Club automobiles moved slowly in four lines, two each way, while at each curb rows of machines, their owners absent making efforts to get inside of the wholesale stores or Doyle's. It was impossible to get inside of the Country Club grounds after 8 o'clock. At Jack Doyle's the side of the building had been broken out and bottle goods were sold to those who refreshed themselves on the sidewalk, or carried their bottles to their cellars in Los Angeles. For unless they had come in machines parked in far-off streets they would be forced to tramp home as thousands did. Men and women came on foot to Vernon from all directions, as street car traffic was blocked for long periods. Two traffic policemen stood at each corner, and the lines of machines would move five feet and stop. Horns would squawk in protest, engines with cut-out mufflers would roar in protest, but the long lines moved slowly.

Crowds began arriving at Baron Long's Vernon Country Club long before the dinner hour, as the admission was $2 each and no reservations. The place holds 1000 people, but extra tables had been installed, and by 7 o'clock there were at least 1200 men and women at the tables, and several hundred more at the entrance, clamoring for admission. And so it continued until the midnight hour, when the serving of liquor stopped with a bang. Thereafter until an early hour the crowd, which was slowly melting away, talked over the good old days and regaled themselves with soft drinks. Doyle's, at Vernon, went out of existence, probably forever, at midnight, though it was nearly 1 o'clock before the last customer could be shooed out of the place, and the key could be turned in the lock of the old front door. Never was there such a busy night in Vernon, but it was a traffic officer's job rather than that of a club-wielding policeman, for the crowd was orderly, and to call the evening in Vernon or in Venice an orgy so far as behavior was concerned would be an exaggeration.

Sheriff Cline yesterday ordered that all county roads be guarded during last night, to watch for any infringements of the county traffic ordinances. The roads to Venice and Vernon were densely crowded, and it was feared that there might be accidents.

The serving of wine and beer in Los Angeles restaurants ceased without celebration, at 9 p.m., and from then on the usual dancing and cabaret entertainments were given at McKee's, Levy's, Jahnke's Tavern, at the Alexandria and other places holding licenses. But at Venice, the excitement exceeded that at Vernon, as there were more places of the dancing-music,drinking variety.

AT VENICE.

Baron Long gave a farewell party at the Ship, Venice, at $5 admission per person. Reservations were all sold last week, and some holding them were reported to have resold their reserved tables for as high as $200 per table. Similar conditions prevailed at the Dome, the Strand and other Venice cafes. Seventy-five dollars a seat was an average paid by those 1000 persons who dined at the Ship. At the Dome over 2000 people paid $10 apiece for a place to stand and hold a tiny glass or bottle, while prices for a place at tables rose from $25 to nearly $100, as the insistent crowds grew larger. At the Strand Cafe over 1000 reservations were made for the early part of the evening, with an admission price of $2.50.

The only organized effort upon the effort of celebrants at Venice was a parade of "mourners" staged at 9 o'clock. The Venice of America Band led the demonstration down Windward avenue and played "Nobody Knows How Dry I Am" during the march. Hundreds of visitors in fancy costume followed the music and formed the background for a huge float upon which was mounted a beer barrel from which red fire leaped in flames. From out of the fire danced thousands of little devils.

AN IRRITABLE, fault finding disposition is often due to a disordered stomach. A man with good digestion is nearly always good natured. A great many have been permanently cured of stomach troubles by Chamberlain's Tablets after years of suffering. These tablets strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. Try them. They only cost a quarter.

I am Sincere! Stop Calomel!
I Guarantee Dodson's Liver Tone

Listen to me! Calomel sickens and you may lose a day's work. If bilious, constipated or headachy read my guarantee.

Liven up your sluggish liver! Feel fine and cheerful; make your work a pleasure; be vigorous and full of ambition. But take no nasty, dangerous calomel, because it makes you sick and you may lose a day's work.

Calomel is mercury, or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel crashes into sour bile like dynamite, breaking it up. That's when you feel that awful nausea and cramping.

Listen to me! If you want to enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced just take a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone tonight. Your druggist or dealer sells you a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents under my personal money back guarantee that each spoonful will clean your sluggish liver better than a dose of nasty calomel and that it won't make you sick.

Dodson's Liver Tone is real liver medicine. You'll know it next morning, because you will wake up feeling fine, your liver will be working; headache and dizziness gone; stomach will be sweet and bowels regular.

Dodson's Liver Tone is entirely vegetable, therefore harmless and cannot salivate. Give it to your children. Millions of people are using Dodson's Liver Tone instead of dangerous calomel now. Your druggist will tell you that the sale of calomel is almost stopped entirely here.

PALMER RULING STIRS CONGRESS.

House Plans Immediate Enforcement Measure.

Committee Would Arbitrarily Fix Alcohol Content.

that the authorities in county and State had been requested to give the utmost co-operation in the matter of enforcing all undisputed provisions of the war-time law. The temporary refusal not to proceed against those selling 2¾ per cent. beer—although evidence against them will be obtained with a view to their prosecution in the event the court decides against the brewers—does not mean that persons offering it for sale in territory heretofore dry will be exempt from arrest and prosecution.

Saloons selling 2¾ per cent. beer will take a gambler's chance and stay open at their own risk, it was emphasized.

QUART A MONTH.

The bureau of internal revenue, upon the bulky shoulders of which will fall much of the great task of breaking up liquor selling, today issued regulations governing the sale of alcohol for medicinal purposes. These regulations are so strict that it would be next to impossible, bureau agents said, for a man to obtain whisky for general drinking, because at most he cannot have more than one quart a month and he cannot get it then unless he is ill and it is prescribed in an effort to restore him to health.

There is no restriction, however, on a man's right to "use" the liquor stored in his home, nor are government agents authorized to obtain warrants and seize his stock so long as it is not offered for sale.

From the very inception of the war-time law there has been the greatest confusion regarding its provisions. President Wilson, in a message to the present Congress, recommended repeal of the law in so far as it related to light wines and beers, but this was passed over with little consideration. In a statement given out Saturday night the President announced he was without authority to suspend operations of the act at the time, but that he would do so as soon as the army was demobilized.

OPINION REVERSED.

This confusion extended even into official quarters. Early today officials of the Department of Justice said the law prohibited the sale of 2¾ per cent. beer and light wines, and then on the heels of this the District Attorney at Baltimore stated that he had received instructions from Washington not to interfere with such sales for the present. After the issuance of the Attorney-General's statement officials dismissed the whole subject with the explanation that the department had "reversed" itself.

There were all sorts of rumors afloat in Washington tonight as to what might happen in Congress in view of the stand taken by the Department of Justice. Some members insisted there would be a demand in the House for consideration of the straight war-time enforcement bill, and that not even an agreement for a recess over the holiday could prevent action once the fight was launched.

The argument was advanced in quarters not generally regarded as ardent for prohibition, that the war-time bill, sent in as part of a general measure, could be taken out without affecting the other parts, and passed after an agreement to dispense with debate. Later in the evening, however, some of the prohibition leaders said they would be content to proceed with plans for the holiday. But there was a general feeling of uncertainty and members who are prepared to block efforts to put through war-time enforcement without full consideration of amendments to change the alcoholic percentage and other provisions, said there virtually was no chance before next week.

FEARS BOOZE ORGY.

A bill to "keep the country from going on a whisky drinking basis" in the period from the demobilization of the army until the effective date of constitutional prohibition was introduced today by Representative Randall, prohibitionist, California. It would prevent the shipping in and out of the country and in interstate commerce "all distilled, malt, vinous and other intoxicating liquors," and would specifically prohibit removal from bond of distilled spirits for beverage purposes.

Consideration of the measure is not to begin until after the Independance Day holidays, but prohibition leaders expect them to go through without unusual delay and they say their enactment will serve to make illegal the sale of light wines and 2¾ per cent. beer, at last until the President declares demobilization complete.

In the opinion of Department of Justice officials and many members of Congress war-time prohibition will have no effect on the Reed amendent prohibiting the transportation of intoxicants into territory where its manufacture and sale is forbidden by local law. Information has reached the department that many persons living in "dry" territory have stored quantities of liquor in "wet" cities with a view to transporting it after today, but enforcement of the Reed amendment will in no wise be relaxed.

Contending that no court may say, as a matter of law, what percentage of alcohol in liquor makes it intoxicating, the Judiciary Committee, in a report today to the House on prohibition enforcement legislation, declared this was a question of fact, and not law, and, as such, was clearly within the province of Congress.

DEFINES INTOXICATION.

The committee held that the right of Congress to define "intoxicating liquor" as a beverage containing more than one-half of one per cent. alcohol was in full accord with its constitutional powers and that every State in dealing with alcoholic liquors had named products of that percentage as intoxicating and had either prohibited use of such liquors or subjected them to heavy tax.

"To define what is intoxicating does not trespass on the province of the court," said the majority report prepared by Chairman Volstead. "No court can say, as a matter of law, what percentage of alcohol in liquor makes it intoxicating, nor what toxic effect is intoxication. These are questions of fact and not law, and as such, are clearly within the province of Congress. In describing some of the provisions to make that law effective, the committee said no one who supported the constitutional amendment had in mind that there could be any question as to the meaning of intoxicating liquors.

"It meant to them as it meant to all the people," the report added, "that all the liquor that has been treated and taxed as intoxicating should forever be banished, and they are asking Congress to carry out in good faith, what everybody understood was the mandate written into the Constitution."

BASELESS ACCUSATION.

"This charge, stripped of its baseless accusation against Congress, is simply a plea that the saloon should have a year in which to unload on the public its stock of liquors, a common duty that the nation with singular unanimity has branded as inimical to its welfare." The report dealt extensively with the three-headed bill—war-time enforcement, constitutional enforcement and regulations affecting the manufacture and use of alcohol. With respect to constitutional prohibition, it said this was the culmination of a bitter and persistent struggle that had been going on for years against the liquor traffic.

With respect to the bill's provisions for medicines, toilet articles and flavoring extracts, the committee contended that the restrictions were not so severe as those in force in many States and were as liberal as it was believed safe to make them.

NEW GAS LINE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

RIVERSIDE, June 29.—According to information received here today from seemingly authoritative sources, natural gas will be piped to this city from the Fullerton fields at an early date. It is proposed to lay the line through the Santa Ana Canyon and extend it as far as Colton and San Bernardino.

Smith-Towner Bill Objected to.

PERU (Ill.) June 30.—The Benedictine Educational Association, representing sixteen States, today adopted a platform protesting against the Smith-Towner bill. "Federalization of all school moneys," says the platform, "the essential feature of the Smith-Towner bill, is the death knell of educational freedom."

MOVEMENTS OF TRANSPORTS.

ARRIVALS—ASSIGNMENTS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, June 30.—Reports of a mutiny on the Archangel front last March among members of the Three Hundred and Thirty-ninth Infantry were vehemently denied today by Maj. J. Brooks Nichols of Detroit and Capt. H. G. Winslow of Madison, Wis., commanding Co. I, the unit said to have been involved. Both officers returned on the transport Von Steuben, which brought back the first complete units to return from service in the Archangel sector. The Von Steuben arrived here today from Brest with 2920 troops, including a large detachment of the Three Hundred and Thirty-ninth Infantry, Eighty-fifth Division, which was recently withdrawn from Archangel.

The transport Infanta Isabella arrived from Bordeaux today with 1730 troops and the yacht Aphrodite came in with thirteen casual officers from Brest.

The French liner La Lorraine, from Havre with 427 casual troops on board, arrived early today.

The transport Troy, also from Brest, brought 5774 troops, the majority being negroes attached to engineer regiments.

Eve Hammond of San Francisco, one of the most decorated of American women war workers, returned today on the Lorraine. She wears the Croix de Guerre, Legion of Honor and Sauvetage medals and the ribbon of the battle of the Marne.

NEWPORT NEWS (Va.) June 30. The battleship Louisiana arrived here today from Brest with 1250 officers and men, including the Seventh Supply Train.

BOSTON, June 30.—The transport Finland, with 3545 troops and 26 civilian employees of the War Department, arrived today from Brest. On board were the Third Cavalry, Battery B of the Third Field Artillery, Three Hundred and Tenth and One Hundred and Thirteenth Engineer Train, a detachment of the Sixty-fourth Infantry, Batteries A and E and headquarters company of the Seventy-eighth Field Artillery, Seventh Army Corps Sanitary Train, headquarters field hospitals Nos. 153 to 156, with ambulance companies 153 to 155, Four Hundred and Eighteenth Motor Transport Supply Train, headquarters motor transport companies 469, 471, 472 and 473, Co. B, Sixth Supply Train, and nine casual companies from Brest and At. Aignan.

REPORT OF CYCLOPS IN HUN PORT DISBELIEVED.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BERLIN, June 28 (via Copenhagen, June 29.)—When news agencies repeated the story that the United States Navy collier Cyclops had been brought into a German port, and the news reached Berlin the Admiralty offices were closed, but several officials found at their residences doubted the story. Naval officers say surely they would have heard if the vessel had been brought into a port.

They also emphasize the difficulty of running the collier through the blockade, and the fact that Americans have been in every German port since the armistice.

SCHOOL BOARD WON'T TOLERATE AGITATION.

CRITICISM FROM A TEACHERS' ORGANIZATION EVOKES CAUSTIC COMMENT.

Agitation and interference will not be tolerated by the Board of Education, its members declared last night, when a resolution, prepared by the Committee of the Whole, was adopted by the board.

The High School Teachers' Association sent a letter to the Board of Education last Thursday, with a resolution appended, in which the action of the school board in canceling the contract of one of the high school teachers was criticised. The association said the teacher had not been given sufficient notice that the board proposed to cancel his contract, and that he had not had a just hearing and had not been represented by counsel.

The resolution appended to the letter, which had been adopted by the executive committee of the High School Teachers' Association, urged that the board should not cancel the contract of any teacher unless on three months' notice; that the board should give every teacher a hearing when he had been reported by the principal of the school, and the High School Teachers' Association should have a representation at the hearing.

All these things were obnoxious to the board, D. K. Edwards, chairman of the Committee of the Whole, declared. "The Board of Education is elected by the people and is responsible to the people for the conduct of the schools, and the only way it can conduct the schools in a satisfactory manner is to do so without interference from any association of teachers," he said. "The board is not willing to consider any complaints from teachers through any association. We will listen to any teacher, appearing as an individual, but we will not consider any complaints except when they originate with the teacher affected."

Mr. Edwards said he would like to know who is stirring up all this strife among the high school teachers. "It looks like a determined effort to undermine the system, and is unethical and unprofessional, and if the parties responsible for this work were known, I would favor giving them an indefinite leave of absence without pay."

It was intimated by the board members that some of the high school teachers were preaching Bolshevism and D. J. Chase, replaying to Mr. Edwards, said he concurred in everything that had been said and believed the school system, and the children, would be better off without the agitators.

PACIFIC STEAMSHIP BUSINESS IS RUSHING.

Because of increased business, the Pacific Steamship Company has found it necessary to move to larger quarters, and accordingly today will move its district freight and passenger offices to the third floor of the Citizens' Bank Building, W. M. Cline, district freight and passenger agent, announced yesterday.

A city ticket office for the company will be opened at Fifth and Spring, in part of the offices formerly occupied by the Salt Lake Route Railroad.

The Pacific Steamship Company is now receiving reports from seven different steamship agencies, it was reported.

EXPECT TEN THOUSAND AT BIG CANADA FETE.

MAIN FEATURE OF DOMINION DAY CELEBRATION TO BE ASSAULT-AT-ARMS.

Ten thousand Canadians from Los Angeles and other Southern California cities are expected at the Shrine Auditorium tonight in celebration of Dominion Day, the birthday of Canada, according to Chairman Harry B. Crouch, of the Dominion Day Committee, who conducted the final rehearsal of the programme at the Shrine Auditorium last night.

One hundred Canadian soldiers in full uniform will do the "assault-at-arms." There will be bayonet drills, a representation of the taking of Vimy Ridge, the battle flags, the salute to the colors and the honors accorded to the United States officers represented by Col. Adna G. Clark, commandant of Fort MacArthur, and Col. L. J. Mygatt, commandant of Ross Balloon School at Arcadia, who will share the honors with C. White Mortimer, representing Great Britain.

United States soldiers who fought shoulder to shoulder with their Canadian brothers are to have a part in the honors accorded the returned men. There will be little, if any, speech-making. The affair will conclude with a military ball, after tableaux have been presented in which world war scenes will be shown.

Sergt. W. L. Rayfield, who wears a Victoria Cross for distinctive bravery on the field of battle in Flanders, will be one of the Canadian soldiers to take part in the celebration. When Rayfield was surrounded by Germans, he fought them, capturing thirty-two, and with his company escaped, though wounded.

The Overseas Club orchestra of twenty-five pieces will play and Dr. Bruce Gordon Kingsley, famous Canadian, will direct the music. The Kilties in full uniform will take part in the celebration.

Another feature will be the fencing of Lieut. H. J. Uttenhove, champion fencer, who challenges any one to meet him. He was instructor to the officers of the Belgian army.

There was a demand for boxes last night. Douglas Fairbanks, Tom Moore, Lillian and Dorothy Gish, Reginald Barker, Alexander Francis, Wallie Reed and a number of other well-known motion picture stars have secured theirs. Bruce Hawkins will be master of ceremonies.

LEGATEE CAN USE IT AS HE WISHES UNDER THE GUIDANCE OF HOLY SPIRIT.

The bulk of the estate of George W. Shires, who died here on June 22, was bequeathed to Rev. Augustus B. Prichard, to be used "in the way which may seem best under the guidance of the holy spirit," according to a will filed for probate yesterday. The estate is valued at $50,000.

The will says Mr. Shires had confidence in the minister, and the property so bequeathed is given absolutely and unconditionally, and the legatee is answerable to no one but God, and his own conscience.

To May Louise Feaster, housekeeper for Mr. Shires, is left the family residence at 2111 Thompson street, because of her kindness to his deceased wife. The Bible House of Los Angeles is left $5000, and the remainding portion of one-third of the estate, which may by law be left to charity, is to go to the Bible Institute to found "the George W. Shires mission." This is to be used for foreign and local missions. Mrs. Elizabeth Brown, a sister, is given a life income from a trust fund of $10,000.

GOT A DOLLAR TO HELP POOR BABIES?

IF YOU HAVE, HERE'S A CHANCE TO GIVE LITTLE ONES A VACATION AT BEACH.

The King's Daughters Day Nursery, 132 North Clarence street, Boyle Heights, is planning to send fifty little boys and girls, on a two-weeks' vacation at the beach, and every man, and woman too, in Los Angeles is asked to help make this vacation a pleasing success for the children.

The nursery is non-secterian and all races, and creeds are accepted, and will be taken on this vacation trip. These are American children, sons and daughters of Los Angeles working women, some of them are orphans and the rest are half orphans dependent on what their mothers or guardians can earn.

It won't cost much to send these little tots to the beach. In comparison to what it costs the average Angeleno to go for two weeks the trip of these children will cost nothing. To these little children, and their parents, however, the cost is absolutely prohibitive and the only way the trip can be realised is for everyone who can possibly spare the money to send 50 cents or a dollar of two.

Mrs. Harrison, who is in charge of the nursery is arranging for the beach trip. Her plan is to rent a house at the beach and take one or two nurses with her to assist in handling the children. All who can help should get in touch with Mrs. Harrison at the nursery. The telephone number is 41238.

"SLEEPING LION" AT THE SUPERBA.

An Italian out in the Great West of the two-gun man and the lariat is an unusual character in the pictures, and in this respect "The Sleeping Lion," in which he appears, portrayed by Monroe Salisbury, is an unusual photoplay. This week at the Superba. The humanness of the Italian's character is emphasized in his love for a child and his faith and devotion to the ideal of his youth. His acquirement of expertness in handling the revolver furnishes material for comedy, especially when his first shot cuts a hole in a can of milk.

Monroe Salisbury gives a very effective interpretation of the type, although the tendency on his part as well as other members of the cast is toward too much mouthing. The other players of the cast are excellent. Rea Mitchell makes a pretty village Carmen.

The Sleeping Lion" is a Western picture that is different.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

SPECIAL NOTICE TO "TIMES" Classified Advertisers.

Hereafter 8 p.m. will be the closing hour for the receipt of classified advertisement for both the Daily and Sunday Times.

Classified Liners.

CLASSIFIED RATES.

Minimum space, 2 lines, or 12 words. No transactions of less than 25 cents daily. 20 cents Sunday.

Ten cents a line each insertion daily. Fifteen cents a line each insertion Sunday. Personals, 20 cents per line each insertion daily and 20 cents a line Sunday; applies to advertisements under the headings of "Personals," "Special Notices," "Lost, Found, Strayed," "Wanted," "Rooms," "Rooms and Board," "Lots," "Houses," "Flats," "Apartments," "Miscellaneous" and "Boats and Marines."

Minimum charge applies to each change and each consecutive insertion. Count five average words for the first line, and seven words for each additional line. Advertisements not inserted on consecutive days or consecutive issues.

The Times will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement not given in writing or for more than one day. The inadvertent omission of advertising will be rectified only by the cancellation of the charge for the space occupied. Adjustment for errors will be made in accordance with published rules and regulations governing same. Such adjustments for errors will be made for advertisements appearing in the issue next following the one containing the error complained of. Errors not reported in time for correction in the issue next following the first insertion will not be allowed for. The Times will not be responsible for errors which may occur in other items in the event of omissions. The Times will not be responsible for errors which may occur in telephoned advertisements. The right is reserved to classify all advertisements under proper headings, and to reject objectionable advertising.

"WANT AD" SUPREMACY.

The Times regularly prints practically all of the "Want Ads" published in all of the other Los Angeles newspapers in addition to thousands of ads which are not printed in any other newspaper. In all classifications—Help Wanted, Situations Wanted, To Let, Automobiles, Real Estate, Business Chances—TIMES LEADERSHIP IS UNQUESTIONED.

By using THE TIMES ALONE, classified advertisers can cover Los Angeles and Southern California at one cost.

SAY! SAY!

TOUR CASH! WE HAVE IT.

A visit to our two show rooms will convince you that the particular car you desire is one of our large and complete stock. We have late models of all the popular makes and all in perfect condition. We also have a fine line of custom-built models designed and built in our own shops that cannot be duplicated at the prices asked.

A SUGGESTION 1918 DODGE Touring and Roadster. Mechanically right. Bargain.

1916 APPERSON 8, FOUR-PASSENGER.—

This is one of the first late model "flights with eighty leg-parts" that we have been able to trade for. Its former owner is one of the most particular customers to have. He buys a new car every year. He never drives over 25 miles an hour for the rest. 2500 miles, consequently this car was correctly broken in and is now in perfect condition. Come out and run this car a new car could possibly be. The total mileage is less than 6000. The appearance and performance of the car will corroborate above statements.

The body is the four-passenger, four-door type, now so popular.

Our fifty-four guarantee and service covers this automobile.

FOX MAY GET OUT.

"Patriotic Prisoner," Jailed for Fraud, Seeking Bonds.

George A. Fox, convicted of defrauding Mrs. Anna G. Walters out of $5,196.25 by a lover's wiles, may gain his liberty pending an appeal to the Appellate Court, if he produces $20,000 bonds, it was decided yesterday by Judge Craig.

Fox is the man who paid $37.21 in delinquent taxes on President Wilson's Indio ranch, when he heard the property was about to be sold. Later J. P. Tumulty, Secretary to the President, forwarded the amount and the sum was remitted to Fox by the Tax Collector of Riverside County. The man has spent fifteen months in jail. He was sentenced to from one to ten years in San Quentin.

BAND FOR THE HEIGHTS.

Citizens of Boyle Heights have interested themselves in providing a programme for Hollenbeck Park for the Fourth of July, and an appeal to the City Council for funds to secure a band resulted yesterday in the Council making an appropriation of $80 for this purpose.

THE YOUNG LADY ACROSS THE WAY

The young lady across the way says we cannot expect absolute perfection in this world and she hates to see her father so angry over missing his train when he missed it by only a minute or two.

PLAN MUCH NEW WORK.

Street Improvement and Sewering Jobs are Given Impetus.

A petition for the improvement of Soto street, between Atlantic and Opal streets, was granted by the Council yesterday. The Council set for hearing for July 7 protests against the sewering of the Homer-street improvement district, and deferred until August 27 the hearing on the protest against the widening of Romaine street from Western avenue to Oxford street.

Approval was given to the assessment district maps for the Mayberry-street improvement district, and Temple street, from Vermont avenue to Wilton place, this being a stretch of one mile in length. Final ordinances were adopted for the sewering of Ridgewood place between First and Temple streets; Virgil avenue, between Santa Monica boulevard and Fountain avenues; Eleventh street, from Santa Fe avenue easterly, and July 7 was set for hearing of protests against the acceptance of the improvement known as the Fountain-avenue and Mura-avenue improvement district. Funds were transferred for the opening and widening of Thirty-eighth place, for the widening of Vermont avenue and for the condemnation of land on Verdugo road for park purposes.

FAIR COTTON RATE.

Business Men to Urge Just Charge to This Port.

A plan of procedure to obtain for Los Angeles export cotton differential rates from Oklahoma and Texas will be discussed at a meeting to be held at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce. Application for a rate has been filed and the hearing will be held before the District Freight Traffic Commission.

Initial steps have already been taken for a high density cotton compress at Los Angeles harbor and the application for an export rate is another step in the direction tending to make the city a great cotton-shipping point.

HELD ON DRUG CHARGE; BLAMES HALF BROTHER.

William J. Davies, a physician from the East, was held in $1000 bond by United States Commissioner Long, yesterday, on a charge of violating the Harrison anti-narcotic law. It is alleged that he was found with two ounces of liquid opium in his possession. He admitted, it is said, that he had opened a letter addressed to his half brother, Henry Myers, had extracted therefrom an express receipt and had written a letter to himself, signed by his half brother's name, authorizing the express company to deliver the package to him.

Davies furnished bond and was released. He says that he had suspected his half brother of receiving opium by express, and had opened his letter because he thought it might contain a receipt for a shipment of narcotics.

AGED MAN DISAPPEARS.

Sheriff Details Deputies to Hunt Him, at Daughter's Request.

Fears for the safety of J. P. McCarthy, 79 years of age, are expressed in reports received yesterday by the Sheriff's office. The aged man, who was staying with his daughter, Mrs. P. Morris, in Santa Monica Canyon, was last seen Sunday afternoon.

In response to the daughter's request, a number of deputy Sheriffs were detailed by Sheriff Cline to search the hills and canyons in the neighborhood. The aged man has white hair and beard; wore gray canvas shoes and clothes, a soft black hat and gray coat and trousers.

AWAIT EASTERN ADVICE.

John E. Bowman, an Oklahoma architect, who was arrested Sunday, is being held by Special Agent Keep of the Department of Justice, for advice from Kansas City, Mo., as to whether or not the authorities there want him for violation of the Mann White Slave Act. He is charged with having transported his wife's 17-year-old sister, Miss Pansy Martin, from Pawhuska, Okla., to Wichita and Pisit, Kan., and living at the same hotel with her for several weeks.

THE WEATHER.

[Official Report.]

LOCAL OFFICE, U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, Los Angeles, June 30.—[Reported by Ford A. Carpenter, Meteorologist.] At 5 o'clock a.m. the barometer registered 29.80; at 5 p.m., 29.79. Thermometer for the corresponding hours showed 59 deg. and 73 deg. Relative humidity, 5 a.m., 58 per cent.; 5 p.m., 50 per cent. Wind, 5 a.m., northeast, velocity 1 mile; 5 p.m., southwest, velocity 12 miles. Highest temperature, 77 deg.; lowest, 58 deg. Rainfall for season, 8.58 inches; last season, 18.86 inches. Barometer reduced to sea level.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.—Two fields of high barometric pressure are in control of the weather this morning. The eastern field is giving fair and moderately warm weather east of the Mississippi River and the western high area is causing fair and moderately cool weather from Washington to California. Between these areas the barometer is relatively low, resulting in rain in Florida and the Gulf States generally into Western Tennessee. Fair weather, without much change in temperature, will continue in Los Angeles and vicinity during the ensuing thirty-six hours.

ORCHARD REPORTS.—Minimum and maximum temperatures from the orchards, reported yesterday to the Los Angeles office of the U. S. Weather Bureau, were as follows:

Stations	Max.	Min.
Pasadena	90	60
Redlands	95	54
Riverside	96	52
Santa Barbara	73	54
San Bernardino	96	54
Santa Ana	93	52

SAYS MEXICO IS SINK OF CRIME.

Distinguished Army Officer Urges Speedy Action.

Neither Property nor Lives are Safe, He States.

Tells Aims of Association to Protect Our Rights.

Co-operation in securing the protection of the lives and property of American citizens in Mexico is being sought in this city by the National Association for the Protection of American Rights in Mexico through Maj. John G. MacDonnell, field secretary of the association, who arrived at the Alexandria yesterday from the East.

Maj. MacDonnell, who was a member of Lieut.-Gen. Hunter Liggett's staff in France and provost marshal of the First Army, was selected as one of the leaders for the campaign to uphold the rights of the American citizens in Mexico because of his knowledge of conditions in the Latin country. In explanation of the purpose of the new association, he stated that its membership includes more than 600 of the foremost banks, industrial and commercial institutions of America.

"The association was formed," he said, "to arouse, organize and lead public sentiment which would support Congress and the administration in taking, without further delay, whatever steps may be necessary to secure protection for the lives and property of American citizens, wherever they may be, and to compel that respect for the American flag which has been so conspicuously lacking in Mexico for the greater part of eighty years.

"The placid indifference with which the killing of more than 300 American citizens in Mexico within the last few years, may say nothing of the attempted confiscation or destruction of American property worth more than a billion dollars, would appear to indicate the need for somebody to assume the leadership in arousing the torpid public conscience. Some have felt and said that the government has been remiss in protecting its citizens, but a democratic government cannot go beyond the wishes of the people who create it. When the people demand it, full justice will be done in the present intolerable situation in Mexico.

HAVE PRECEDENCE.

"We did not hesitate to take energetic steps for the protection of American citizens in China in the Boxer rebellion of 1900. We recognized the right and duty of a government to protect its citizens temporarily residing in foreign lands, when Italy demanded and received without demur on our part reparation for the lynching of some of its citizens in New Orleans some years ago. Indeed, the duty of a government to protect its citizens wherever they may be seems to be fully understood everywhere but in America today. That is the purpose for which governments are created.

"The Mexican situation concerns not alone those who have invested large sums in Mexico, nor the survivors of thousands of colonists who have lost everything they possessed and whose families who have been murdered. It is also a matter which vitally interests every man, woman and child in America.

"Mexico is the haven of refuge to which the I.W.W., which is an alias for anarchists, were sent to be tutored by German propagandists. The product of this joint labor of anarchy and kultur was Bolshevism, which was first put into effect in Mexico in all its details, even to public ownership of women and corruption of children. From Mexico Bolshevism was transplanted

FUN HERE WILL BECKON WORLD.

Brilliant Round of Fiestas to Draw Gay Throngs.

Business Leaders Organize for Campaign of Joy.

For the Worth-While Farmer, Investor and Workman.

Entertainments, elaborate and worth-while, in gay series throughout the eight-month season that will begin next October, will be offered by Los Angeles to make more brilliant and thoroughly enjoyable her hospitality to the throngs of visitors that are always within her gates. This was assured yesterday, when the plan was launched, and a definite organization to further it was formed by about fifty active business and professional men of the community, at a luncheon given by the Los Angeles News Publishers' Association, at the Athletic Club.

The programme of entertainment is designed not only to bring to merchants and the business community generally, the immediate money that always accompanies visitors. It is the purpose, also, to attract worth-while investors, farmers and workingmen—to assure a throng of visitors notable alike for number and character.

Mayor-elect Snyder presided during the business proceedings at yesterday's luncheon, and Max Ihmsen, publisher of the Examiner, presented the plan and its purpose. Mr. Ihmsen explained that it is the belief of newspaper men that there is need of plans for entertaining visitors in Los Angeles on a large and impressive scale.

ONE IN LOYALTY.

The Mayor-elect expressed his hearty sympathy with the movement, and declared: "I am especially glad to see such a get-together spirit on the part of the newspapers. No matter how the people of Los Angeles may differ on politics and other matters, they are united in their loyalty to this city and their desire to see it prosper."

Harry Chandler, president and general manager of The Times, declared that Los Angeles has been inviting people to come here without having made proper preparation for entertaining them after they arrive, leaving them largely to their own devices. He pointed out that Pasadena regularly has its Tournament of Roses and San Bernardino its orange show, while Los Angeles is usually without specific plans and preparations to fittingly amuse her guests.

Edward A. Dickson, editor of the Express, talked of the need of doing things for visitors, and suggested that the Los Angeles River, dammed and improved, would provide excellent facilities for a water carnival.

TEXT OF RESOLUTION.

F. W. Kellogg, business manager of the Express, declared that newspaper is anxious to co-operate on these lines, and introduced the following resolution, which was enthusiastically and unanimously adopted:

"Resolved, that it is the sense of this meeting that a permanent organization be effected to arrange and carry out a programme of amusement covering a period from October to May in Los Angeles and Southern California, and that each citizen invited to attend this luncheon be a member of the permanent committee, which may be enlarged by the Mayor, which is hereby organized with an executive board of not less than ten men to be named by the Mayor, the chairman of the Board of Supervisors and the publishers of Los Angeles."

One of the most telling speeches was made by D. A. Hamburger, who has recently taken in the carnivals at Nice and Manila. Mr. Hamburger spoke of the success of those fiestas and also recalled how successful from the financial standpoint was the first airplane shown in Los Angeles; that the underwriters were repaid all the money subscribed and the show earned more besides. He said that, to carry out the entertainment programme proposed, it will be necessary to unite, in proportion to individual abilities, in underwriting it, so that a permanent fund can be formed as a financial basis. Nobody will actually be called on for money, he added, as the various shows will pay their way, with a margin of profit besides.

Hearty indorsement of the plan was given by President Watt Moreland of the Chamber of Commerce, President R. Hays Rice of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, Supervisor Jonathan Dodge, Councilman Criswell and others.

FIRST SUBSCRIPTION.

A. L. Bertonneau, representing the Linnard Hotel interests, brought down the house by reading the following telegram from D. M. Linnard:

"G. G. Young, Secretary,
Publishers' Association,
Los Angeles, Cal.

"The proposed programme for large and appealing entertainments in Los Angeles beginning this fall, as suggested by the Los Angeles Publishers' Association, calls forth my hearty approval. It is a great, brilliant idea, heavy with wonderful opportunities. I am enthusiastically in favor of your plans to attract investors to our vast industrial, shipping and manufacturing opportunities. Every effort should be made to extend inducements for farmers to locate with us. The intelligent propaganda as outlined by our publishers is certain to be productive of most gratifying results. The whole scheme outlines splendid, commendable co-operation by your organization with our business interests. Put me down for $10,000 at least, to help carry out your plans. I am exceedingly sorry absence will prevent by lunching with you but I beg you to count me pres-

DENTISTS' :: WAR :: WORK :: PRAISED.

Famous Oral Surgeons are in Attendance at Convention Here.

"No one class of professional men did more for the soldiers, sailors and marines, during the recent war, than the dentists of America, and the Southern California dentists were in the front rank at all times," Dr. W. E. Sibley of Los Angeles, president of the Southern California Dental Association, declared yesterday at the opening session of the twenty-second annual meeting of the society.

The convention is being held on the third floor of Trinity Auditorium and will continue for three days.

Great interest is being taken by the dentists in the competitive clinics, three of which are being carried on as a part of the regular meetings. The Alumni Association, college of dentistry, University of Southern California, is conducting a clinic on "sterilization in the dental office;" the Pasadena Dental Society has a clinic on "laboratory technique of full denture construction as taught by Russell W. Tench;" San Diego County Dental Society clinic discusses "Treatment for Abscessed Roots and Maxillary Sinus."

Judges, appointed by the president of the association, and unknown to clinicians, are in attendance at the clinics, and will award a silver loving cup to the best one. San Diego won the cup last year, but the Los Angeles dentists are making a strong effort to get it this year.

A motion-picture film, put out by the War Department, entitled "Fit to Fight," and showing the control of the diseases of the teeth in venereal diseases, was shown last night.

TODAY'S SESSION.

Several addresses will be made today. The morning session will be devoted to a discussion of a paper to be read by F. Ewing Hosack of Chicago. The afternoon session will be devoted to an address by Dr. Roach, and a clinic on "Fractional Gold Jacket Restoration for Bridge Abutments" and another on "Porcelain Jacket Crown Technique."

A barbecue will be given tonight at 6 o'clock at Griffith Park. The lunch will be served at the Western-avenue entrance to the park. A committee composed of J. Elton Lang, chairman, Carrol, Jones, H. H. Haas, F. L. Warren and J. E. Curran have the arrangements for the barbecue completed, and Dr. Lang says everything is ready for the most stupendous affair that the dentists have ever given.

NOTABLES PRESENT.

In addition to the members of the association, there are many men prominent in the dental world in attendance at the convention, chief among whom are Dr. F. E. Roach of Chicago and Dr. John S. Marshall of Berkeley, one of the first dental surgeons in the army. In 1906 Dr. Marshall was chief dental surgeon of the army, and has written many text-books on the technique of dentistry. Dr. John P. Buckley, also of Chicago, is in charge of a clinic. Dr. W. M. Dickie, representing the Surgeon-General's office of the United States Army, was in charge of the film presented last night, and will give a lecture on hygiene during the convention.

An effort is to be made by the California dentists to have the twenty-fifth annual convention of the National Dental Association held in this city in 1923, and before the local convention adjourns, a resolution to this effect will be adopted, and other steps taken to secure the national meeting.

Maj. Charles Lockwood, Capts. E. F. Tholen, Collins, Lieuts. Harry E. Straub, A. A. Payette, Mark Kelsey, H. E. Cannion, S. H. Thornburg, J. M. Howard, Reuben Larson, F. S. Kaiser, H. K. Humphrey and A. W. Siney, members of the association, who are in the dental department of the army, and Dr. E. C. Varner, United States Navy, are attending the convention.

ALL TOGETHER TO SEND A BONDS OVER TOP TODAY.

Last-Hour Advices from All Sections of the Southland Indicate a Heavy Majority for Road Issue.

Following are salient points about today's State highway bond election:

Polling places in the city are practically the same as at the election of last November. Voters who failed to receive notification of the location of their polling places should telephone the Registrar of Voters.

A few precincts in the county have been consolidated for this election.

The polls will be open from 6 a.m. until 7 p.m.

You may vote if you have registered on or since January 1, 1918, and have not moved to another precinct. If you have moved since that time you may vote if reregistered on or before May 31, last.

There is only one proposition on the ballot. If you favor the bonds, vote "Yes."

A majority only is necessary to carry the proposition, as this election is for highway bonds.

Every advocate of the issue is urged to cast a ballot.

With continued reports from all parts of Southern and Central California that there is no organized opposition to the proposed $40,000,000 State highway bond issue and that only overconfidence and failure to go to the polls can defeat it, the voters of the State will register their will at today's special election.

Last-hour advices to the Automobile Club of Southern California from many of its branches show that every effort has been made to assure a representative vote today, and no pains will be spared in making sure that the voters get to the polls.

The proposed issue was unanimously favored by thirty-six active commercial secretaries at their monthly meeting held in San Bernardino.

Thirty-six leading commercial organizations of Southern California were represented, and when the subject of the bonds was brought up it was shown all favored the issue and are working for the bonds.

Of the $40,000,000 issue, approximately $15,000,000 will be expended in the southern third of the State, if the bond proposal is approved today. An official statement of Newell D. Darlington, chairman of the California Highway Commission, to the Automobile Club of Southern California, also shows more than $10,000,000 of the total proposed is to be spent in division seven, with headquarters at Los Angeles.

NEW ROADS PLANNED.

The issue is not only to provide for the completion of the present State highway system, but also for construction of many new highways. These prospective roads are to be distributed generally throughout the State; the plans calling for ten of them, to cost about $8,000,000, in the southern portion of California alone. They are designed to provide keenly needed additions and auxiliaries to the present trunk-line system.

Moreover, it is now proposed, through the issue at stake today, to take over from the counties the burden in highway construction bequeathed by the $15,000,000 issue. Under its terms, certain important highways were to be paid for by both State and county—two-thirds of the cost to be met by the latter. Because of difficulties certain counties have found in meeting the expense, this arrangement has served to delay the completion of the highway building programme. Now, it is proposed to have the State take over the roads thus delayed—a notable example is the highway from San Bernardino through the Coachella and Imperial valleys to Yuma—and press the construction work to completion.

In the Imperial Valley the voters will ballot today, also, on the question of a $1,500,000 county highway bond issue, which is expected to carry by a large margin.

Automobiles throughout the length and breadth of California will be mobilized by the automobile clubs and similar bodies, to carry voters to the balloting places. Yesterday, scores of meetings were held in scores of cities and towns, as an eleventh-hour precaution against overassurance on the part of the general public. In San Luis Obispo county alone, seventeen such meetings were held yesterday under the auspices of the San Luis Obispo Chamber of Commerce.

WHAT REPORTS SAY.

Reports from the branch offices of the Automobile Club of Southern California, received at the club's offices, 1346 South Figueroa street, without exception indicate a heavy affirmative vote for the bond measure.

F. E. Moulton, branch manager for Riverside county, writes that the State highway bonds will carry in that county. Of twenty-five or thirty leading citizens interviewed by him, every man was in favor of the bill.

According to Hal H. Hobson, representative of the Automobile Club of Southern California at Visalia, the situation in Tulare county is exceptionally favorable. Straw ballots, just taken, show the follow-

"TIMES" GOES BY AIR TODAY

Veteran Aviators are to Carry Papers to Bishop on Nonstop Flight.

Another stride in the conquest of California by airplane will be made today, when Ralph Newcomb and David Davis, two experienced aviators of this city, deliver the Los Angeles Times at Bishop by aerial express. Citizens of Bishop will today for the first time get their daily newspaper by aerial free delivery.

The flight will start from DeMille Field in Hollywood at 7:30 this morning. The flyers judge the distance by air to be about 260 miles one way and they expect to make the journey in three and one-half hours. To avoid the necessity of stopping at a filling station en route they are carrying thirty-five gallons of gasoline—enough for a four-hour flight.

The machine in which this unusual trip will be made is a Curtiss Canadian military training plane of ninety horse power. It carries two passengers and a reasonable amount of baggage. Mr. Newcomb, who resides at 1943 New England street, is a veteran pilot. He flew across the continent with Bob Fowler and has been intimately connected with the development of aviation.

Mr. Davis is proprietor of the American Engine and Aeroplane Company at 2865 West Pico street. He bought the Curtiss plane several months ago for recreational purposes, and after reaching Bishop today he and Mr. Newcomb will continue their journey into the valleys beyond Bishop, where they will fish and hunt by airplane for two weeks.

On July Fourth, by special arrangement, Mr. Newcomb will give exhibition flights at the Bishop Fourth of July celebration and will take 150 passengers on short aerial trips.

GEN. LIGGETT WILL MAKE HIS HOME HERE.

IN MIDST OF WAR CONFIDED HIS INTENTION TO COMRADE IN ARMS.

Lieut.-Gen. Hunter Liggett, commander of the Third Army in the occupied territory of Germany and one of the foremost American personalities in the world war, is weary of a fighting career and plans to spend the rest of his life in Southern California, according to Maj. John G. MacDonnell, former member of his staff, who is now in Los Angeles.

"During the height of the Meuse-Argonne drive," said Maj. MacDonnell yesterday, "Gen. Liggett, fatigued with the strain of the final campaign, while in his dug-out on the Argonne front turned to me and said, 'Major, when this war is over I'm going to take Mrs. Liggett out to Southern California and settle down in a cozy little bungalow to spend the rest of my days.'"

The general became infatuated with California while he was commander of the Western Department with headquarters in San Francisco, and ever since his departure for the Western Front he has had a longing to return.

FAMOUS "OLIVE HILL" SOLD.

After years of speculation on the part of the Los Angeles public as to what its ultimate development would be, the thirty-six-acre tract at Sunset boulevard and Vermont avenue, known as "Olive Hill," yesterday passed from the ownership of Mrs. Mary Spires of this city to Miss Aline Barnsdall, a wealthy easterner, who has decided to make this city her permanent home. Deeds recording the sale were filed yesterday at the Courthouse by a representative of the Security Bank, acting for both principals. The revenue stamps on the papers indicated the consideration to be approximately $200,000.

It is understood that Miss Barnsdall, who has an office here in the Merritt Building, and is living temporarily in a local apartment-house, will take early steps to improve the property with a stately home. She is said to have commissioned a New York architect to prepare the plans.

The Olive Hill property was purchased by the late J. H. Spires nearly twenty-five years ago. It comprises one of the most commanding sites in Los Angeles. Years ago the tract, which runs from Vermont avenue to Edgemont street, and fronts on both Sunset and Hollywood boulevards, was planted to olive trees and laid out with driveways. The property has been the subject of many reports concerning its probable development, and at one time is said to have been eagerly sought by a company which proposed to erect a large hotel similar to the new California hotel project on Wilshire boulevard.

URGES SAWBUCK TO REPLACE COLD CREAM.

PERSPIRATION BEST LOTION FOR LADIES' COMPLEXIONS SAYS LECTURER.

That perspiration is the best cold cream in the world was the statement made yesterday by Miss M. Isabell Bovee, instructor of physical education in her opening lecture in the summer session of the University of Southern California, in which she will have charge of physical education for women.

Miss Bovee is an exponent of modern education for the modern woman, making women strong and healthy in their bodies as well as well-poised mentally.

That well-regulated gymnastics and a proper diet will do more for the complexion than a pound of cold cream could do, is the definite statement of Miss Bovee. That perspiration will clean the pores more than any external application could do is the hope she holds out both to the skinny and to the—well, to those who are "reducing."

Kipling's famous Molly O'Grady and the captain's lady may be the same UNDER the skin, but they do not all have the same outward skin, and a good complexion is of interest to any woman, whether she be a university graduate or a simple debutante.

Esthetic dancing, well-regulated gymnastics, healthful postures instead of sunken shoulders, lax hips and knees, and French heels, are the rules which Miss Bovee lays down for healthy women. If they follow these she says that nine-tenths of their ailments will disappear, leaving health and happiness.

Perspiration—common sense—application of same night and morning is the prescription for beauty which Miss Bovee gives her students.

ON VACATION TRIP.

VANDERLIP COMING WEST, BUT POSSIBLY WON'T INSPECT HARBOR HOLDINGS.

Frank A. Vanderlip, who recently resigned as president of the National City Bank of New York, is coming West soon to spend several weeks at Glacier National Park, but it is probable that he will not inspect the holdings of the Palos Verdes Syndicate at the harbor on this trip, it was stated yesterday at the office of Jay Lawyer, attorney for the syndicate.

Mr. Vanderlip is going to a park on a vacation, but it is not definitely known when he will arrive at the park though it will be within the next few weeks, nor who will accompany him.

DOROTHY DIX TALKS

The Nagger and Nagged.

BY DOROTHY DIX.

A few days ago a western woman shot and killed her husband, and as he was dying he gasped out with his last breath:

"I guess I pushed her too far. I nagged her too much. Women can't stand as much nagging as men can."

That will be the wife's defense—that she was nagged beyond the limit of human endurance—and it's dollars to doughnuts that the jury will bring in a verdict of justifiable homicide.

We have all suffered from the nagger, and we know from personal experience that there is no other thing on earth that raises such murderous impulses in even the most patient breast as does the continuous harping on one string by someone who is a perpetual grouch.

When you think of a man growling over his breakfast and finding fault with the coffee, and making sarcastic remarks about the bread every morning for forty years, you can but wonder how many times his wife has toyed with the idea of flavoring his eggs some day with Rough on Rats and being forever relieved of his complaints.

When you contemplate the spectacle of a man coming home day after day, through a weary eternity of matrimony, to a wife who frets at him because he doesn't make more money, and forgets to wipe his feet on the doormat, and because he smokes and musses up the sofa cushion, and who reminds him that she's told him not to do these things a million times, you know why he sits with his hands in his pockets. It's to keep from gratifying his passionate yearning to strangle her.

No. When you observe that nagging is the favorite indoor sport of so many married people, the wonder is not that occasionally a nagger gets his or her just dessert. The marvel is that any of them escape. It shows that the stuff of which martyrs are made is not extant.

For, in all good truth, there is nothing else so hard to endure as perpetual fault-finding. It gets on our nerves and becomes as unendurable as the continual falling of a single drop of water on the victim's head, which was the choicest torture of the Inquisition and which no one could stand and maintain his reason.

An out-and-out sinner we can forgive and love in spite of his or her wrong-doing. We can fight, and shake hands, and still be friends. But we can have nothing but a dull and impotent loathing and resentment against the individual who can never let bygones be bygones, and who eternally reminds us of the mistake we once made, who is continually throwing our faults in our faces, and who forever holds up our weaknesses before our eyes. That is the unforgivable sin.

The western man's assertion that women cannot stand as much nagging as men is an interesting sidelight on the subject, however. Doubtless, he is right, and it is to be hoped that his words will be taken to heart by men afflicted with the nagging habit.

One of the reasons why women show less stamina and staying power under nagging than men do is because when a man is a nagger, he is a much more strenuous and forceful and efficient nagger than any woman ever is. Also as a man carries the pocket book he can put a punch into his nagging that the economically dependent wife never can.

The man who growls over his food, who berates his wife for the size of the bills and wants to know if she thinks he is made of money, who criticises the way she raises the children and makes fun of her clothes, and before whom she trembles like a whipped dog, is the headliner among naggers, and it is no wonder that his wife goes to pieces with nervous prostration.

Another reason that women stand nagging with less fortitude than men do is because men can escape from the nagger, whereas a woman is chained to her tormentor. She hasn't any convenient business that takes her off to different cities when she gets to the place where she has got to have a respite or die. Men, likewise, have the advantage of having millions of other interests that take their minds off of their worries at home, whereas a woman's work gives her all too much time to think, and to brood over the way her husband picks upon her.

It must be said in all fairness, however, that women naggers are far more common than men naggers. It is women who have a gift for petty tyranny, and who can make your life miserable for you unless you eat the same sort of food they do, and go to their church, and give up your own habits to suit them. It is women who cannot distinguish between little things and big, and who will drive a good husband away from home by nagging him about leaving his paper on the floor, and dropping cigar ashes on the rug until he flees to a club of peace.

And the pitiful part of it all is that the woman nagger generally nags through over-love and over-anxiety for her family. But none the less do they hate her for it.

There is no cure for nagging because no one who nags ever admits doing it. Heretofore, the only way a man or woman who was unlucky enough to marry a nagger ever got rid of the naggee was through death or divorce. Now the six shooter has been introduced as a solution of the problem. Let us trust that it will prove an awful warning to those addicted to wife and husband baiting.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Q.: What is the estimated number of automobiles in the United States? H. K.

A.: The actual total of automobiles in the United States is placed at 5,945,442.

Q.: Where is the largest leper settlement under the jurisdiction of the United States? G. M. B.

A.: The Culion Leper Colony comprised of 8000 lepers is on Cabras Island of the Philippines, and is the largest controlled by this country.

Q.: What is the most costly private building in the United States? A. B.

A.: The Equitable Life Insurance Building of New York City has an assessed value of $25,000,000, which is the largest tax value placed on any building.

Q.: How much has the price of food advanced in the United States since the outbreak of the war? A. G.

A.: Statistics show that for the six-year period March, 1913, to March, 1919, all articles of food combined increased 80 per cent. Three important articles increased over 100 per cent.; flour, 106 per cent.; bacon, 110 per cent., and lard, 114 per cent. All other articles listed show an increase of 61 per cent. or over.

Q.: What are some of the uses of the soy bean? V. S.

A.: Soy beans are used for human food, as a forage crop, for oil, cake, meal and flour, straw, hay and pasture. In Asiatic countries the soy bean and the various food products made from it are so largely consumed that it is second only to rice in importance as a food crop. Herbert Hoover said that a shipment of soy beans was the best buy he made for the Belgians. Americans use them less for human consumption than do Europeans.

Q.: Who is the chairman of Foreign Affairs of the House of Representatives? Q. R.

A.: Stephen G. Porter of Pennsylvania.

Q.: Where the marriage is kept secret and the license is not published, is it still legal? T. B. D.

LETTERS TO "THE TIMES."

Opposes League of Nations.

LOS ANGELES, June 30.—[To the Editor of The Times:] My grandfather, my father and myself were born in the United States, therefore, I have the right, as a very small unit, to speak out boldly, as the war is over and we are to some extent a free people.

Progress in politics and religion, whether you go forward, to either side or backward, means to go from. For that reason I was opposed to Woodrow Wilson's becoming our President. I claim that when we deviate one iota from the principles for which the "old bell" was cracked we to that extent stultify the principles of our government. We cannot sign the League of Nations and keep our sovereignty, but will be under people of the Eastern Hemisphere subject to their will and not the expressed will of the people of the United States, thereby causing dissension, rebellion and perhaps secession. I, as a legal citizen, ask the Senate of the United States to not ratify the League of Nations and to keep us out of entangling alliances with the Eastern Hemisphere.

I hold that the rules of the church which Christ established are big enough for all time; also is the Declaration of Independence. The people of today are familiar with the construction of our "paters" on those principles. I fear we are gradually slipping into monarchy and that causes anarchy, I.W.W., and so on.

Let us all stop and reason together. Do we want to change our principles of government for gold? If not, speak out and do it quickly, before we place ourselves under the mandate of foreigners. Let us be content with the Western Hemisphere. Be friendly and trade with all nations, but still be our own boss. I pray day and night that our people will not be led astray by the love for gold.

J. D. BAKER,

The Shop Committee.

LOS ANGELES, June 30.—[To the Editor of The Times:] When a man will desert his job over the contention that his shop committee must be elected under the roof of Labor Hall he doesn't really deserve to have one. A man who will place that silly "principle" above his obligations to his wife, family and his own future merits the finger of scorn rather than the mantle of charity.

Just as preposterous would be the argument that there should be no Mayor unless the elections are held in the Union League Club or no dinners eaten unless served at the vegetarian cafeteria.

One of the workmen who is a victim of this miserable argument exclaims in disgust that a high wall ought to be built around Labor Temple, and those who are so stuck on the place be kept there in restraint, so that they could at least do no harm to their fellows. The State asylums are crowded and this would do for the overflow.

Of course, the idea of the agitators is to make every worker a contributor to the union. If a man didn't belong to a union he would stand a splendid chance of being beaten up if he sought to participate in the election of his shop committee at Labor Hall. Therefore, the workman who does not want to pay tribute to the walking delegate is virtually disfranchised. He has no chance for representation, although his class may be in the majority at the plant. It is law and precedent to give a minority representation—but not so with a labor union. Even a majority is outlawed unless it stands at attention before the walking delegate.

When a group of men will leave their work, bring their families to destitution and wreck a great industry over the contention that their shop committee must be selected in a certain building twenty miles from where they are employed, it is time they were taken before an alienist to have their heads examined.

OPPOSE WAREHOUSE IN RESIDENCE DISTRICT.

A protest signed by thirty-four property owners, voicing their strong objection to a proposed warehouse in the vicinity of Wilshire boulevard and Western avenue, was filed yesterday for submission to the City Council. The protest says, in part:

"It would be almost a crime to permit this district to be invaded by a warehouse, and should it be permitted would prove a distinct financial loss to us, a moral loss to the city of Los Angeles as a whole, and act as a detriment to people of means who come here to build fine homes, when they feel they will not be protected against destruction or invasion."

OUT OF COURT.

Private Settlement in Suit of Wife Against Santa Monica Man.

The separate maintenance suit of Mrs. Lauretta Peck against Roy J. Peck, a druggist of Santa Monica, was ordered dismissed, in Judge Crail's court, yesterday. A settlement, consisting of cash and $60 a month, was said to have been made between the parties.

Mrs. Peck, in her suit, charged that her husband carried a lock of hair of another woman's in a pocket next his heart. He was cited to appear in alimony proceedings before Judge Crail yesterday.

BULLETS STILL COVETED HEART

Rejected, Man Kills Woman and Wounds Himself.

Fourth Shot of Fusillade is Buried in Own Brain.

Doctors State Insane Lover Cannot Survive Hurts.

Insane with rage because his love was rejected by Mrs. Maria Ragazzini, 45 years of age, Nicholas Tancredi, 45, of 338 Lake street, Pasadena, yesterday morning burst into the home of Mrs. Edward Accomazzo, 749 Solano street, this city, where Mrs. Ragazzini was employed as a domestic, and fired three shots from a revolver through her heart. He then sent a bullet through his own brain. When the police arrived, Mrs. Ragazzini was dead and Tancredi was unconscious. According to police surgeons, he cannot live. The bullet passed through the brain from left to right and lodged behind the right ear.

Investigation by Detective Sergeant Bean, according to his report, showed that Mrs. Ragazzini and Tancredi had been acquainted a number of years. He is thought to have pressed his suit during the past few days and to have been rejected by Mrs. Ragazzini, who was married, although separated from her husband.

Placing a picture of Mrs. Ragazzini in his breast pocket, Tancredi left his Pasadena home early yesterday. He purchased a revolver at a second-hand store and, with the weapon in his hand, burst into the Accomazzo residence. Rushing toward Mrs. Ragazzini, he at once opened fire. Three bullets pierced the woman's heart, and as she fell, he turned the weapon on himself.

After the police investigation, Mrs. Ragazzini's body was removed to the Alavarez and Blue morgue.

"HOSPITAL" BAIT IN TIME-HONORED GAME.

RANCHER "BUYS" AN INTEREST AND NOW POLICE SEARCH FOR TWO "DOCTORS."

James H. Joyce, a wealthy rancher from Dexter, Minn., yesterday notified the local police that he is the half owner of a hospital and should be receiving a weekly dividend of $50. The trouble, according to Mr. Joyce, who is stopping at 411½ East Seventh street, is that he has invested $600 in the hospital and now is unable to find the establishment or the two "doctors" from whom he bought the stock.

According to the account given the police by the rancher yesterday, he met two strangers about a week ago while seated in a public park. The strangers told him they were doctors and were conducting a hospital. They stated the hospital was paying large returns and also mentioned that they would sell a half interest for $600. If the sale was made, the strangers declared, the lucky man would be appointed manager and would only have to sit in the outer office to draw $50 a week.

Mr. Joyce invested.

Two days ago the strangers, Mr. Joyce states, took him to a house on West Fifth street and said the hospital was there. He was given a seat in the office and told to manage the affairs of the establishment. The "doctors" left. They have been gone ever since.

Yesterday morning Mr. Joyce set out from his hotel for the hospital. He was unable to find his place of business, however, and called at the police station.

Detectives are now searching for the "doctors."

STRIKE FAILS; WRECK PLANTS.

Bolshevik and I.W.W. Agents are in Ugly Mood, Sheriff's Office Hears.

Unable to get orange pickers in the La Verne and Covina districts to strike, I.W.W. and Bolshevik agents are said to be now attempting to cripple the orange growers by destroying pumping plants, according to word received at the Sheriff's office yesterday.

One plant, near Covina, which supplied about 700 acres with water, has been put out of operation for several weeks, the report states. The miscreants, it is said, put sand into the bearings. One other plant was put out of operation by the cutting of belts, but this was repaired.

Chief Deputy Manning detailed Deputy Sheriff Couts to investigate and arrest the persons responsible if possible.

HIRE BOND EXPERT.

Council Would Settle Validity of Two Large Issues.

The City Council yesterday authorized the employment of the services of John C. Thompson, bond expert of New York City, to give an expert opinion on the validity of the $4,500,000 harbor improvement bond issue, and the $135,000 bond issue for acquirement of a sewage disposal system for Wilmington and East San Pedro, authorized by the voters of Los Angeles at the last municipal election.

Mr. Thompson is to be paid $2500 in case he finds that these bond issues are approved, and $1500 in case the report is adverse to their validity.

FAIL TO SOLVE HUNTER DEATHS

Quarantine All in Contact with Mystery Victims.

Orange District Attorney to Make Strict Inquiry.

Prominent Doctors Baffled Though Autopsy's Held.

Half a dozen prominent physicians failed to reach a definite conclusion at the autopsy, held at Anaheim yesterday, over the bodies of Andrew J. Hunter and his 8-year-old son, Stanley, who died Saturday, at the residence of G. N. Adams in Anaheim, from some unnamed malady.

Fearing the disease might be of a contagious nature, the Health Officer of Orange county last night ordered that all persons who were in direct contact with Mr. Hunter and his son just prior to their death be placed under quarantine, while L. A. West, District Attorney of Orange county, to whom the case has been referred, conducts a thorough inquiry. The quarantine affects residents of Long Beach and Willowbrook.

At the autopsy, conducted under the supervision of C. D. Brown, Coroner of Orange county, and Dr. Gavin J. Telfer, district representative of the State Board of Health, Dr. Telfer said he was strongly inclined to the belief that death in both cases was due to spinal meningitis.

Harry F. Zaiser, superintendent of the Orange County Hospital, expressed the opinion that Mr. Hunter died of kidney trouble and his son of pneumonia. Dr. J. I. Clark, City Health Officer of Santa Ana; Dr. A. H. Domann, County Health Officer of Orange county, and Dr. J. W. Truxaw of Anaheim, who had charge of the cases, attended the autopsy, but withheld their opinions pending further investigation of the mysterious deaths.

The autopsy revealed the fact that the intestines of both father and son were covered with purple spots such as appeared upon their bodies as soon as they became ill. Mr. Hunter and his son were taken sick at Anaheim, a week ago today, while en route with Mrs. Hunter to Elsinore by auto. The symptoms of their disease baffled every physician who was called in. The father died Saturday morning and the son in the evening. Mr. Hunter was a druggist at Long Beach.

Do You Know Your Happiness and Success Depend Upon Your Health?

Liver Diseases

The Liver is the largest organ in the body, and controls digestion; when digestion is normal, the body is free from and not liable to be afflicted with the large number of very prevalent diseases. The following are the most frequent diseases or symptoms caused by impaired action of the Liver: PAINS OR ACHES IN ANY PART OF THE BODY, RHEUMATISM, GALLSTONES, LOSS OF APPETITE, BELCHING, BAD BREATH, DISORDERS OF STOMACH AND BOWELS, INDIGESTION, SICK HEADACHE, BILIOUSNESS, CONSTIPATION, PILES, NERVOUSNESS, DESPONDENCY, BLUES AND JAUNDICE. If the Liver can be restored to normal action, these diseases or symptoms usually disappear quickly. If neglected, serious complications, DIABETES, APOPLEXY, PARALYSIS, DROPSY AND HEART DISEASES are almost sure to follow. Nine-tenths of all chronic diseases are caused by torpid or inactive Liver. No one can perfectly recover from a dangerous disease so long as the digestion is impaired.

Gallstones

Gallstones are concretions which form in the Liver and Gall-bladder. The majority of cases occur after middle life. The number of Gallstones in the Liver and Gall-bladder may vary from one to a thousand.

Treatment

THE PAINS OF GALLSTONE COLIC ARE SOMETHING TO BE REMEMBERED. We have treated successfully a large number of these cases within the past twenty years, and have quite a number under treatment all the time. Sufferers from these distressing diseases should call or write for particulars in regard to treatment and its low cost. State your case in your own way; we will understand it. Our preparations are not Patent Medicines; they are prescribed by our Medical Director and prepared by our Pharmacist for each case.

In May, 1915, I took your Gallstone Treatment and received much benefit. When I took your treatment I passed about 150 stones from the size of a bird shot to a marble. J. L. DULL, Anthony, Kansas, 611 North Spring Street.

In June, 1909, I thought my last days had come. I was yellow and bloodless, stomach would not digest food; and so weak I could hardly move around. I tried the Gallstone and Liver Treatment and was astonished at the results. I must have passed several hundred stones, varying in size. It was a marvelous result with little expense. Yours very truly, H. W. OLMSTEDT, Los Angeles, Cal., 2035 W. 29th St.

In 1915 I took your Gallstone Medicine. It is the greatest I have ever heard of. It removed the Stones and I have not been bothered since I took the Medicine.

Yours very truly, SAM BISHOP, Box No. 9, Fairfield, Idaho.

In 1913 I took your Gallstone and Liver Treatment and received wonderfully beneficial results. Food would not digest, liver was very bad, had a great deal of stomach trouble and suffered in all parts of my body.

Yours very truly, CARRIE HENDRICKS, 11 W. Washington St., Phoenix.

STRIKERS SORRY THAT THEY QUIT

New Salary Schedule Makes Men Want to Return.

Totemite Fight to Keep 'Em Out may Disrupt Union.

Over Eleven Hundred Girls Work at Central.

The posting of a new salary schedule in the offices of the Southern California Telephone Company, yesterday, created so much discontent among striking telephone men at the Labor Temple that at least one of the electrical unions seems likely to be disrupted.

Many of the older and more conservative men who walked out two weeks ago when the strike went into effect here, are strongly attracted by the new wage schedule, and are anxious to resume work, but the union leaders insist that they must hold out a while longer.

The schedule just posted gives construction foremen in charge of more than ten men, $175 per month; gang foremen, $170 per month; journeymen in charge of one or two men, $6.25 a day; cable splicers, $6.50 a day; linemen, $6; switchboard wiremen, $6; switchboard repair men, $6; station installers, $6; cable testers, $6; inspectors, $6; line and station repair men, $6; repeater men, $6. A schedule for apprentices will be posted within a day or two, says A. B. Cass, president of the company.

Girls who have been on strike are still returning to work, Mr. Cass states. Yesterday, during the peak load in the afternoon, the company had 1185 operators at work. This is said to be nearly a normal force.

Reports from San Luis Obispo last night were to the effect that all but one of the telephone girls in that city walked out yesterday, refusing $19 a week and demanding $4 a day. The company patched up its service temporarily and immediately advertised for new operators.

In connection with the demand from various sections of the city that the Southern California Telephone Company be not permitted to charge full rates for telephone rentals during the period of disrupted service, the Board of Public Utilities yesterday instructed Chief Engineer Osborne to undertake to secure some understanding with the company's representatives that where intermittent or unsatisfactory service has been given in districts a partial rate be applied to patrons in the entire district, thus avoiding the consideration of each individual case.

WOMEN'S WORK, WOMEN'S CLUBS.

BY LADY JANE.

Ebell Club.

Ebell's closing programme for this term was held yesterday afternoon, with a reception and tea following the musical programme. Ebell chose to present for its final effort a vaudeville, which included dances, songs, instrumental music and even whistling. The children from the Marion Shipp School of Dancing performed a choreographic allegory which means the expression in action of man's thought. There were personifications of self-conceit, self-deification, the eternal question, and the idea of submission. Mary Mayer won sincere applause for her interpretation of "Why" in which she gave evidence of remarkable facial expression. The children ranged from 7 to 15 years of age. Mary Stevens Lippencott played two slight numbers for the piano: Purcell Mayer, violinist, played three ever popular trifles; James Quinn sang some Scotch songs; Elinor Warren and Louise Howell presented a group of songs, one of which was original. Louise Hand, whistler, and Mrs. J. B. Franklin, pianist, gave us a selection from Friml's "Firefly" and Lillian May Kahn did three dances. Miss Kahn is an exceedingly clever young girl who performed an original Apache dance, a Cleopatra and an original inter-pretation of dawn.

Mrs. Mathew Robertson made a pretty little speech of farewell, upon which she put the Russian meaning—forgive. She presented Mrs. Josiah Evans Cowles, Mrs. W. S. Bartlett, Mrs. Philip Moore and Mrs. P. G. Hubert, past presidents, who made short addresses of greeting and farewell.

Woman's City Club.

Alma Whitaker Reynolds was the speaker at the Woman's City Club, yesterday, at Hamburger's Auditorium. Mrs. Reynolds disarmed all her possible adversaries by calling her talk "Inacurate Information About the Orient," which information, if it were inacurate, was so admirably flavored by the speaker's inevitable wit and insight that it left no room for objections. Mrs. Reynolds concerned herself about the activities and inactivities of the women in the Orient, and her audience was therefore especially interested in what she had to say about the political, domestic and moral status of the feminine addenda of the Far East.

Business and Civic Club.

There was a banquet at the Men's City Club last evening given for the purpose of a new Federation organization of the Business and Civic Women's Club.

BELIEVE TENOR ILL IN MEXICO.

Friends Hear Constantino's Mind has Broken Down.

Attorney Vainly Telegraphs for Definite Tidings.

Declares Work at Temple of Arts will Still Go On.

Florencio Constantino, the grand opera tenor, who founded the California Temple of Arts here two years ago, is reported to have suffered a mental breakdown at Mexico City, and efforts are being made by Attorney Joseph M. Bernstein, Senor Constantino's friend and business associate, to verify by telegraph the report which was first published in a Mexico City newspaper.

"So far I have been unable to do so," said Mr. Bernstein last night. "In view of a similar breakdown which the singer suffered here in January, I believe the news from Mexico is probably correct. Constantino founded the Temple of Arts in 1917, and has worked there teaching day and night, in addition to his charitable and other patriotic concert work.

"Although, in all probability, it may be some time before Constantino will be able to take up his work again, the California Temple of Arts, of which I am president, is continuing its preparations for the fall term and every effort will be made to immediately fill this vacancy in its vocal department—if the vacancy exists—with an artist of unquestioned ability and standing so that the school may go forward with Constantino's plan to give Los Angeles a conservatory that will be a national center for music and art development."

Florencio Constantino came to Los Angeles in 1914 from San Francisco, where he had been singing for a year with the National Grand Opera Company. In 1916 he headed a company which gave three weeks of grand opera in this city, and in 1917 he opened the California Temple of Arts, for teaching singing, instrumental music and the allied arts. He left in April for a concert tour of Mexico.

Constantino was considered, in 1908 to 1912, one of the five leading tenors of the world. He was born forty-nine years ago at Bilboa, Spain, and his parents were very poor. He worked his way as a coal passer to South America, where by doing the most humble tasks he earned money enough to study music, and made his debut as a singer at Montevideo, Uruguay, in 1897. He was a success, and returned to Europe to study. He forged his way to the front in the operahouses in Spain, Paris and London. After coming to the United States with the San Carlos Opera Company, he was chosen first tenor at the Boston Operahouse when it opened, and sang "Rigoletto" at the first performance there, with the late Mme. Nordica taking the leading soprano role. For three years he was the chief tenor there and also sang at the Metropolitan Operahouse, New York. He made many talking-machine records.

He has a wife and two daughters in Spain, one son in Boston and another in New York City.

ALL TOGETHER TO PASS BONDS.

ing results: Porterville, 20 to 1; Lindsay, 25 to 1; Tulare, 20 to 1; Visalia, 97 to 4.

W. B. Truslow, Jr., reports that the Board of Trade at Oxnard indorsed the highway bonds enthusiastically, and what opposition has developed in Ventura county is practically in and around Ventura. Mr. Truslow says Ventura county will be carried by a fair majority.

Eugene D. White, the club's representative at San Diego, says: "I have canvassed San Diego county thoroughly, and have yet to find a dissenting voice against the bonds."

ABOUT THE HARBOR.

E. T. Kennedy, the representative at Los Angeles Harbor, reports: "I have visited the following cities and surrounding territory in the interest of the State highway bonds: Redondo Beach, Hermosa Beach, Manhattan Beach, Wilmington, Lomita, Torrance, Harbor City, Gardena and San Pedro, and have found very little opposition to the bonds. Have talked with officials of the chambers of commerce in most of the above cities, and they have all been in favor of the bond issue."

M. B. Towman, the Imperial county representative, in speaking of both the county bonds and State bonds, sums up his communication as follows: "There is not a doubt in my mind the bond issue is secure in this county."

The report of the club's representative at Santa Monica says: "After carefully going over the State highway bond act situation in the Santa Monica Bay district and adjacent territory, I feel that the people when they go to the polls will cast their votes in favor of the bonds. In the towns proper, the valous chambers of commerce and other civic organizations have heartily indorsed them, and in conversation with people in all walks, I did not meet any one who opposed the proposition. In the agricultural districts everyone is strong for the bonds."

SO HE CAN BE CHIEF DEPUTY COUNTY CLERK.

Clarence Mallard, for twenty years an employee of the County Auditor's office, and chief deputy until his position was abolished under the new salary ordinance, yesterday asked to be transferred to the County Clerk's office to be in line for appointment as chief Deputy County Clerk. While his position was abolished, the salary of Mr. Mallard remains as before.

W. A. Gausden, chief budget clerk in the County Auditor's office, will become chief deputy under Superintendent Martin of the Department of Charities, working out of the County Hospital. He is regarded as a very efficient man with figures.

SOCIETY.

BY VIRGINIA WOODS.

For Two Brides-Elect.

Two brides-elect, Misses Florence Johnston and Margaret May Johnston, are to be honored by Mrs. Woods R. Woolwine of 4040 Wilshire boulevard, who is planning to entertain at a reception on Friday afternoon, July 11. She is asking seventy-five guests. As this affair will be the last courtesy Miss Margaret May Johnston will accept until after her marriage July 16 to Mr. Eugene Alston Hawkins, Jr., it will no doubt be one of the most charming of the numerous affairs that have been showered upon them since their engagements were announced. Miss Florence Johnston's engagement to Lieut. Hancock Banning, Jr., was announced two months ago, but as yet the date of their marriage has not been set. They, with their mother, Mrs. William T. Johnston, are now at Hermosa Beach for a while.

For Miss Evelyn Johnson.

Miss Evelyn Johnson, who is to marry Mr. Brandon Brunner of North Carolina, is the inspiration for a luncheon at which Miss Margaret Mortenson is to entertain Monday at the Hotel Maryland, in Pasadena. Miss Mortenson is a Chicago girl and is sharing many honors with the several engaged society favorites here.

At Hermosa Beach.

Hermosa Beach seems to be the Mecca of the younger married folk who are flocking there by large numbers. Among the latest to go over are Mr. and Mrs. Boyle Workman and Miss Eleanor Workman, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Baldwin, Mr. and Mrs. Ned Duling, Dr. and Mrs. Lloyd Mills, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Booth and Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Q. Stanton and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Stanton.

Misses Webb Not Coming.

The many friends of Misses May and Eva Webb of New York and Skaneateles will regret to hear that because of Miss Eva's severe illness they will not be here to spend the summer at the Darby, as they have done the past four years.

Weds Detroit Girl.

Philip E. Kubel of this city and Miss Lucile Narie Doyle of Detroit were married at noon yesterday by Rev. Father Conaty. After a trip to Santa Barbara and Del Monte they will be home the middle of the month at 1201 West Ninth street. Mr. Kubel is a well-known Los Angeles business man, having been associated with C. C. Parker for many years.

Fraternity Banquet.

Members of the Zeta Tau Alpha Fraternity of the University of Southern California celebrated their ninth annual reunion with a banquet at the Mary Louise tea room in the Brack Shops. Among the hostesses were Mmes. T. B. Stowell, Charles Sumner Kent, J. Graves, Misses Fanny Hunter, Lillian J. Backstrand, Mary Chaffee, Mary Boggi, Helen Kalliwoda, Marjorie Record, Lillian O'Connor, Alice Burge, Lois Shidler, Alice Lizotte, Ethelynne Smith, Florence Brunn, Gladys Kalliwoda, Helen Harrison, Katherine Fitch, Eunice Peart, Grayce Brilhart, Eleanor Perry, Louise Aberly, Kathleen Jeness, Heleníta Lieberg, Ruth Felts, Marguerite More, Lilla Woodward, Mmes. Frank Doherty, Edward Daniell, B. Ray Schauer, Wesley Smith, Frank Chaffee, Harmon Decius, Harley Earl and Carrie Wilcutt.

For Mr. and Mrs. Miller.

In compliment to Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Miller of Kansas City, who are guests at the Hotel Lankershim, Mrs. Mary Osmond gave a mid-day dinner party Sunday at the home of her father, Mr. G. W. E. Griffith, in South Pasadena.

For Miss Genevieve Maier.

One of the most charming affairs which have claimed the attention of the younger set this vacation was the dinner-dance given Saturday evening by Mrs. Isabel Maier in honor of her daughter, Genevieve. Dinner was served in the gardens of Mrs. Maier's West Adams home, and with the sixty young girls and boys it made a lovely picture. The gardens were illuminated in gray Japanese lanterns. After dinner the guest coterie danced in the house, which was handsomely adorned. Mrs. Maier was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Louise Denker.

A War Romance.

A romance springing out of the war and which had its beginning two years ago, came to a culmination last night when, at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Sarah Jones, 6118 Selma avenue, Rev. H. E. Murkett, pastor of the Hollywood Methodist Episcopal Church, joined the lives of Miss Virginia Jones, a popular Hollywood girl, and Eugene T. Green, attorney for the Ray Consolidated Copper Company of Ray, Ariz., and a hero of the great war.

Miss Jones was graduated at the State Normal School in 1916, and, shortly after receiving her graduation certificate, went to Ray, Ariz., to teach school. In the famous copper town she met Mr. Green. He went away to war and was gone for twenty-one months, flying in the famous Lafayette Escadrille, taking part in five battles and winding up with the Army of Occupation along the Rhine. For his bravery and ability he was decorated with the Croix de Guerre and the Distinguished Service Cross.

The bride and groom left last night for Long Beach to spend their honeymoon and in September will return to Ray in which city Mr. Green will again assume his duties as attorney for the "Ray Con." The bride is the niece of E. R. Jones, president of the Wells Fargo Company of Mexico, and who has had her in his care from the time her parents died many years ago. For some time Miss Jones had been living with her aunt, Mrs. Helen Cox and her grandmother, Mrs. Sarah Jones, the latter being 77 years old and totally blind but who rejoiced, as much as any one present last night, at her grand-daughter's happiness. Mrs. Jones had five grandsons in service and all of them were officers. The heroes are Capt. A. B. Cox, Maj. E. R. Haslett and Sergts. Neil M. Jones, Newell Bailey and Wayne Jones. All of the heroes came back safely and at the family reunion last night Wayne Jones told of how he had been wounded. While riding to the hospital on a train the wounded man told the Red Cross officer that he had a brother in the service. "What is his name?" inquired the officer. "His name is Newell Bailey Jones," replied Wayne, "and he's a railroad engineer." "Yes?" responded the officer. "Then it may relieve your pain a little when I inform you that your brother is in command of this train."

McGrath-Craig Wedding.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Elizabeth McGrath of Watsonville, Cal., and Robert H. Craig of this city. The bride is the daughter of the late William McGrath and Mr. Craig is the son of Mrs. R. L. Craig of this city. The ceremony took place at St. John's Chapel, Del Monte, Cal., yesterday, and was witnessed by members of the immediate families only.

Engagement Told.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Frances McGovern of Chicago and Mr. M. E. Fleming of this city. Miss McGovern arrived here yesterday and is a house guest of her fiance's aunt, Mrs. M. L. Francis at 5543 Bayer street.

Miscellaneous Shower.

Miss Phoebe Ara Bowler will entertain at a miscellaneous shower and musicale on Wednesday evening in compliment to Miss Esther Morgan, who is to marry Mr. Dalton Smith next Sunday. Twenty guests are to be present. Miss Bowler will be assisted by her mother, Mrs. S. J. Bowler.

By Mrs. Cochran.

Mrs. George I. Cochran is giving a dinner this evening in celebration of the return home of Mr. Cochran and William H. Davis who have been in San Francisco with other Los Angeles men for the Bohemian Jinks. Places are arranged for Mr. and Mrs. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Allen Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Scott Dudley, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Letts, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Baker and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Capprall. During the absence of the two gentlemen, Mrs. Cochran was Mrs. Davis' house guest.

By Mrs. Read.

Mrs. Robert D. Read will give a buffet luncheon tomorrow for Mrs. Ralph D. Osborne of New York, who is a house guest of Judge and Mrs. Albert Miller Stephens and for Miss Betty Garland of Clarksville, Tenn., who is visiting Miss Louise Burke. Thirty-two guests are expected.

Here on Honeymoon.

Lieut. Burgard and his bride, who was Miss Ruth Schull of Portland, are here on their honeymoon and are domiciled at the Hotel Alexandria. Mrs. Burgard, who is a niece of Mrs. William Schull of Los Angeles, is one of the favorites in Portland society and both she and her husband have many friends here, one of his chums being William Waltman Vickery.

Personals.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank V. Cowan and young son of Phoenix are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Darling. Later they will go to Santa Monica for the rest of the summer.

Lieut. Wilbur Bassett of the U. S. Navy has returned from war service abroad and is with his mother, Mrs. Helen Bassett of Hollywood.

—confirms optimism

In its published Statement of last January this Bank urged the value and necessity of optimism: "Business, or no business, is largely the result of the mental attitude of the people"—"Talk more business and bigger business, and Southern California will prosper accordingly during 1919." Our own substantial growth, and the growth of other banks, financial and business houses during the past six months—and the general prosperity of our people—amply justify this Bank's optimistic pre-view of the six months' period just closed. In presenting the Statement below we would reiterate our confidence in the basic "rightness" of business conditions in this section—and would pledge to our Customers a continuance of that earnest co-operation, and sincere recognition of the unity of interest principle, which have made the first half of 1919 so successful for you—and for us.

THE ALTERNATIVE.

Now when a man is driven to drink we'll see how he behaves when he gets up abreast of the buttermilk.

MARVELOUS!

Although President Wilson has lived so long in France, he is said to speak English with a precision and fluency that charms. There is hardly a trace of Parisian accent.

WILSON, THAT'S ALL.

Admiral Wilson is the new commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet; Gen. Wilson is in command of an army division; Secretary Wilson is the head of the Department of Labor, and President Wilson is running the rest of the world. It's a great year for the Wilsons.

A CHINA CHAMPION.

Just now Senator Borah is tremendously excited because the peace treaty fails to do full justice to China. He says because of that the President has sanctioned "the most complete moral breakdown in the history of treaty-making." Yet it is a safe bet that the Idaho raven wouldn't trust a Chinaman with his shirt.

NO MORE THRILLS.

The signing of the peace pact was really the most stupendous incident of modern history, but the formalities had been so thoroughly discounted by advance notice that the formal acceptance of the document hardly gave the world a thrill. This old earth has been so fed up with events that nothing short of a jazz band at a prayer meeting could give it a real throb.

ANCIENT AND MODERN.

An altar, once consecrated for divine service, has been taken from a chancel and sold to a moving-picture outfit to pay the debts incurred by a Los Angeles church. We do not pretend to say that there is any moral to be drawn from this. To pay one's debts is the first law of religion. But we remember that the children of Israel once waged a forty-years' war to save an ancient altar from the hands of the Philistines.

GEORGE DID IT.

King George is not such a bad old scout, not even a woolly Democrat will begrudge him his throne. If he wrote it himself his message of congratulation to President Wilson on the execution of the peace treaty is a worthy and courteous production. After giving America credit for turning the tide of war and bringing assurances of victory the English monarch concludes with this paragraph: "It is on this day one of our happiest thoughts that the American and British people, brothers in arms, will continue forever to be brothers in peace. United before by language, traditions, kinship and ideals, there has now been set upon our fellowship the sacred seal of common sacrifice. Together we have fought to a holy end; together we lay down our arms in proud consciousness of valiant deeds nobly performed."

The same to you, old boy.

NEVER AGAIN.

Presuming that the first anniversary of a whiskyless nation had arrived, what would the verdict be?

The Times summoned its battery of astrologists, clairvoyants, prophets, crystal gazers, mind-readers and other interpreters of time and thought to the council table. The general judgment was: "Glad of it."

This paper has consistently urged temperance—real, practical temperance. It has never favored skin-tight, burglar-proof prohibition; but if that can be attained through the drought we are now entering, The Times unhesitatingly predicts that after a year of experience the people would overwhelmingly refuse any proposition to return to the old order.

We are in for a long dry spell.

The child born today will never behold the licensed saloon—the barroom of long ago.

Against the corner saloon, with its distilled liquors and its fiery stimulants, The Times was early arrayed. The saloon was operated with small regard for the general weal or public opinion and is directly responsible for its own banishment.

It never knew how to behave and in its destruction it carried with it the little liberties of many folk who found health and refreshment in light wines and beer and were still genuinely temperate.

But with the saloon gone there are few to do it reverence. After a brief period of adjustment America will have naught to do with strong drink. The unhappy and uncomfortable will be those who have sought to store against the dreuth. They will understand that they have far too much or too little and they will worry about it.

The man who can forget about it in the interesting phases of his work and go to his couch careless of the teasings of an ardent thirst will presently be heartily glad that it is all over—forever. This person is the average American, and he is in the majority.

Therefore the assurance that after a year of trial—even of a prohibition that may not wholly prohibit—the nation will never again give breathing room to Gambrinus.

The Times has said it.

SENATE AND LEAGUE.

Like the anti-climax that mars many an otherwise brilliant drama comes the continued and determined opposition of a hostile group in the Federal Senate to the covenant of the League of Nations. While other free peoples are celebrating the happy ending of a terrible struggle, enthusiasm in our own country is dampened by the uncertainty that surrounds the Senate's ratification.

Not all the questions that disturb the race can be settled for all time in a single document. Something must be left for the future. When the pursuit of happiness ceases possession palls. But there is a stubborn group in the Senate that is still insisting that objection to a part should entail the rejection of the whole.

Their opposition cannot be regarded as immaterial; for a two-thirds vote is necessary for ratification, and at the present time nearly half the Senators are holding out against ratifying Article X, which, according to their interpretation, would force the United States to send troops to Europe to interfere in purely regional disputes.

While there is unmistakable opposition in the Senate to ratifying the treaty in its present form, there is an equally obvious determination on the part of the country as a whole that the treaty shall be ratified and that the United States shall become a charter member of the League of Nations. Campaigns of education have been inaugurated having for their purpose the mobilising of the sentiment in favor of the treaty in the States represented by the opposition Senators. Resenting the insinuation that there is organized Republican opposition to the peace treaty, Republican leaders in a number of States are forming associations to memorialize their Senators to vote for early and complete ratification.

New York Republicans have taken the lead. They have formed a powerful organization, headed by George W. Wickersham, former United States Attorney-General, and former Gov. Whitman. They are making it clear that the rank and file of the party is heartily in favor of a League of Nations as constituted by the treaty. California Republicans are following suit. An important meeting of Republicans was held here on Sunday for the purpose of informing Senator Johnson of the unanimity of the sentiment in Southern California in favor of the league. They are familiar with his favorite motto, "a man must eat," and they are prepared to serve warning upon him that he cannot continue to eat at the expense of the country if he persists in his opposition to the League of Nations.

In every State represented by a Republican Senator who is opposing the league a similar organization is in process. The Senate will be memorialized in terms that will leave no doubt as to the real attitude of Republicans towards a league. It is not on the Republican side alone, however, that opposition to the league has developed. Democratic Senators who broke with the President during the last session of Congress are especially violent in their opposition. It yet remains to be seen whether the rank and file of the Democratic party in the States they represent will take part in the "campaign of education of United States Senators" which is now under way.

Five Republican Senators have been markedly active in their opposition to the league. These are Johnson of California, Sherman, Borah, Knox and Lodge. Senator Reed of Missouri has been the most active opponent on the Democratic side, although other Democratic Senators of lesser note are opposing the league. Johnson and Borah have been the most bitter in their attacks. They are of the old Progressive school, and invective is their favorite weapon; but they are handicapped in the present controversy because they cannot deride the League of Nations without deriding the best thought in the country.

Senators Lodge and Knox have been more reasonable in their opposition. They believe in all sincerity that a better covenant for a League of Nations can be written than the one prepared by the Paris conference; and their opposition is based on the theory that a rejection of the present covenant would prepare the way for the enactment of another and better one. Both have asserted that they are not opposed to the formation of a League of Nations; but they do not approve the kind of league formed by the Paris covenant. The weakness of their position is that the world is hungry for peace, and a hungry man does not refuse veal because he prefers mutton.

President Wilson is prepared to go before the country with an appeal for the ratification of the League of Nations covenant. In this he will have the enthusiastic support of all those who are now organizing to impress upon the Senate their determination that this country shall become a part of the league.

It is not so certain, however, that the President will receive universal support in his demand that the Senate shall ratify the covenant without reservation. Some of the warmest supporters of the league have not given their approval to all of its provisions. Former Senator Root has warned Senator Lodge against flat rejection of the treaty. But Mr. Root has pointed out reservations in relation to further safeguarding the Monroe Doctrine, to non-interference in domestic questions of countries and to relieving this country of even implied responsibility for settling domestic questions in Europe that are worth weighing. The real issue will hinge about the extent to which these reservations may be made without placing this country in an isolated position outside the league.

President Wilson will probably be inclined to be dogmatic; he cannot conceive, in his hermit-like intellect, that he may have permitted his enthusiasm for the brotherhood of man to overlook certain necessary precautions for protecting American sovereignty. He has never been able to regard the Senate as other than a class of students and himself as the professor. And he is a schoolmaster who carries a birch rod and is not opposed to corporal punishment.

But there are men in the United States Senate as dogmatic as the President himself, men who had grown old in the service of their country while the President was yet a pedagogue. Instead of using logic and persuasion to convince these men the President evinces an uncontrollable desire to rap them on the knuckles. It is not by such tactics that harmony will be brought out of the present Senatorial impasse. There is no power under the Constitution to force these recalcitrant Senators to ratify the peace pact against their will.

But the great and compelling force of public opinion is certainly aligning itself in favor of America's joining the league. When that treaty was signed in Versailles on Saturday the League of Nations was created. It is now in existence; its headquarters will be fitted up in Switzerland and, shortly, the first session of the league will be held. Whether this country is represented at that conference will depend upon the length of time the Senate consumes in discussing the peace treaty. That America cannot afford to remain outside such a league is self-evident. Senators like Johnson, Borah and Reed, who oppose any league of any nature, will find themselves in a constantly-dwindling minority.

"Honk! Honk! Honk!"

DOMINION DAY.

Canada today is celebrating the fifty-second anniversary of her birth as a dominion. Our great neighbor, almost as large territorially as the United States, but with a population not greater than 10,000,000, has come through the fires of war with a new splendor and has safely combatted the evils which Bolshevik agents would have forced on her. She therefore has every reason to rejoice abundantly on this her natal day.

Despite the trials and tribulations of the last five years Canada never was sounder commercially than she is today, her savings deposits were never larger and the general business outlook has seldom been more satisfactory.

These naturally are pleasant facts to dwell upon on Dominion Day, but perhaps above all other things Canada today expresses gratification because her relations with the mother country are the most satisfactory that they have been in the history of the greatest of the self-governing colonies of the British Empire.

When the "Fathers of Confederation" reared the infant dominion in 1867 one of the pillars of their foundation was loyalty to Great Britain. Their leading public men have always been solid for the maintenance of the connection with Great Britain, despite those who have worked for annexation to the United States or for an independent Canada.

"A British subject I was born,
A British subject I will die," was the couplet which Sir John Macdonald made famous during one of his speeches while Premier of Canada, and that has been the feeling of all the Premiers since Confederation, including the French-Canadian, the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Sir John Macdonald hailed from Ontario, Sir Wilfrid Laurier from Quebec, and the present Premier, Sir Robert Borden, comes from Nova Scotia by the far Atlantic. He is as loyal to the British connection as his predecessors.

That loyalty, which permeates the land from Halifax on the east to Victoria in the extreme west, was shown during the war. Canada, without waiting for the lion to call to her whelps, poured out men, money and munitions as fast as possible and hurried them across the Atlantic so that they might uphold the meteor flag of England which in 1914 the Germans had to be shown could

"yet terrific burn,
Till danger's troubled night is o'er
And the stars of peace return."

The stars of peace are back in the sky and Canada today is celebrating its first after-the-war Dominion Day. Her people, whose soldiers won imperishable fame at Ypres and Vimy Ridge, hope that war will never more disturb them, but should the mother country be again threatened and need their help they can be relied on to repeat their noble and notable performances of 1914-19.

Good morning, are you in the market for bonds of the Irish republic? They are to be paid when England gets out of Ireland. What? No?

WHEN ORPHANS PLEAD.

One of the big movements in the interests of needy children of Los Angeles is the campaign which, under the auspices of the Catholic bureau of charities, has been started by the Professionals and Pals Coterie, composed of film stars, to raise $10,000 for the Catholic orphans of this city. The campaign will close July 21 with a benefit at the ball park. Not long ago the trustees of the Lark Ellen Home for Boys called upon citizens for donations to help provide for the wards of that institution, and the people responded most generously. Now it is the Catholic orphans who, through their big brothers and sisters, are appealing for help.

We are all learning, are we not, that charity, which is love, knows not race, color or creed, and we are also learning that it is not altogether the business of charitable organizations nor of the State to look after the unfortunate members of society, but that this blessed duty is the personal business of every individual capable of rendering any service, great or small, to those in need. Among the many things that the war has taught us is that the children of the world must be cared for if for no other than a selfish reason, for in the children of today lies the hope of the world's brighter tomorrow. While Los Angeles has not forgotten, nor will she forget, the fatherless babes of France, Belgium and other nations across the sea, our citizens realize the duties they owe to the needy within our gates, and especially to those children who, through the necessity of war and the ravages of disease, have been left homeless and helpless.

The cry of an orphan is always sad enough, even when provision has been made for the child's protection. "Rachael weeping for her children" is never so pathetic as Rachael's children weeping for her. Yet when a child is left alone and destitute, when it must cry out only for the parents who have been called to the beyond, but also for bread, it is a cold-hearted man or woman, indeed, who can "pass by on the other side" and pretend not to hear the piteous appeal. The great law works unerringly and "the righteous are never forsaken" nor do their seed beg bread in vain. The Times hopes that the fathers and mothers who realize the possibility of their own children's need at some future time will not hesitate to contribute something toward the fund for the Catholic orphans.

WOMAN IN POLITICS.

California Ratification of the National Suffrage Amendment.

BY MYRA NYE.

Los Angeles suffrage leaders are a unit for immediate State ratification of the national amendment recently passed by Congress. They urgently insist that a special session of the State Legislature be called at an early date for this purpose. They so expressed themselves by speech and procedure at the ratification meeting held at the Polytechnic High School June 28.

The most verdantly sensational reporter of that meeting could not say that the large auditorium was "crowded to the doors" and "enthusiasm surged high." But there was a significance both underlying and evident. The meeting signified the next step in the woman's movement. There was a potentiality either for progress or retrogression. To me retrogression is indicated when women in large groups refer to men only as their enemy.

The betterment of humanity is to be achieved by co-operation. The women voters of Los Angeles county outnumber the men by 5000. In the State the majority is 60,000. These leaders, brilliant women some of them, are fully conscious of their power. To them it is of vital interest. They manifest their altruism when they indicate, as they did without a dissenting vote, their desire to extend this power to all the women of all the land. The purpose of this League of Women Voters, a national organization of which the Los Angeles group made themselves a part, is to make our country one in which all voters speak English, read their own ballots and honor the American flag.

When the league was formed only a few months ago California women pledged $1000 to further the cause of ratification. At the meeting Saturday a part of Southern California's share was raised with very little effort. Two resolutions, with slight subsequent alterations, as presented by Mrs. Herbert Cable, chairman of the Resolutions Committee, were passed. The first to send word to Gov. Stephens of gratitude for his past help and ask him to call a special session of the Legislature at an early date for the ratification. Gov. Stephens had written to Mrs. Simons a letter in which he expressed himself in favor of delaying ratification until other States in greater numbers had ratified. But the women want to be in the van to sustain California's record of vanguardism.

The second resolution was that the organization should support legislation which favored the welfare of women and children.

Opposition to suffrage at this juncture in the fight is as futile as it would be to build the new Friday Morning clubhouse of bricks of butter. Both opposition and butter might pass in Iceland, but not in Southern California, unless they passed away. But there was slight opposition manifest when Miss Bock arose as Miss Galpin began to speak. Miss Galpin was on the programme as the representative of the College Equal Suffrage League. Miss Bock dramatically and with some emotion challenged her right to represent a defunct organization. Mrs. Simons tactfully averted the impending storm with the information that all of the speakers were representing organizations that no longer existed since the need for their existence here was over. The women negatively expressed their disapproval of Miss Bock by positive applause for Miss Galpin, who was unable to begin her rather academic talk for several intense seconds.

Well do I remember the indignation of the Southern California women that overwhelmed Miss Bock's sister, Annie Bock, in San Francisco at the national Federation of Women's Clubs in 1912 when she refused in a California meeting to vote for the extension of suffrage to other States. She had been an ardent worker for suffrage in Los Angeles in the campaign only a few months previous, working through these very organizations that Miss Galpin and Mrs. Simons were representing last Saturday. The operation of suffrage had induced her to change her mind. This was not a feminine "unusual" of the usual sort, nor a California "unusual." It was Annie Bock's honest conviction. She told me so then and I have never doubted her sincerity. But whatever it was it resulted in the total eclipse of her place in the sun of Los Angeles clubdom.

Further opposition Saturday came from one of the speakers, Mrs. Phillip Moore. Mrs. Moore disavowed any desire on her part to get on the band wagon. She recognized that suffrage was soon to be universal, but "I have no enthusiasm for it," she said. As it is imminent the women must be ready for it. She called to mind the mistake made in granting the negro the vote in reconstruction days after the Civil War. She did not say in these reconstruction days after the great war a similar blunder might be to grant the negro woman the vote. As Mrs. Moore is a southern woman the inference is inevitable. She did say, however, that in her recent trips through many States she could not fail to notice that where women had the vote they politely demanded their rights of the lawmakers, while in other States they obsequiously implored for them. The observation was not new to Los Angeles women.

Spoiled It All.

They had been dining in state in the dining car. Husband, who is a teacher of English, was glad that little daughter had behaved so perfectly. Mother also was in a happy frame of mind. There were numerous other diners in the car and the parents were proud of their child. Not a single thing had happened to mar the serenity of the occasion.

Finally the meal was over and they started to leave the car. Their way took them past all of the other tables. Suddenly the little girl felt impelled to ask a question.

"Mother," she called in a shrill voice, "aren't we going to wash the dishes?"—[Indianapolis News.

VIVISECTION AND DOGS

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Senator Myers of Montana has introduced a bill in Congress making it a crime to vivisect the dog. Thus has the ancient feud between the medical profession and the anti-vivisectionists at last been carried into the highest legislative body in the United States, where there is now a chance that it will be given the governmental stamp of approval or disapproval.

The bill is backed not only by the National Society for Humane Regulation of Vivisection, but by hundreds of dog-lovers throughout the country, who maintain that, while other animals may be necessary to the progress of medical science, the dog deserves exemption.

This point is not yielded by the opposition, however, as some of the best surgeons in the army assert that the dog is indispensable if experimental surgery is not to be handicapped. "We don't use dogs in the army," explained one authority in the Surgeon-General's department the other day, "but I can tell you as an individual surgeon that the vivisection of dogs results in the saving of thousands of human lives every year."

Whatever may be the ultimate verdict as to the dog martyrs, both sides will be given every opportunity to present their claims. For the first time vivisection has been brought into the open and made a national issue.

The Myers bill provides as a penalty a fine of from one to five hundred dollars, or imprisonment for three months to a year, or both, for anyone convicted of vivisecting a dog. The promoters of this legislation claim that the dog deserves such protection as a result of its splendid services in the war. This is their chief argument and one which finds ready acceptance among our returning soldiers who are in a particularly sentimental frame of mind concerning the dog. Indeed, there has been a strong attempt to raise a hundred thousand dollars for a monument in Washington to the dog, the horse and the pigeon as a memorial of their services in the war. Those who favor dog vivisection regard this as robbing that friend of man of its greatest opportunity of usefulness.

A returning colonel, who had an opportunity to observe dogs in action during the war, is an enthusiastic supporter of both the Myers bill and the monument project. He does not wish to be quoted as the author of such an opinion, but he holds to the belief that, as an animal, the dog compares not unfavorably with man. There were 4000 trained dogs in the American army when he left it, he says, some of which had furnished heroic inspiration to soldiers.

"The dog as a soldier in battle is something new," he says, "but it has covered itself with glory. We have always fostered the idea that the training of an animal is a trick, but during the war the dog was called upon to use its intelligence and drilled just as are men. The dog was taught to give warning at the approach of the enemy, was taught to carry messages, on which sometimes depended the safety of an army; and through it all endured shell shock, insomnia, palsey, gassed lungs, blindness, deafness and other injuries as did man."

The colonel told a story of a dog which gave its life to save a unit of American soldiers. The incident happened just before the signing of the armistice. A dog was sent to find a unit of American soldiers which had been cut off from the rest of its division. With a wooden crate strapped to its back it climbed out of the American trenches and traveled at top speed in plain view of the enemy, who immediately opened fire upon it. It never wavered in its course, however, until it had reached its goal, wounded. It died a few minutes later, but its work had been accomplished. From the crate on its back the American soldiers drew forth two pigeons, tied a message to their legs and turned them loose. The message stated the location of the unit, and in a comparatively short time reinforcements arrived to rescue it.

Another argument promulgated by the supporters of the Myers bill is that the vivisection of dogs is entirely unnecessary. According to Albert Payson Terhune, the writer, "the best physicians here and in Europe have gone on record as denying that any genuine good has been achieved for science or for humanity by the vivisection of dogs."

BEAUTY.

The fatal gift of beauty came to friends of mine, but not to me; I have a broad and sawed-off frame and misfit features, fierce to see.
When I was young it vexed me sore that I was lacking charm and grace, that in the summer months I wore nine million freckles on my face.
The months wore on, the swift years fled and I was busy molding verse; and often to myself I said, "Old Time can't make me look much worse." And gazing in the looking glass gave me no gooseflesh and no blues; the months might whiz, the years might pass—I had no dazzling charms to lose. My lovely friends were in despair, when crowsfeet came around their eyes, when they beheld a new white hair; they filled their boudoirs with their sighs. Apollo wept and walked the floor when baldness overtook his head; and Venus wrung her hands and swore because her nose was growing red.
It's tragedy and worse than that when Time and Beauty have a bout, when sylph-like forms grow coarse and fat, and Titian hair is falling out. The man who has a homely map may think he's out of luck at first; but while Time mauls the lovely chap he dares the years to do their worst. WALT MASON.

The chances are that when the final show-down comes on the covenant of nations Senators Lodge and Borah will be seen drinking out of the same canteen.

HIDING, STABS IN DARK.

Its shameless methods of profiteering on the uniform of the United States Army and Navy and its efforts to camouflage the spuriousness of its protestations of patriotism having been exposed to the gaze of honest patriots, a would-be rival of The Times continues to seek frantically to divert attention from its own infamies by circulating lying reports that because The Times, in common with the United States War Department and prominent war workers, is opposed to misuse of the uniform it is not friendly to the soldiers.

The latest attack, and a characteristic one, comes in the form of a communication addressed to The Times. It is typewritten and the signature "The Committee" is typewritten and the communication therefore is entitled to the same consideration accorded to any other anonymous communication. The communication purports to be the result of a meeting of ex-soldiers and sailors but was obviously written by an Examiner employee at the instigation of the Examiner.

Col. Arthur Wood, assistant Secretary of War, has denounced the use of the uniform in soliciting and peddling and calls the profiteering employers who mislead ex-soldiers and sailors to misuse the uniforms they so gallantly wore during the war "cooties." War community workers all over the country have taken the same firm stand. City Attorney Stephens is preparing an ordinance prohibiting the use of the uniform in soliciting and peddling. The ordinance will be presented to the City Council for action and its passage will be urged by heads of the Soldiers and Sailors Replacement Bureau and other officials.

Neither stabs in the dark, nor specious protestations can justify wanton and unpatriotic practices nor can the public be tricked into condoning them.

Making More Pies

Some manufacturers regard their market as a pie to be divided.

If there are four firms it will be cut four ways.

If two new companies start in, then the same pie must be cut into six pieces.

Each man hopes to seize a very large piece and regards new competition with bitter jealousy.

Advertising frequently starts as an offensive; a selfish move of one man to take business from the field.

Often his competitors start defensive counter-campaigns in self-protection.

And then an amazing thing is discovered.

The market is not a constant to be divided; it is a possibility to be expanded.

After dissolution, the tobacco trust companies really fought for their share of the total business and as a result the consumption of cigarettes increased from the year 1911 to 1917, 229%.

The greater the effort to "corner the market" of consumer demand in any line—the greater the potentiality of that demand is increased.

JUDGMENT FOR TWO PENNIES.

Bank Wins Smallest Award Ever Filed Here, with Joy Clark the Loser.

The smallest judgment ever filed in the County Clerk's department was entered yesterday, against Joy R. Clark, society and clubman, for the sum of 2 cents in favor of the Security Trust and Savings Bank, through J. H. Shankland. This is a sufficiency judgment, which means in foreclosure proceedings the full amount of the indebtedness held by the bank had been previously realized to within 2 cents.

Mr. Clark gave his note to the bank for $18,000, September 4, 1917, due in three months. The principal and interest were not paid, and foreclosure was brought on the security put up, namely, gold bonds of the Pacific Electric valued at $25,000. The bonds sold for $19,657.37. The amount demanded was $19,657.89.

State University Starts Second Summer School Session Here.

Seven hundred students were enrolled yesterday for the Los Angeles summer session of the University of California at the State Normal School, which is now the Southern California branch of the university. This is the second summer session offered here by the regents of the university. Many more students are expected to enroll during the week. The term will last for a period of six weeks.

In addition to the regular classes now in session, a series of evening lectures given by faculty members of eastern and California colleges will be given free to the public at the Friday Morning Clubhouse each week. William Lyon Phelps, professor of English literature at Yale, will give the first lecture Thursday at 8 p.m. His topic is "Culture and Happiness."

SAFETY FIRST, IS RULE.

Stage Companies to Warn Employees Regarding Traffic Violations.

Representatives of practically all of the interurban stage companies operating out of Los Angeles appeared before the Board of Public Utilities yesterday to discuss with the board complaints that have been received regarding the alleged improper observance of the rules of the road by their drivers, and the consequent element of danger to other automobilists.

It was decided that each company shall issue bulletins, to be placed in their offices, etc., warning their employees that violations of traffic rules will not be tolerated, and that at all times their rule must be "safety first."

WIFE DIVORCES CLUB'S COACH.

Veith in Letter Admits He is "Temperamental."

"Convinced I'm Rank Failure as Husband," He Says.

Written Confession Helps to Win Decree of Court.

The day before her suit for divorce was to be tried, which was yesterday, F. Vance Veith, swimming director for the Los Angeles Athletic Club, wrote his wife, Margaret Veith, a letter that was offered in evidence in Judge Crail's court yesterday and aided in obtaining her a decree.

It was a friendly letter, tinged with sadness, and in it Mr. Veith admits his failure as a married man, confessing he discovered he was temperamental only after he married.

"It is too bad it all turned out this way," he says, "but as you know, I could not live with any woman. I am quite sure you will be better off with me divorced from you. When I left you, I was sure I was a failure as a married man. If one couldn't get along with you, they might as well quit for good.

"RANK FAILURE."

"I am sorry it had to end this way, and had I known when I was going with you before we married what a temperamental cuss I was, I never would have asked you to marry me. You had a rotten married life with me, and I am quite convinced now that I am a rank failure as a husband.

"As long as I live, I will do all I can for you and the baby, and I will never cause you any trouble. I live hoping that you will be happy, and if I can ever be of any help to you in any way, you know where to find me. I didn't leave you in February of 1918 just to chase around, as that I have never done, but I left you as I knew I was impossible as a husband, not only to you, but to anyone. Don't think I have and am getting a real kick out of life, as I am not."

TRICKY NERVES.

He says that coaching swimming is his real love and greatest pleasure, "but at times it gets the best of my nerves and I feel like I am going to blow up. When I feel that way, I go off to my room and there by myself I get back to earth. On the other hand, if I was coming home to you, it would be a sad night for you. You remember how I treated you, and you know it was wrong, but I just couldn't help myself. One day I decided the best thing for you was for me to get, and I have come to the conclusion that I did the best thing possible when I left you."

He says the baby will receive from him all he can spare, "and I hope some day he will be to you what I failed to be.

"Good luck to you, Margaret, and when you need any extras, you know where to find me."

Mrs. Veith was awarded $50 a month alimony and the custody of the child. She told the court that Mr. Veith said he did not want to be married and tied down.

COURT WRATHY WHEN WORD "LIAR" IS USED.

PROSECUTING ATTORNEY IS FINED. APOLOGIES AND COURT WARNING.

A wordy clash between Deputy District Attorney W. J. Clark and Dana Ong, an attorney, in Justice Forbes's court, in which the short and ugly word was said to have been applied by Mr. Clark, led to a fine of $10 for contempt yesterday. The clash came just before noon and the court demanded an apology be made before the hearing of James N. Duarte continued in the afternoon.

In the afternoon Mr. Ong said a remark made by him had been construed to mean that he thought witnesses in the case might have been given their court cues in the District Attorney's office. He apologized. Mr. Clark then said that as a member of the District Attorney's staff he felt himself duty bound to resent such an implication and he also apologized to the court.

"I accept these apologies in the spirit in which they are given," said the court, "but I want to warn both attorneys that I will not tolerate any such action again."

Duarte was held to answer on a charge of larceny by trick and device. It was alleged he represented to Mrs. Louisa Kalpogenes of 853 West Forty-third place that he could find the slayer of her husband, and thus obtained $540 from her, but that he did not make any attempt to find the alleged slayer.

MUNICIPAL AERODROME.

Notices were sent out yesterday to members of the special committee recently appointed to select possible properties for the proposed landing field of a municipal aerodrome of a meeting at 8 o'clock on the night of the 9th inst., in the Council chamber at the City Hall.

At this meeting City Attorney Stephens, who is chairman of the committee, will present for consideration five sites, and members of the committee have been notified that they will be expected at this time to express their opinions on the matter, so that as speedy action as possible may be taken. Representatives of the government are asking, it is stated, that Los Angeles report to the War Department just what it will be able to do to aid in the proposed development of the air service on commercial lines.

The various sites that will be presented for consideration include 100 acres bounded by Normandie, Seventy-ninth, Vermont and Eighty-fifth streets; seventy-five acres bounded by Crescent, Wilshire boulevard, the Pacific Electric and the Arroyo on the north; seventy-six acres bounded by Crescent and Sweetzer avenues, south of Santa Monica boulevard; 400 acres bounded by Santa Monica and Pico, lying east of the city limits of Sawtelle; 120 acres south of Santa Monica boulevard and lying east of the city of Santa Monica.

Various concerns and individuals directly interested in the development of air service have been asked to meet with the committee and make statements as to the extent they are willing to assist financially in carrying out this project of a municipal landing field and aerodrome.

LIEUTENANT TO WED IN EDINBURGH TODAY.

VAN COURT WARREN WINS ENGLISH BRIDE IN SCOTTISH CAPITAL.

Lieut. Van Court Warren, of 416 South Alexandria avenue, is one person who does not regret that the United States took a hand in the European war. The young lieutenant is to be married in Edinburgh, Scotland, today to Miss Marjorie Richardson, an English war worker whom he met overseas.

Eighteen months ago Lieut. Warren sailed overseas with the One Hundred and Fifth Engineers, Thirtieth Division. While in England he met Miss Richardson, who is the daughter of Chaplain Richardson, of the British army.

Following the signing of the armistice the lieutenant has been taking a course in mining engineering in the University of Edinburgh, where the ceremony is to take place. The young couple will return to this city where they will make their home.

Lieut. Warren is the son of Mrs. Frederick A. Wann, wife of the former traffic manager of the Salt Lake Route. Mrs. Wann will leave for the East within a few days to meet her son and daughter-in-law when they debark from the transport.

DAILY TRADE TALK.

Big Oil Deal; Why Strawberries are High; Interest Day; Banks.

BY CHAPIN HALL.

It looks as though control of the Union Oil Company, the great California corporation which has been so largely responsible for the development of the business in this State, was about to pass to the Standard, or at least to the Commonwealth Petroleum Corporation which is recognized as a Standard subsidiary. This rumor has been current for some time, but yesterday it assumed concrete form when word was received that a special meeting of the stockholders of the Commonwealth had been called for July 7 in New York for the purpose of voting upon the proposed increase in capital stock from 200,000 shares to 2,000,000 shares. This stock is to carry no par value and while the notice does not explain the purpose to which it will be put it is thought to be for the purpose of taking over the Union Oil Company, of California.

At the office of the Union yesterday it was stated by an official that while nothing definite was known here of the transaction it would "occasion no surprise" if the Commonwealth secured a large block of stock. Whether this would be enough to carry the control no definite conclusion would be ventured, but from other sources it is learned that the "hen is on," and that the big deal will actually be arranged within a comparatively short time. The Union is the second largest operator in California and ranks next to the Standard. It controls some very valuable territory, and is recognized as one of the great oil producing and distributing agencies of the world.

Off Week On 'Change.

It promises to be an "off week" on 'change. San Francisco is closed for the entire week, the combination of prohibition law, election, and Fourth of July being more than the northerners could stand. Even in Los Angeles a large number of brokers have taken advantage of the approaching holidays to begin their regular vacations or take an extra one, and not more than half the membership was represented on the floor yesterday. The local exchange will close for the remainder of the week at noon on Thursday and judging from the trend of things yesterday there will be just as little business transacted in the interim as is possible. Aside from the interest in Union the market yesterday was weak and inactive throughout. Jade Oil and General Petroleum being the only oil stocks to show signs of up-reach. The former opened strong at 30 cents but under the pressure of heavy selling orders, for which a profit taking ambition was responsible, the price receded to 28 1-2 cents. The Jade is a leasing company, but there was some talk, which lacked conformation, of a strike and this had something to do with the advance. General Petroleum was in strong demand at $167 but with no stock offered at that price. United was quiet, inactive, and soft around 57 cents. Mascot was weak, opening at $2.40 and registering a decline of five points since the preceding sale and a 20-cent decline in ten days. Mines were weak and trading scattered except for Tom Reed which traded 2600 shares at $1.56. There was also a reaction on the New York exchange due, it is explained, to selling by professionals on the strength of the Federal reserve monthly bulletin, which states that the unprecedented speculation in stocks is an element of danger to the financial position of the country.

Election Day. Underwriter's Picnic.

The Casualty Underwriter's Association of Southern California had a great time Saturday afternoon at Inceville-on-the-Coast. One hundred "go-getters" attended the function which included a comprehensive "get-together" meeting, and stock-taking account of a business which is growing so fast that even those on the inside are unable to keep track of its development. Unusual attention was paid to the entertainment features, and the cap was placed firmly upon the climax by the serving of a steak dinner with every available accompaniment.

Record-Breaking Month.

June bank clearances "won by a nose" over the May total and thereby hung up a new record for this city. The total clearances for the period are $179,749,815.69. The May record which led the list for a month was $179,690,914.27, the difference being just $58,831.46. The last day of the month came to the front and turned defeat into victory by rolling up a per diem total of $7,245,892.55.

BANKER POINTS PEACE LESSONS.

Booth Says "Credits" Means More than Ever Before.

Lilliputian Ideas not to Bind Industrial Gulliver.

Problems to be Solved Without Partisan Politics.

BY WILLIS H. BOOTH.
Vice-President Guaranty Trust Company of New York.

Credits means more today than it has ever meant before. In that one word is epitomized the foundation upon which civilization's future must be based. Prosperity, the happiness, the hope, the very existence of hundreds of millions of people are dependent upon credit. It is the keystone of the arch which must bridge the chasm between war and peace.

The great conflict which has just ended has indeed taught us much of the significance and economic value and vital importance of credit; peace will teach us even more.

As one of the primary results of the war, the wealth of the world has been redistributed. By the natural processes of wealth concentration the United States has become very rich; other nations in the long drain of war have become relatively poorer. Credit must be the instrument by which wealth accumulated in one place may in reality be used in another until gradually and by processes less violent than those of war the wealth of the world will again assume the more natural distribution.

It has been the good fortune, as well as the duty of the United States in recent months to participate largely in the extension of credit to our Allies, and we stand today as one of the two premier creditor nations.

OPPORTUNITIES OF PEACE.

When peace has been definitely established we will be called upon to continue that service by the extension of additional credits through private channels, with government cooperation, and fiscal support. In the immediate future this is going to be our paramount duty and effort to, as far as, as great opportunities help us did the war itself.

We cannot fail to take advantage of this opportunity, nor can we shirk the responsibility which it involves, but it is not going to be an easy task, because in the last analysis it must depend upon the support of public opinion in the United States. This support can be obtained only by careful education. In the immediate future and for present needs we must extend credit abroad on a short-term basis, similar to that of the recent $50,000,000 credit to the British Ministry of Munitions of these short obligations, perhaps within a year we must put ourselves in position to extend long-term credits in a safe and substantial manner. A plan of organization for the accomplishment of this latter purpose is now underway in this country and in Europe.

The banks in the larger cities of the country have met or will be called together for the purpose of co-operating in the distribution of foreign securities whose maturities extend over considerable periods. In the countries abroad similar financial co-operation is now being organized to work with us here. The task is going to be greater than that which we undertook in the country. It is going to require above all things confidence in human nature and in the unfailing ability of peoples to work out their salvation when favorable opportunities are afforded.

We are not unmindful of the fact that the situation abroad is not good, but it is not abnormal under the circumstances, and after years of war anything but a depleted situation would be abnormal. Furthermore, it is natural for all peoples to have optimistic and workers and producers, and with the economy and care in living which necessities of the hour have developed and with the aid and same help and co-operation of this country they are bound to work out a satisfactory destiny.

LEADERSHIP IS NEEDED.

But we cannot rise above the occasion unless our domestic credit is sound, unless the factors which create that credit are functioning properly and that means that business must be permitted to thrive and prosper. Our governmental authorities must recognize this as the paramount need of the hour. There has never been an occasion when practical, constructive business leadership was at a higher premium in this country than at the present time.

If we are to keep peace with the accelerated movement of the pre-war period, we cannot permit Utopian ideas to bind our Industrial Gulliver. And that is what those who seek to return to pre-war conditions and restraints are attempting. They have caught the spirit of the larger freedom of today, which imposes greater responsibility and exacts greater tributes in the form of bigger and better results than ever before.

We may expound our national idealism in the world with all the zeal of modern crusaders, but unless we supplement it with practical efforts based upon the fundamental principle of helping other peoples to help themselves, our idealism will utterly fail of its purpose. And I contend that the best way to make such practical humanitarianism possible is to put business on its proper basis and remove obstacles, for if the war has taught us anything about economics we have awakened to the realization that the welfare of individual interest, that the prosperity of each is contingent upon the prosperity of the others, that production of one enriches one and all, not one alone, but all humanity as well. If this country, therefore, is permitted to utilize its industrial and financial strength in a way commensurate with the demands of the hour, we will put at the disposal of the world one of the most efficacious of stabilizing forces.

CONGRESS HAS BIG TASK.

FRUIT GROWERS FORM $125,000,000 CONCERN.

CHARLES J. BRAND RESIGNS AS MARKET BUREAU CHIEF TO BE ITS HEAD.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Announcement of the organization of the American Fruit Growers, Inc., a $125,000,000 corporation for fruit growing and distribution, was made here today with the resignation of Charles J. Brand, chief of the bureau of markets of the Department of Agriculture, who becomes head of the new concern.

The company has already bought fruit-growing properties in Wenatchee and Yakima valleys of Washington, the Corona citrus belt, and the Lodi grape district of California, the apple regions of the Appalachians, and in Southern Illinois, peach regions of Arkansas, and some of the citrus sections of Florida.

Mr. Brand announced that the organization would attempt standardization of growing, grading, packing and marketing. Principal offices will be in Pittsburgh.

Legal proceedings pertaining to and drawing of the Trust Deed and Issuance of these bonds approved by Messrs. Flint & MacKay, Los Angeles, California

1. These bonds are a first lien on the entire assets of the Visalia City Water Company which consist of a franchise from the city of Visalia, real estate, a distributing system of water pipes and conduits, reservoirs and completely equipped electric pumping plants, composing a complete system of water works, insuring adequate service. Assets in sworn statement to Railroad Commission are $204,861.05.

2. Visalia, county seat of Tulare County, and a city of over 5,000 population, is served by this Company without competition. Equipment is already installed to supply a city of 15,000 population. For over twenty-five years this Company has been serving the city of Visalia for domestic and agricultural purposes to the entire satisfaction of the water users.

3. The Company is in excellent financial condition. Attention is directed to the item of $6,094.10, set aside for depreciation. This indicates unusual conservatism on the part of the Company, considering the fact that the pumping equipment is entirely new, having been replaced within the last three years and the entire system within the last twelve years. Statement of earnings for the year 1918 is as follows:

Operating Revenue		$3,014.70
Operating Expense, inc. taxes	19,454.94
Depreciation	6,094.10	25,549.04

MORMONS AFTER TIGERS' SCALPS

On Hand with Team Intact to Win the Series.

Essick Sanguine Bengals will Take 5 Out of 8.

Angels to Tackle Ducks; Clymer Springs Surprise.

BY ED O'MALLEY.

Eddie Herr, the snappy, rotund leader of the Salt Lake Club, is here with his Mormons to take an eight-game whirl at the climbing Tigers this week. A dquble header will be played Friday at Washington Park, one game in the morning and the other in the afternoon. The visitors are in prime fettle and their lineup is intact. Although the Seals stepped on them rudely last week taking four out of five games (the sixth game ended in a tie) the Bees expect to give a much better account of themselves here against the Bengals and are rejoicing in the expectation of copping the series. Bill Essick simply flouts this belief and while the hustling Vernon leader is not given to boasting he feels rather sanguine that his pets will grab five of the eight games.

Sheely, the Bee's tall first sacker, is back on the job again and is busting away at the pill in his old-time form. He was out of the game for some time through injuries but despite this fact the Mormans trimmed our Angels in a cruel manner without his valuable assistance. Ernie Johnson, who was absent from the lineup the last time the visitors were here, is also back at the short garden and is doing excellent work. Magwert, a big Los Angeles favorite is also with the Mormons and has made good with the fans of Salt Lake.

HOUCK MAY HEAVE.

Essick has hit upon Houck or Dawson to start the ball rolling this afternoon with the chances of Houck mounting the crag. Herr will probably place his hopes in Leverenz, regarded by many as the league's best pitcher. The Tigers are now five and a half games behind the Angels and have an opportunity this afternoon, in case they win, of gaining a half game as the Seraphs will not be able to play the Beavers until Wednesday afternoon. Essick's hurlers are all in fine shape just now and are simply hurting to take a fling at the Mormons.

Red Killefer gave a splendid account of himself at Sacramento last week, taking the Solons into camp five games out of six. The Angel heavers, with the single exception of Silent Bill Pertica, were there good and strong with their effectiveness. In meeting the Beavers this week they will be stacked up against one of the worst crippled teams seen on the Coast in some time.

Farmer and Walker are to return this week to McCreedie's lineup and will be seen in their regular positions. Speas will probably play right field. Mack's infield however is shot to pieces. Paddy Siglin is suffering with a severe Charley horse

GARLAND WINS FROM THOMAS.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

WIMBLEDON, June 30.—C. S. Garland, United States, beat R. V. Thomas, England, today, 6-4, 6-0, 6-1, in the international tennis tournament, in progress here.

One of the outstanding sensations of the singles matches has been Garland's advance to the semifinals. The last four to play are the Englishmen, Richie and Kingscote, the Australian, Patterson, and the American, Garland, whose convincing defeat of Thomas today was considered remarkable, Thomas having defeated Willis Davis and Clarence J. Griffin, the American stars.

Garland will now meet Kingscote, who today defeated O'Hara Wood, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3, 1-6, 6-4.

In the fourth round, Miss Ryan defeated Mrs. Parton, England, 6-2, 6-2, reaching the semifinal, where she will play Suzanne Lenglen, who in four matches has only lost six games.

YANKS BREAK WORLD RECORD.

Local Boy Gives Big Lead to Team Mates.

Another Landslide in Broad and Dicus.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PERSHING STADIUM (France) June 30.—Americans again broke the world's record for the 800-meter relay in the inter-Allied games today, cutting down yesterday's time from 1m. 33 1-5s. to 1m. 30 4-5s. C. W. Paddock of Pasadena, Cal., gave his team-mates a three-meter lead in the first lap and this lead was held by Edward Teschner of Lawrence, Mass., who finished. The Canadian team was second and also shared in the record-breaking. Australia finished third and France fourth.

America took all three places in the final of the discus throw, Lieut. Joseph Higgins winning the event, with a throw of 40.833 meters. R. L. Byrd and James Duncan, respectively, took second and third places. All three American entries in the semi-finals of the 400-meters run also were placed.

PERSHING STADIUM, June 29.—The stadium was crowded at the opening of the inter-Allied games today. Robert Simpson, United States, won the final in the 110-meter high hurdles event. Wilson, New Zealand, finished second; time, 15 1-5s.

In the finals of the running broad jump, Sol Butler, United States, made 7.557 meters; Worthington, United States, 7.267; Johnson, United States, 6.69; Kebdell, New Zealand, 6.553.

The world's record for the 800-meter relay was broken twice today. In the first heat the American team covered the distance in 1m., 33 1-5s. Immediately afterward the Canadian four equaled the American time. The new record beats the old by 2 4-5s.

The American team was composed of Paddock, Haddock, Torkelson and Teschner. The Canadian runners were Howard, Haliburton, Zoelling and Johnson.

All American entries in the 400-meters run—Eby, Spink and Grey—qualified for the semi-finals.

America snowed France under in the basketball match, 93 to 6.

England's sole competitor to date, the 400 meter runner, Tittle was eliminated in the semifinals.

Pat Ryan, American world champion hammer thrower, made an exhibition throw of 55.578 meters.

Humphreys, United States, won the standing broad jump trials with 3.297 meters. Taylor, another American, was second.

In the heavyweight boxing trials, "Bob" Martin, the American Expeditionary Force champion, won by a technical knockout from Journee, France, in the second round. Capt. Cogmill, the Australian heavyweight, defeated Arnold, Canada, by a technical knockout in the second round. Marrorati, an Italian bantamweight, defeated McGrath, Canada, on points in ten rounds.

Vermulen, the French professional long-distance champion, won the 10,000-meter cross-country run in 31m., 8 4-5s., followed by Bross of Belgium and Heust of France.

GAME FOR TITLE TO BE PLAYED TODAY.

OAKLAND PREP TEAM HERE FOR CHAMPIONSHIP—FULLERTON IN SHAPE.

When the last season's last prep game finishes this afternoon at Fullerton between Fullerton High and the northern baseball champs of the Oakland Technical High, for the State baseball championship, the throats of the multitude of rabid fans will be clogged with dust and their hearts full of anger, or full of great and abiding joy, according to the leaning of their prejudices.

If it is deemed best by the God of things as they ought to be that the Oakland Technical ball tossers win the State gonfalon, the most coveted possession in prep baseball within the State, loud weepings and wailings, not to mention the scriptural gnashings of teeth will be in order and freely indulged in.

However the affair turns out the majority of the fans will have something to crab over. It's not in the nature of a baseball rooter, to behave in a crucial test such as will be forced on the spectators of this afternoon's game.

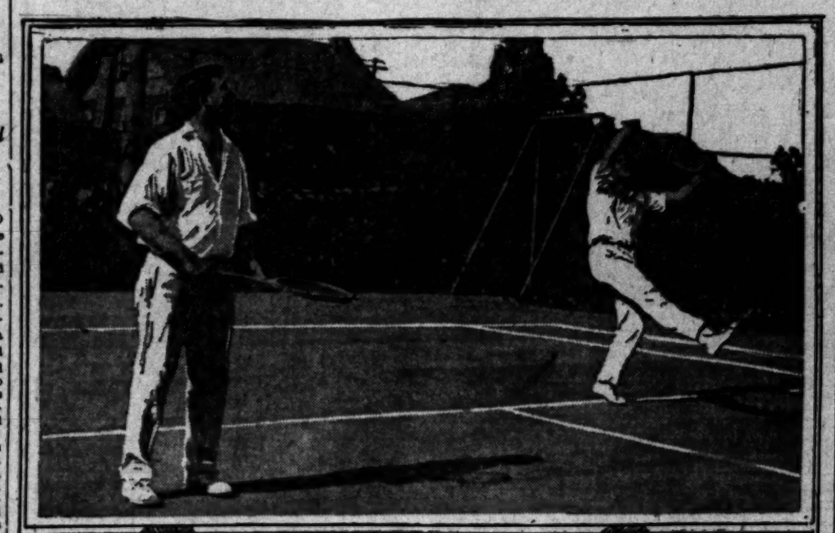
The fracas will start at 3 o'clock, sharp, and a regulation warm-up and practice will be held prior, of course, to the game. Fullerton is claiming a wonderful team, battery, fielders, batting strength, and the whole line of press-agent stuff. They are good, it is no doubt. Last game they played with Pasadena they won by two whole runs, 11 to 9. Maybe they will be as good this p.m.

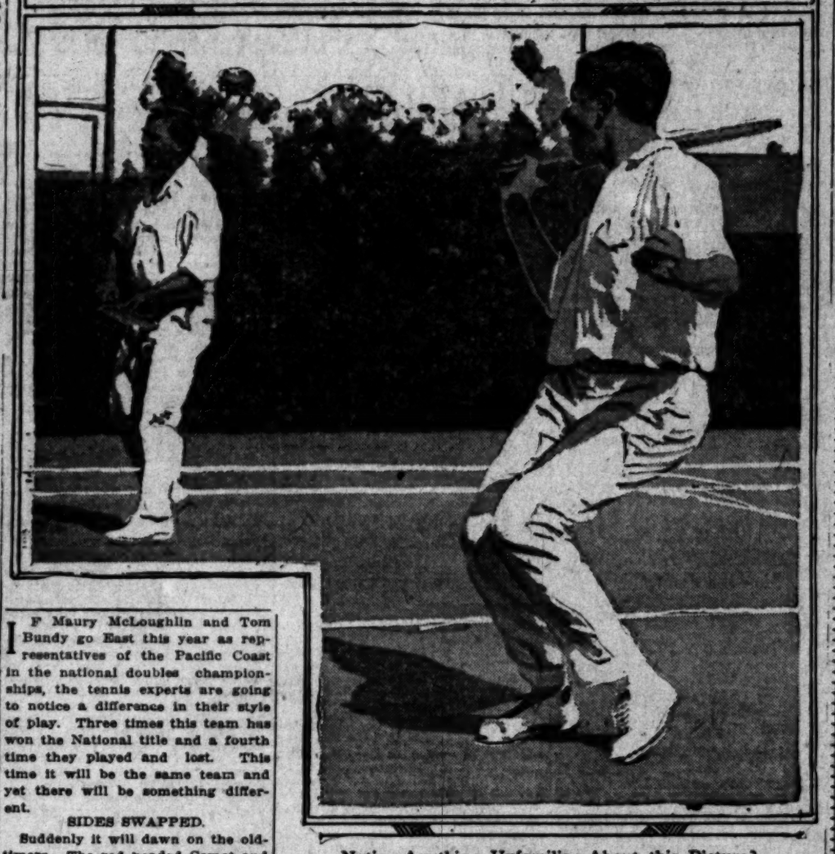
If they are, maybe they will win. In order to keep order, or a semblance of the same, Reardon and Abbott will umpire, and will accept any help from the village marshal, should that worthy's presence be desired. The citizens of Fullerton are turning out en masse to see their hopeful prodigies do up the northern lads. After the results have been duly posted the Chamber of Commerce will tender a banquet and theater party to both nines.

EX-CHAMPIONS :: CHANGE :: TACTICS.

McLoughlin and Bundy Switch Sides for Attempted Come-Back.

BY WILLIAM M. HENRY.





IF Maury McLoughlin and Tom Bundy go East this year as representatives of the Pacific Coast in the national doubles championships, the tennis experts are going to notice a difference in their style of play. Three times this team has won the National title and a fourth time they played and lost. This time it will be the same team and yet there will be something different.

SIDES SWAPPED.

Suddenly it will dawn on the old-timers. The red headed Comet and the bounding, black-haired chop artist have swapped courts and now Bundy plays the forehand court while the Comet takes over the left hand side. The switch is less than a week old but so far has been a huge success. They will try it in the Pacific Coast doubles tournament this week and, if successful, use the new formation in the East.

In the old days the slashing, smashing McLoughlin held down the right hand court and the steady generalship of Bundy was always manifested at the left. This because of the erratic nature of Maury's play as contrasted to the steadiness of Bundy. Maury smashed everything and, if he lost his point, Bundy the steady was always there to make matters even. If McLoughlin won his point, Tom was over there to sneak a cross-court chop across the net and make it a two point lead.

SOME FOREHAND.

But McLoughlin has always been a terrific driver. His forehand wallop, coupled with his wonderful ability to run around a ball to use this stroke, has made him famous and the tendency has always been for the red-headed wonder to run around shots down the middle of the court to smash them with is forehand and in doing this he was continually backing into Bundy and gradually forcing him over into the alley.

The new idea is this. McLoughlin with his wonderful drive, plays every shot he can lay his hands on as a part of the policy adopted by the team. By playing the left hand court he can clout all the shots down the middle of the court without running around them, while cross-court shots, which can seldom be driven anyway, he can play nicely with his backhand.

COURT GENERAL.

Bundy, whose specialty has always been drawing the enemy out of position with his uncanny ability to chop cross-court, volleys even better from the forehand court than he did from his old stamping

Notice Anything Unfamiliar About this Picture?

Well, this is the well-known team of McLoughlin and Bundy, three times winner of the national doubles championship in tennis. They are to attempt a come-back this week and, to accomplish the same, they have swapped sides, Bundy operating in the forehand court while McLoughlin makes himself unpopular in Bundy's old hangout on the left-hand side.

EASY PICKINGS IN PARIS.

BY HOWARD ANGUS.

The supreme ease with which the American track and field team is romping away with all the glory in Paris is anything except surprising to one who has been over there.

It shocks me when a European takes a lonely point now and again.

The Europeans cannot hope to compete on even terms with the young men of this new, virile race bred over here out of a mixture of all the best stock Europe ever had, with mighty little of the poor thrown in.

Physically the American is much superior to his European cousins. The Frenchmen that one meets on the streets of Paris are short, thin, and generally small. They look very becoming in a cutaway and striped pants, but very skinny in their B.V.D.'s. The peasant class is much sturdier, but no taller, and and have been so busy tilling the soil that few of them ever heard of a sporting event.

SMALL.

The average Englishman, general opinion to the contrary, is also a small man physically, and most of them are pale from eating the smoke from their many red brick chimneys. Outside of the idle class, most English youths go to work at about the age of 15, and are too busy making a living to grow.

The average American, with his quick step, his shoulders all square, his chest stuck out and his head up, looks like some young god from Olympus when he struts across the Place de Concorde in Paris or dodges busses in London.

THICKER.

From shoulder to shoulder and chest to back, we are much thicker, at least, than our European brothers, and we all tower about a head taller.

NO INTEREST.

Then, Frenchmen take practically no interest in sports. They seem to care not at all for a row in the Seine, a game of tennis or a race.

They get their pleasure out of promenading (that is, strolling with a girl on an afternoon or looking them over,) idling in a cafe in the early evening and attending a play at night. Sometimes they may dance until morning. But even that is largely an American sport.

Outdoor sports the French know not.

The youths in the grammar schools and high schools, or whatever they call their institutions of learning, do not play, and the University of Paris is stuck in the center of Paris, without any grounds at all.

About the only sport Frenchmen enjoy is horseback riding and the races.

GENTLE STUFF.

The English play more, but even then the rank and file of England has little time for play. The games they play are much milder than ours. The word strenuous is entirely American.

The European lacks entirely the win-or-die spirit so characteristic of the American. When the men on the other side of the Atlantic indulge in sport is is for the pleasure of it only. They do not enjoy puffing and perspiring and having aches in their muscles. Their sport is genteel and gentle.

JESS SURPRISES CRITICS.

Steps Lively and Cuts Out Puffing; Jack Gives Up Boxing.

BY BENNY LEONARD,
Lightweight Champion of the World.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

TOLEDO (O.) June 30.—Never has there been more marked improvement in the physical condition of a boxer than there has been in Jess Willard. When I first came to Toledo and saw the heavyweight champion work I was far from favorably impressed. He was slow and sluggish in his movements in the ring. Today I went out to his camp and watched him box six rounds with Jack Hemple and Walter Monahan. His footwork was greatly improved and his wind was 100 per cent. better.

NO WRESTLING.

He cut out the wrestling and mauling tactics which had featured his sparring bouts up to now and applied himself to some real boxing. He used his left hand well and showed to particular advantage on the defensive. Hemple and Monahan could do nothing with him. He was much harder to hit than he has been. However, he did not show any more ability to punch. His blows lack the snap and pep that count for so much. He still has that same disappointing tendency to throw his punches, that same facility of not putting his body behind his punches. He scored many clean hits on both his sparring partners, but they were not feased by them. Neither Hemple nor Monahan was staggered. Had he been hitting properly both Hemple and Monahan would have been floored at least, and the chances are they would have been knocked out.

SECRET STUFF.

There is a story in circulation here that Willard has been doing a great deal of secret work for the last few days. Willard denies this. I asked him about it, but he flatly denied that he was doing any more training than anyone and everyone saw at his camp.

There is still a small pillow of fat encircling his body, but as I explained before this will not work against him if the fat has been worked away. It does not seem to affect his work in the least. Immediately after he had finished boxing I talked to him to ascertain whether his wind was bad or not. He was puffing slightly from his exertions, but was able to talk without the effort that would have attended his speech had he been fagged out or nearly all in. I was agreeably surprised at this. It proved to me that Jess is nearer ready for the bout here on Friday than many have been prone to believe.

JESS TALKS.

He explained to me that he intends to continue doing the same work that he is now doing through Wednesday, Thursday, of course, he will take only enough exercise to keep his muscles supple.

On the other hand, Dempsey has completed his boxing. Today was his last ring work, although he told me that he intends to continue sprinting in the mornings to benefit his wind and speed. I am going out to his camp early this morning to spend the forenoon with him and have lunch at his training quarters with him.

There is no getting away from the fact that Jack is in top-top shape for his big test. He, too, worked better today than he has for the last several days. This may be attributed to the fact that it was much warmer. For the last week it has been rather chilly here in Toledo, and the sudden change from the extreme heat of two weeks ago has had a tendency to make the boxers' muscles tighten up.

DEMPSEY.

Dempsey boxed four rounds with Bill Tate, Jamaica Kid and Jack Malone. Tate and the Kid went one round each but Malone was called on for two rounds. Malone is the speed merchant. His duties are to feint and step around the ring as quickly as possible. In none of these rounds did Dempsey essay to do much hitting. He contented himself with blocking, ducking and footwork. And he looked mighty good. There is no getting away from the fact that Jack is fast on his feet. I was particularly impressed today with the way in which he handled his body while boxing. He rolled it round to permit punches to slide off it just like a lightweight would. He has an impressive way of permitting his head to roll with punches. These are good signs, for anyone who thinks that Dempsey is not going to be hit and hit often in this battle is going to be badly mistaken. Willard will hit him and will hit him often and it is a good thing that Jack is devoting his time to learning how to offset the power of blows against him by moving his body and head.

JESS SERIOUS.

Willard was serious about his work today. Heretofore he has treated it more like a huge joke. He started off by doing some shadow boxing and between rounds he continued this shadow boxing. This is the first time that he has done this. In the past he has been content to loll on the ropes or move slowly around the ring between rounds. I was glad to see him crowd more action into his work. It is a good sign showing that he is not afraid to try himself out which was the logical deduction to reach in the past.

He was hitting straighter than on other occasions when I have been at the ringside. He pumped his left jab into both Hemple and Monahan and showed a good right cross. If he put as much behind the blows as his big bulk permits they would

THROWING BAIT TO CARPENTIER.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, June 30.—Georges Carpentier has received by cable from Tex Rickard, the boxing promoter, an offer of $45,000 for a match with Jack Dempsey in the United States in January next.

TOLEDO, June 30.—The proposal to match Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier is being considered by the informally organized National Sporting Club of New York, not Tex Rickard, according to a statement by the promoter of the Willard-Dempsey match today.

As planned at present, the proposed National Sporting Club of New York will be modeled after its famous namesake in London, and will be more or less of an exclusive club, with a boxing adjunct. Admission will be membership only, although each member will have the privilege of inviting a guest.

Dempsey Lays Off on Hard Training; Willard Speeds up Boxing.

RABBIT PUNCH RAISES A ROW.

Kearns Asks Elimination of Pet Blow.

Toledo Rules Silent on the Subject.

Little Willard Money Being Wagered.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

TOLEDO (O.) June 30.—Barring of the rabbit punch, one of Champion Jess Willard's favorite deliveries, will be demanded by Jack Kearns, manager of Jack Dempsey, before he allows the challenger to enter the ring with Willard, July 4. Kearns made known his decision tonight.

The punch is a blow delivered to the back of the neck while the men are fighting in clinches, with at least one arm free. Both Willard and Dempsey have been using it with punishing effect in their training bouts, and Manager Kearns claims that while the blow is a favorite with the champion, it is not all important in Dempsey's repertoire of punches.

Such a delivery is barred and has been forbidden in big fights. The rules of the Toledo Boxing Commission are silent about this punch. They insist upon clean breaks, and prohibit the kidney punch while the boxers are clinched. The blow, however, is permissible under the Toledo rules if the boxers are not locked in an embrace.

Kearns said he will request Ollie Pecord, referee, to see that the punch is not delivered, and will insist upon having an understanding with Willard to that effect before the day of the contest.

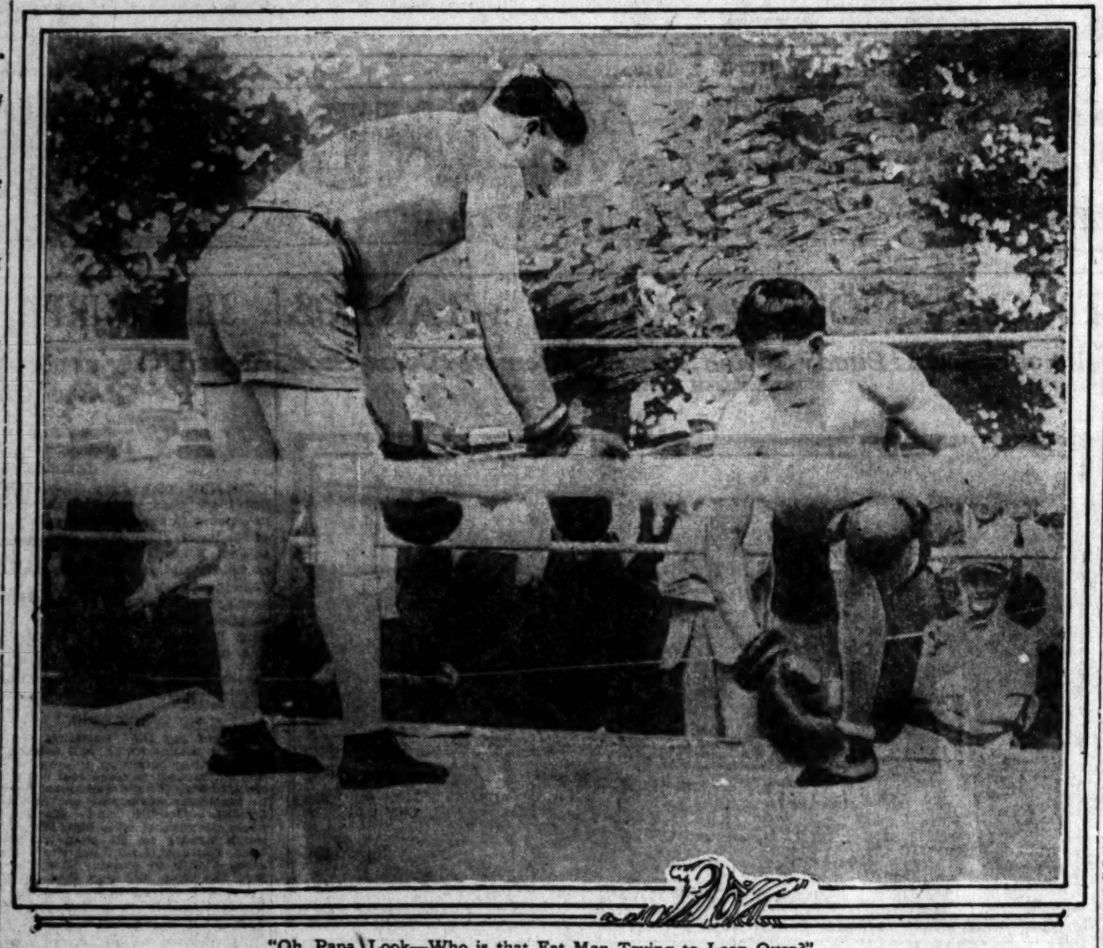
Dempsey was measured for height this afternoon by William Muldoon of New York, whose figures gave him six feet, two inches.

Dempsey did his last boxing today, when he finished four rounds. The challenger plans to loaf about his camp, eating and drinking what he pleases, merely taking light walks to keep his muscles loosened.

The cut over Willard's eye was opened today while he was boxing with Walter Monahan, but the blood was quickly stopped. The champion does not believe the wound will bother him to any extent, even if opened in the Independence Day contest. He boxed six rounds this afternoon, and plans to continue work with the gloves tomorrow and Wednesday, resting Thursday.

The total receipts passed the $500,000 mark today, and there was every indication that all records for receipts for any form of a one-day exhibition or entertainment would be broken in the next twenty-four or forty-eight hours. Not more than one-third of the seats have been disposed of to date.

Betting on the result is not as great as has been the case in some previous heavyweight championship contests. There is a noticeable absence of Willard backing, while there is all kinds of Dempsey shore money, with the result that the challenger's supporters do not ask odds, but are satisfied to cover Willard coin at about even.



"Oh, Papa, Look—Who is that Fat Man Trying to Lean Over?"

BARRACUDA CHASED INSHORE BY SEALS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SANTA BARBARA, June 30.—More barracuda are being caught along the coast by fishermen than ever before in history. Seals, which feed on barracuda, have become so numerous about the Channel islands that the schools are deserting island waters for refuge near the kelp line. The seals are pursuing them, and are now a common sight close inshore.

YACHT CLUB WILL STAGE MANY RACES.

In order properly to celebrate the Fourth of July, the Newport Harbor Yacht Club of Newport Beach has decided to put on a big programme of races, beginning at 9 a.m. A twenty-mile race outside Newport Bay, a free-for-all race of speed boats, a sailboat race, a ten-mile handicap speed boat race, and a four-mile powerboat race under handicap for a cup, will be some of the features of the day's big water performance.

WILLARD IN CONDITION.

be mighty damaging punches. As it is the weight of his arms is sufficient to make them blows that are not to be flirted with or invited to land on a vital spot.

CHAMP BLEEDS.

During his bout with Monahan the slight cut over Willard's left eye was opened again. I examined it after the bout. It does not amount to anything. It's little more than a scratch and will be entirely healed by the time he enters the ring on Friday afternoon. While he is inclined to be a bit irritable he is not as peevish as I expected he might be. Irritableness at this time is a good sign. It shows he is getting on edge. If Dempsey did not have such a naturally sweet and boyish disposition he would be the most peevish individual in the world at this moment, for he certainly is on edge.

While Jess was boxing with Hemple he made Jack miss several wild swings at his head and the big gallery of spectators laughed. Looking over his shoulder Jess smiled broadly and called out, "Are wou laughing at me or at him?"

He seems to realize that he has not made any too favorable an impression on the majority who have seen him work up to this time and he does not overlook any opportunity to turn loose a little satire.

ON DEFENSE.

Willard is a great defensive fighter. His blocking and his manner of leaning backward to take his chin farther out of range are sure to be disconcerting to Dempsey. They are big assets in the champion's favor. They will stand him in good stead when he meets Dempsey. When he leads he is a great offensive fighter as well but he has the fault of not leading enough. There is not the slightest doubt in my mind that he intends fighting a waiting battle on Independence Day, that he intends making Dempsey come to him, that is, that he intends making Dempsey do all the forcing unles, of course, there comes a time when Willard will be in a position to score a knockout. Then he will do the crowding.

In this respect he is making a mistake. Defensive boxing cannot win bouts on points. Unless he shows some aggresiveness and the bout should go the full twelve rounds the aggressor will have to be given a great deal of credit for doing the forcing.

While I was talking with Willard in his dressing room I tried to fathom the big fellow's mind. I was anxious to find out whether he is nervous. I am inclined to believe that he is a little bit so. He did not say so in reply to an indirect question, but said:

A BIT SLY.

"You are a champion. You know how you feel when you are preparing for a bout where your title is at stake."

By that he meant that it was but natural he should feel a little nervous. I have felt that way.

The gloves which will be worn by Willard and Dempsey arrived here today. Tex Rickard invited me to examine them. They have been made to order and weigh five ounces. They were made by Sol Levinson of San Francisco. Two sets of them have been received, this precaution having been taken to guard against a glove splitting.

The vanguard of the 3000 soldiers from Camp Sherman who are to guard the arena also arrived today. They pitched their tents in the park just outside the massive structure.

BIG ARENA.

I visited the arena and never was more impressed with the size of a place. It is larger than Yale bowl at New Haven, in fact, it is the largest place of its kind in the country. It looks as if it would seat more than 80,000 persons. It is surprising what a clear view of the ring is afforded from the last row of the ten dollar seats at the extreme top of the wooden structure.

The fan who sits there will be 250 3-4 feet from the ringside and yet is so elevated that he will not experience any difficulty in seeing all that transpires within the ring.

It is not yet completed but will be ready on the afternoon of the day before the fight. McLoughlin, the contractor, told me that he is positive the last nail will have been driven hours before the time set for the opening of the gates at 8 o'clock on the morning of the fight. Willard is greatly relieved by the progress that has been made in the last few days. For a time I think he was inclined to be a little skeptical as to whether everything would be in readiness by Friday but now he is convinced there will be no hitch in this regard.

DEER SEASON HAS DANDY OUTLOOK.

The coming of the deer season will find many wise hunters up in the Santa Monica Mountains, where they have been snooping around before the opening date to find the best place to pot the bucks, as they pass through the territory. According to several who have just come down from these regions, the signs of deer are plentiful, the sight of does, bucks, and fawns, being had in bunches of four or five.

This year quite a large area of the hunting lands have been burnt and the shrubbery is now short, making deer eager to get at the feed. When the season opens all Mr. Nimrod needs do will be to hide on the side of the burnt area and slam-bang away when the animals show up for a meal. The Santa Susana Range is a good spot also in which to stalk and slay the elusive venison.

and should be out of the game. Shortstop Rader simply drags his legs after him when he attempts to run. Outfielder Cox has a sore leg and Catcher Baker a sore toe. It should be some time before McCredie's boys get into first class playing shape again.

BILL SURPRISES 'EM.

The surprise party of last week was Bill Clymer's showing against the declining Oaks. Bill grabbed six out of seven games and returns home somewhat of a hero. He is sure to meet with a big welcome. Hosp and Reiger have materially strengthened the Siwashes and with the adding of Pitcher Gardner to his staff, Clymer is now in a position to give the Seals a good tussle this week. It is Bill's ambition to finish in the first division this year and if he does he will undoubtedly be given substantial backing to surround himself with a possible pennant winner next year.

RIFLE AND REVOLVER SHOTS FORM LEAGUE.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

RIVERSIDE, June 30.—A new sporting organization known as the Southern California Rifle and Revolver League was formed here last night at a meeting of representatives of clubs from Los Angeles, San Diego, Pasadena, Long Beach and Redlands. Officers were elected as follows: President, W. D. Murphy, Pasadena; first vice-president, C. C. Moore, Redlands; second vice-president, Ray Arnold, San Diego; secretary-treasurer, C. M. Crider, Long Beach; executive officer, W. C. Carmichael, Riverside; range master, M. Rolph, Redlands. The purpose of the organization is to afford riflemen in the southern part of the State opportunity to participate in an annual shoot without the necessity of making a journey north or to another State.

BORTON BIFFS ONION HARD.

Essick's Crack First Sacker a .300 Hitter.

Almost All Tigers Fatten on Mac's Pitchers.

Bates and Crawford Have Good Week up North.

And now Babe Borton forges to the front as a master slugger. The Bengal's crack first sacker carried off the local batting honors last week by slamming out ten good healthy bingles in twenty-three times up, his old willow fairly smoking with execution. In only two of the seven games did his Babelets fail to paste the orb, but the most pleasing thing about the whole shooting match, both to Borton and his many admirers, is the fact that the initial bagger has at last clouted himself into the .300 column. This feat was predicted of Babe some weeks ago and he has lived up to expectations.

Borton, however, did not come easy by his honor, as one Chadbourne, the crackerjack center trapper of Essick, was there with the sapling during the Portland series, tramping right on Borton's heels. Chet himself garnered ten hits, but was up just one more time at the rubber than Babe and therefore lost the shirt and the skypiece by the fractional part of a breath.

Chet gained 10 points and is fast climbing back to his rightful position in the charmed circle. In this hair-raising finish between Babe and Chet one must not forget the league's best bet at short, Johnny Mitchell, who dashed under the wire only a neck behind them.

Mitch had a great week, poling out nine babies in twenty-six visitations to the rubber. He is now snugly encamped at .284 and with another good week will soon be clamoring for admission into batter's heaven. Next comes Hughie High who, though he lost fourteen points over his showing of the week previous, is still hammering away at 'em around .330. Stumpy Edington had an indifferent week, annexing only five hits in twenty-four times up. Eddy, however, is one of the best swatsmen seen here in some time and can reasonably be banked on to make a much better showing against the Salt Lake heavers this week. De Vormer, much to the joy of Bill Essick and the contentment of Puss Halbrit-r's mind, is beginning to get busy with his war club. De is a natural good hitter and should show steady improvement from now on.

OH, YOU BATESY!

For the Angels, Bates is traveling at a fast gait with the stick. He played in only four games at Sacramento last week but he surely made himself felt in those games. In fourteen times up he tickled the pill for six clouts and gained nineteen points over his showing against the good Bee chuckers. Bates is now batting .383. He is a natural .300 batsman and will undoubtedly hold his head above that mark during the remainder of the season. Old Kopecs continues mauling the horsehide and what is more to the purpose keeps climbing steadily toward all hitter's goal. He gained ten points over his work against Salt Lake and is now at the .245 mark.

Wahoo Sam Crawford shows no signs of flagging with his blunderbuss. He broke even on the week and is still there good and strong at the .366 line. Fournier had a comparatively bad session with his scantling at Sacramento, losing nine points but may be looked on to make amends fast at Portland this week. Red Killefer moved up three points and had a good week. A number of his poles at Sacramento were of the timely sort and bore luscious fruit. Faithful Rube Ellis climbed seven points, and Bert Niehoff, eight. Taking it all in all, the Angels did well at Sacramento and unless all signs fail should repeat at Portland this week with their high-class stick work. The averages to date follow:

EX-CHAMPS COME BACK

ground; so that under the new arrangement the team gets all the advantage of McLoughlin's terrific drives on shots down the center of the court without forcing him to run around them and get in Bundy's way.

Those who have seen the team in action since the switch believe that the three-time national champs, if they can get the Coast title this week, will waltz through all opposition in the East. McLoughlin's comeback in the short time since his release from the navy is little short of marvelous and, while his service has lost much of its severity, his much-improved volleying and added steadiness make him a pretty good imitation of the McLoughlin of old. Bundy is in splendid shape.

Chief opposition to the ex-champs in the Pacific Coast doubles tourney which starts tomorrow on the courts of the Virginia at Long Beach, is expected from four teams, one of which is especially dangerous. Nat Browne and Claude Wayne, ex-national clay-court champions, are playing together again and scored a five-set victory over Maury and Tom in an exhibition match four or five weeks ago. They are the steadiest team in the world, or pretty near it, and are a team almost impossible to beat when in practice.

The northern delegation, as understood at present, will consist of Roland Roberts and Howard Kinsey, who captured the recent tournament at Berkeley by beating Willis Johnston and Carl Gardner in a terrific five-set match 3-6, 6-4, 5-7, 7-5, 7-5. Roberts is a very hard hitter and Kinsey is a steady youngster who, with his brother, has been forging to the front very rapidly of late.

Two other teams of local players are to be more than seriously considered, Ketchum and Snodgrass and Herd and Hawks. The former team is a new one, Ketchum being a chopper and Snodgrass a splendid driver. The team is inclined to be erratic but it will be extremely dangerous if going right. Both members of it are spectacular in the extreme when "right."

Cliff Herd, who just got through making the German Fleet surrender, and Kenny Hawks who, would have been an ace except for the fact that he didn't get a chance to learn to fly until a few days before the armistice, are a pair of sluggers pure and simple. Both hit the ball with a mighty right and if it lights inside the court nobody is likely to return it. If it doesn't light inside the court it usually doesn't light within a couple of miles of the scene of battle. They are powerful but erratic and on a good day are liable to scare either Browne and Wayne or McLoughlin and Bundy to death.

Injunction Granted!

Benjamin Plug Cluster Patent No. 759962

TWO-WAY

The Benjamin Two-Way Plug (or Benjamin No. 92), an American device, manufactured by an American Company, is being infringed upon by a Japanese device, manufactured by a Japanese company.

A preliminary injunction has recently been granted by the United States District Court for the Northern District of California, at San Francisco, in a suit brought by the Benjamin Electric Manufacturing Company against Samuel Ran for infringement of Benjamin Patent No. 759962.

Benjamin 92

A similar injunction was also recently granted by the United States District Court for the Western District of Washington, at Seattle, against R. M. Burton for infringement of the same patent. The plug clusters marketed by Ran and Burton, and enjoined by the courts, were of Japanese manufacture.

The Benjamin Electric Manufacturing Company is the owner of Benjamin Patent No. 759962 and the Benjamin Company and its licensees (Harvey Hubbell, Inc., Bryant Electric Co., Ajax Electric Specialty Co.) are the only ones authorized to make and sell devices embodying the invention of the above patent. Infringers of the patent will be vigorously prosecuted.

The Two-Way Plug, made by the Benjamin Company, is known to the trade and public as Benjamin "92" and Benjamin Two-Way Plug.

In imitation of this, the Japanese device has been marketed under the name "Benjamin 92" or "No. 92."

Be sure you get the genuine Benjamin Two-Way Plug—the "Benjamin 92."

The Benjamin Company has a Pacific Coast House at 590 Howard Street, San Francisco, and the genuine article is handled by all electrical distributors and dealers.

In addition to the Benjamin Two-Way Plug, the Benjamin Electric Manufacturing Company has facilities for supplying high grade reflectors, industrial lighting fixtures, wiring devices and other electrical apparatus, enameled ware, castings, stampings and spinnings in steel, all of which are manufactured in America by skilled American workmen, who receive America's standard of just compensation.

CIGARETTE SMOKERS of America: Crack this nut in your own teeth

If there were any other tobacco in the world as mild or as good for cigarettes as Turkish tobacco—do you think that S. Anargyros would maintain a small army of trained experts in the Orient, 4000 miles from home—to select, buy, grade and pack Turkish tobacco—then pay ocean freight, plus 35c a pound import duty?

Of course not—nor would our competitors use a single leaf of Turkish tobacco if in any other tobacco grown they could find a substitute for the "dash" of Turkish which they put into their "bundle" cigarettes to make them smokable—and without which they would be lost.

Our competitors know all this. They harp on "part Turkish" and "blend of Turkish" and "paper packages" in place of a box. In fact they make many skillful apologies, which they hope will in part take the place of 100% Pure Turkish Tobacco.

Now here is the nut—and we will crack it for you.

Murads are 100% Pure Turkish Tobacco, the World's most famous Tobacco for cigarettes. They are the proverbial "whole loaf"—not half loaf or part of a loaf.

They are, for protection, packed in cardboard boxes. A hen lays her eggs in a shell for protection. If you prefer them without the shell, you get scant protection and much scrambling.

You ask the question, "Are Murads so much better than the other kind of cigarettes?" The answer is: More than twice as good—and we have here told you why.

Are Murad 100% pure Turkish "whole loaf" cigarettes more expensive? YES. All 100% good things cost more and are worth more than half good or imitation good.

Cigarette smokers of America: People of your class and enlightenment know these things and appreciate them. We are proud to say to you that ordinary cigarettes cost a trifle less than Murads. Think it over. The reasons are before you. Judge for yourself! In the long run the public makes no mistakes.

Remember, every package of Murad is sold under a guarantee.

REPORTS FISHING GOOD AT HUENEME.

Reports have been obtained from Oscar Lane, of the Tufts-Lyon Company, that Hueneme, on the coast near Oxnard, was a dandy spot in which to fish for yellowfin and corbina. Lane, with his wife, and Julius Teitslaz, besides Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kling all made the trip last Sunday and enjoyed some fine angling. So good was the sport that the party has planned to make a return trip very soon.

CELMARS READY FOR ROBINSON.

Conqueror of Budd Starr to Box Northerner.

Good Card of Six Bouts at Doyle's Tonight.

Kramer and Rosselli to Furnish Semi-Windup.

Johnny Celmars, former soldier boxer, who showed the local fight fans last Tuesday night that he was there when it came to boxing, and Jack Robinson of San Francisco, were the lads lined up to box the main event of the card to be staged at Jack Doyle's Vernon arena this evening.

Celmars made his first appearance before local fight fans last Tuesday evening when he easily defeated Bud Starr. He is a former soldier and while serving in Uncle Sam's army whipped all the boxers in the middleweight division in his cantonment.

Jack Robinson has been going good lately and is expected to do some fast work in his bout with the newcomer. Both the lads carry a k.o. wallop in their right hand, and plenty of mixing is expected.

The semi-windup will be between Danny Kramer and Charlie Rosselli, two lads who need no introduction to local fight fans. Kramer is expected to use his long left to advantage over Rosselli, while the latter has plenty of speed and a swift right with a hard punch. Both boys have been working hard this week as a loss to either would mean a set back.

BROWN IS FAST.

Henry Gastine and Joe Brown, 125-pounders, and both fast boxers and good mixers have been matched to box one of the preliminaries. Brown is considered as one of the classiest boxers in his division among local scrappers, while Gastine is fast and tricky. This combination should make a good scrap.

Jack Oliver and Willie Moody, Frank Monroe and Pete McCarthy, and Jack Rodgers and Dan Sirlos will make up the remainder of the card.

"Wad" Wadhams, matchmaker of the Vernon Athletic Club, has lined up for the July 4 show what looks like one of the best cards at Jack Doyle's in a long while. It was announced today that the "steady list" or seats reserved every week for the same fans, would not be held for the July 4 bouts. Seat reservations are being made now at the box office of the Vernon Athletic Club.

The July 4 card as announced today by Wadhams was as follows: Mike Doll vs. Young George, 145 pounds; Earl Baird vs. Young Brown, 130 pounds; Willie Robinson vs. Phil Salvadore, 135 pounds; Frankie Garcia vs. Young Farrell, 130 pounds; Bud Starr vs. Eddie Daley, 158 pounds; Gus Williams vs. Chris Romeo, 130 pounds, and Young Papke vs. Jimmy Berry, 133 pounds.

ANGLERS TO HOLD CAUCUS TONIGHT.

The Rod and Reel Club will hold a meeting tonight at 437 South Hill street in order to decide a question of great moment. The point to be solved is whether in weighing fish for club prizes the club's scales should be used, or any scale that happens to be handy. If the method of using anybody's scale is continued, inaccuracy is sure to be the result. J. W. Jump is president of the club. More interest is being shown by the members in fishing this season than ever before.

PLAY FOR COLORED REPRESENTATIVES.

A local tennis tournament will be held next Friday at Santa Monica to select players to represent the Pacific Coast in the national colored tennis tournament, which is scheduled in New York City, August 16-23. This meet will be held under the auspices of the Western Federation of Tennis Clubs. The colored championships of the federation will also be decided at this meet. Miss Fern Caldwell and Eddie Harris, the present champion singles players will defend their titles against thirty or more competitors.

EASTERN GOLFERS BEAT BEST OF WEST.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ST. ANDREWS (N. B.) June 29.—Oswald Kirkby, metropolitan golf champion, and Gardiner White of New York, representing the East, won a series of matches concluded here today from the western team, composed of Charles Evans, national amateur titleholder, and Ned Sawyer, held for the benefit of the Canadian Red Cross. The easterners won three matches, lost two and tied three.

ORPHEUM DANCERS.

MARION MORGAN PRODUCTION IS A SENSATION.

By Grace Kingsley.

Like a penny poppy show to the Follies, like the backyard pump to Yosemite Falls, like an electric sign to a Landseer painting, that's the ordinary dancing act as compared to those truly wonderful Marion Morgan dancers this week at the Orpheum.

Maybe the simile is a bit overdrawn.—I'm still in the thrall of it—but you get the idea. Miss Morgan has gone beyond any of our dance producers. In fact, it verily seems as though she had created a new form of artistic expression along dance lines, toward which she has been working these past four seasons. How many of our ballets, while pleasing, have been pale in meaning, vague in execution. As for me, I've grown weary trying to find out what they were all about, or when I found out, it didn't mean anything in my life; but here, vigorous, vivid, clean-cut, is really tremendous human drama, added to which is supreme gratification of the senses, through exquisite beauty of motion, color and music. Here indeed is drama through which you sit, fairly breathless—drama not of unreal fauns and nymphs—I never met a faun or a nymph in my life, and yet I feel I shall go right on living comfortably—without that experience—but when I viewed this story of the Roman girls carried off from their homes by the Huns, and the drama of Ildica, the Roman maid, and Attila, the Hun, the jealous wife, the tragedy of despoiled youth, of the burning city, it was as though I were witnessing a play—but a play done in such exquisite fashion as to be a new sort of poetry. The subject of the ballet is historical, and is in three scenes, all staged with such real and vivid appeal to the imagination the spectator feels he is in the midst of the scene itself, rather than on the outside. In fact, as in case of all poignant drama, the spectator acts with the players. So that, at the end, one thrills quite beyond words at the suddenly flashed, spectacular scene of the burning city, with the captive martyred girls, their bodies burning flaming at the stakes.

The individual dancers among the principals deserve immense credit for the beauty of their work. Josephine McLean is an exquisite actress as well as a lovely dancer, as Ildica; Charles Haverlin, as Attila, is a virile and impressive character; Cecile Lee as Attila's dishonored wife, is a tragic figure, and the others all contribute to a production which is a sort of gorgeous and amazing harmony, with drama the dominant note.

Dropping down a few thousand feet we come to the remainder of the bill, which includes Thomas F. Swift and Mary H. Kelley in a pleasing little skit called a Vaudeville Vagary; Edwin George, the comedy juggler; Iolleen sisters, in a tight-rope act, Clifford Walker in a talking and singing number; Garcinetti brothers in a novel juggling act, and Bailey and Cowan and Molly McIntyre held over from last week.

But on no account, if you are a lover of dancing or drama or music, should you miss the Morgan Dancers.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN IS TALLY ATTRACTION.

Charlie Chaplin is so popular they had to place him at two houses this week. Not only is he at the Kinema, but he disports himself also at Tally's Broadway, appearing in both places in his newest film comedy, "Sunnyside."

We haven't seen him since "Shoulder Arms," but he's the same quite inimitable Charlie. Others may put on his mustaches and his funny shoes and derby hat—they may look a lot like Charlie—on the outside, so to speak, but there still remains the one and only Charlie of imaginative fire, quaint appeal, exquisite humor, the power to make us even cry when he wants to. That's the Charlie nobody else ever has been or ever will be. "Sunnyside" has so many funny touches it has to be seen to be appreciated.

All lovers of Charlie Chaplin—and if there is anybody who isn't he keeps it dark nowadays—will rejoice in "Sunnyside."

An additional feature of unusual interest is the Chester travelogue, in which there is an alligator hunt, which has both thrilling and amusing features, and is done in the thoroughly human way which Mr. Chester has discovered.

Tom Mix, Oracle.

Tom Mix says, "Just think of all the family skeletons nowadays that will be moved out of closets to make room for that which cheers and also inebriates!"

"THE CHILDREN PAY" IS IMPRESSIVE FILM.

Anyone who pays to see "The Children Pay," expecting to behold a clinical orgy of suffering childhood, will be disappointed. The play, which is at the Rialto, is not nearly so didactic as it sounds, either.

In fact, in places it is so human, so realistic, it might be a record of a Juvenile Court case. It rises to no sensational heights, it has in fact no highly dramatic situations beyond that perhaps in which the clergyman father of the girl gone wrong is called upon to wed his daughter's seducer to another woman.

But even this situation is spoiled by a theatrical effect which apparently the director could not resist, when he made the father wait to denounce the boy at the altar! In general, however, the dreary and photographic truthfulness in the tale is preserved—a realism from which it is not raised or glorified for one moment by the golden light of imagination, without which no work of fiction is a real contribution to art. Whenever the author attempts such flight of imagination, the story becomes unreal, and yet the stark facts hold you.

In any case, the picture remains an impressive one. It is worked out to a logical if painful conclusion. By the by, the only way in which we can escape the happy ending, it would seem, no matter how far-fetched and obvious the effort to bring about that result, is in the case of a play which aims to teach us a lesson. And God knows that all such attempts are pitiful. For who, but Himself, knows the manner or time or fashion of the meting out of His justice? And how often that punishment is accomplished in obscure and entirely unspectacular fashion! As for "The Children Pay," it really narrowly escapes being great drama; if its author had had the glorious gift of real imagination, it would have been such. As it is, though logical, it is dreary—the boy, neglected by his father, dying of a diseased body, the girl, shattered by hardship, leaning on her father's breast with heart-break in her upturned face. Gareth Hughes does marvelous work as the boy.

As for the production, much of the photography is not very good, and some of the action jerky. Nevertheless, despite its faults, you might go much farther for your photodrama and fare much worse. You will be very, very far from being cheated if you go to see "The Children Pay."

Ann May Engaged.

It looks as though Ann May, the beautiful and clever young actress, and heress in her own right to a great deal of money, would shortly become a star.

Miss May has been engaged by Metro to play the leading role of Lida with Bert Lytell in the film version of "Lombardi, Ltd.," this being the principal feminine role outside that made famous by Grace Valentine. Work will be begun today under direction of Jack Conway.

Miss May is one of the youngest and loveliest and most promising young women of the screen. She graduated from a dramatic school in Minneapolis, and came West almost immediately, taking work at Universal, playing leads in a series of comedies of youth put out by that concern. But she longed for serious work, and though receiving offers from a number of companies, including Lasky, she waited for just the part she wanted, and it seems as if now she had secured her big chance.

An element of mystery is injected in the young actress' professional activities by the fact that Ann May is not her real name, and that she doesn't intend to give it to the public until she feels her screen work will be a credit to her family. And we'll say that time isn't far off!

Priscilla Dean Vacations.

Priscilla Dean, who is almost as rosy as she was before her long illness with pneumonia, has gone to British Columbia, to recuperate. She is ably and pleasantly chaperoned by Myrtle Gibsone, of the capable firm known as the Mabel Condon Exchange.

Louise Dresser Ditto.

Louise Dresser is vacationing in Los Angeles, preparatory to commencing rehearsals with G. M. Anderson's new production, "Just Around the Corner," which is to be put on in San Fracisco in the fall.

Hector Turnbull Here.

Hector Turnbull, formerly scenario writer with the Lasky Company, but who went away to war and returned Capt. Turnbull, is in the city, at the Hollywood Hotel, with his bride, who formerly was Mrs. Samuel Goldwyn. Mr. Turnbull is writing a play.

Fear Note.

The news of the earth temblors that caused great loss of life in Italy yesterday, put Director-General Maxwell Karger and all the Metroites on the anxious seat. Richard A. Rowland, president of Metro Pictures Corporation, is on his way to Rome, and it is understood he is in the vincinity of the quakes. Both the New York and Los Angeles offices of the film concern are awaiting a cable that will verify his safety.

Mason Players Arrive.

The eastern contingent of the Henry Miller and Blanch Bates company, to appear at the Mason Opera-house, the week of July 7, in "Moliere," th sensational success by Philip Moeller, will arrive from New York over the Salt Lake Route, at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon. Thirty-seven people and the double stage crew and baggage cars containing the elaborate production come on this train. On Thursday morning, coming on the Lark from San Francisco, will be a dozen or more of the other members of the company, who have been in San Francisco, including Mr. Miller and Miss Bates, and additional baggage cars. Both sections of the company will assemble at the Mason Operahouse Thursday morning for rehearsals, although few rehearsals are required, as the company, with slight changes, is the same that appeared at the Liberty Theater during the long run of the play in New York this spring, Mr. Miller, Miss Bates and several other members came out to San Francisco in advance, where Miss Chatterton is now playing an engagement in "The Merrie Month of May," in which she appears here in a few weeks.

DENISHAWN GIRLS DANCE AT PANTAGES.

With a big vaudeville bill, headed by a troupe of pretty and graceful Denishawn dancers, the Stampede Riders as an added feature, and with the daring shimmy dancers repeating their successes of the past three weeks, Pantages Theater offers one of the best shows of the season. At the opening matinee, yesterday, there was a regular holiday crowd, waiting for the doors to open, for apparently there are still many Los Angeles people who have not been able to get seats to witness the much-exploited shimmy, so they came early on Monday. Ordinarily, an act like the exotic shimmeyers would not be held over at Pantages for a second week, but it became quite apparent to Manager Carl Walker before the end of the first week, that the public was wild about the new dance. This impression was strengthened during the following two weeks, so the troupe are now entering on their fourth successful week. They are continuing their regular programme of dances this week, with a few minor additions.

The Denishawn dancers, who are presented this week under the direction of Ted Shawn and Ruth St. Denis, show the results of the supervision of these master minds, and they present what is probably the most alluring and enticing of their delightful dance numbers. All of the girls in the act live in Los Angeles, and the Pantages boxes were liberally patronized yesterday by their friends and relatives.

A most unusual vaudeville feature was presented by Guy Weadick and his associates, including Flores LaDue, the champion lady roper, and Dan Dix, an adept in all cowboy accomplishments. They appear in "Stampede Riders," which reproduces on the stage a most entertaining and astonishing revue of fun in a real cow camp, with bucking ponies, a comical trick mule, roping, shooting, etc.

The shimmy dancers gave a resume of the popular society dances, followed by the shimmy, as it is danced at Vernon, Frisco, etc. Eddie Ross tickled his banjo and kept the audience in roars at his comedy. Jimmie Britt related his experiences in the ring as champion; Gordon & Day exhibited some fast bicycle riding; Master Charles Lloyd sang some nice songs and there is a comedy picture featuring Billy West in "Her Tenderfeet."

TRUCK DRIVER HURT IN HITTING STREET CAR.

Pinned beneath his truck when it was struck and overturned by a street car at Seventh and Mateo streets yesterday, W. H. Orr, 29 years of age, of 2600 Merced street, sustained a fracture of the right arm and many lacerations and bruises about the head and body. At the Receiving Hospital, where the injured man was rushed for treatment, it was stated he will recover.

According to police detectives who investigated the accident, Orr drove his truck in front of the street car and then seemed to lose control of the machine.

UNDERSEA THRILLS.

BATTLE 'NEATH WATER CLIMAX OF GRAUMAN FEATURE.

By Edwin Schallert.

Culminating in a struggle between hero and villain in the depths of the sea, "The White Heather" at Grauman's this week, brings to the screen an unusual type of super-thrill. The story was taken from a Drury Lane melodrama, and was produced by Maurice Tourneur, the famous Williamson brothers' effects being used to achieve the climax.

Few things seem more weird than the grotesque motions of a human being in a diving suit in the shadowy green water. The camera is perhaps the only means by which this effect can be made apparent for the public. The Williamsons have the method of reality in their undersea photography that creates a very gripping illusion. In "White Heather" the two ponderous figures in diving suits grapple and struggle each endeavoring to sever with a knife the air pipe of the other. The effect of the climax is heightened by the darkinging of the theater.

The plot of "White Heather" concerns the snobbery of landed nobility of Scotland. The scion of the family marries the girl while they are on a yacht trip through a simple contract in the presence of witnesses, such a marriage being binding under the Scottish law. The vessel is wrecked and the marriage certificate is lost. The husband later refuses to recognize his natural-law wife. The plot appears machine made in the approach to the climax, but the finish has plenty of excitement.

Mabel Ballin, who plays the role of the girl, is a good Scotch type, with beauty and charm of personality. Ben Alexander again proves his remarkable cleverness in a child role, and the other members of the cast are effective.

The scenes in London's dock quarter are atmospherically colorful, and Mr. Tourneur's choice of types reveals his knowledge of things foreigns.

A smart Mack Sennett comedy, "Hearts and Flowers," kept the audience in a perpetual ripple of laughter with its new slapstick effects. They even play baseball with a man (dummy) in this feature to add to the uproar.

The novelty number, a baritone solo, has a setting in keeping with the motif of the sea.

LEAGUE PROPONENTS START WORK TONIGHT.

WILL APPOINT GENERAL COMMITTEE TO REPRESENT ENTIRE COUNTY.

The Executive Committee which was chosen here Sunday and charged with the work of disseminating propaganda in favor of the League of Nations will meet in parlor A at the Hotel Alexandria tonight at 8 o'clock to appoint a general committee which will represent every city and town in Los Angeles county.

William M. Bowen is chairman of the Executive Committee. The other members are Marshall Stimson, Stanley W. Wilson, Mrs. Matthew S. Robertson, Louis M. Cole, Bishop Cantwell, Lorin A. Handley and Mrs. Force Parker.

As soon as the general committee is named steps will be taken to organize a speakers' bureau which will be directed by Marshall Stimson, who was chairman of the four-minute-men of this county during the war. Meetings at which the League of Nations will be strongly advocated are to be held in every city during the next few weeks. Prominent civic and commercial organizations will be asked to adopt resolutions in favor of the league, and these will be forwarded to California Senators.

INSOMNIA AS CAUSE OF LAWYER'S SUICIDE.

OLD RESIDENT OF THE CITY FOUND DEAD IN OFFICE BY HIS PARTNER.

Frank L. Binford, 66 years of age, of 159 South Olive street, a well-known attorney and resident of Los Angeles for over 45 years, early yesterday morning shot himself through the head while sitting at his desk in his law offices in a downtown building. The body was discovered by his law partner, former State Senator R. F. Del Valle.

According to Mr. Del Valle, his partner arrived at the office at about 7 a.m. yesterday. He complained of ill health and stated that he had been suffering from insomnia. At about 8 a.m. Mr. Del Valle left the office and did not return until about 10 a.m. He then discovered the dead body of his partner. A revolver was found clutched in Mr. Binford's right hand.

Mr. Binford was a single man and, with the exception of Hal M. Binford, his brother, living at 1819 South Van Ness avenue, has no relations living in the West. He was well known in legal circles in this city and for many years was a member of the bar in this State.

The body was removed to the Bresee Bros.' undertaking parlors.

MUST BE CONSISTENT.

Council Tells Treasury Watchdog to be Economical, Too.

The City Auditor, whose duty it is to try to keep other city departments "out of the red," or from contracting debts when they haven't the money in the proper funds therefor, cannot with impunity overexpend funds for his own office. This the City Council made plain yesterday, when a motion was lost to permit him to transfer certain moneys to other funds where there exists a deficit. It takes at least six votes to authorize such transfers, and the vote stood five to three—Councilmen Mallard, Criswell and Conrad voting against the proposal.

The Council also refused to grant a transfer of $8000 to the fire department for contractural services. It was stated that this money was needed to pay for work on fire equipment now in the municipal machine shops. The new budget will have to take care of this situation.

DISCARD GIRLS AS BELL HOPS.

Today Old Order's Restored in San Diego and Men Respond to "Front."

"Goodby, little girl, goodby," is what the guests at the U. S. Grant Hotel in San Diego said last night to the bell girls for with the coming of the new fiscal year the "bell hops" are to be all of the male persuasion. Seven girls are replaced by five young men in the hotel.

The management says the girls, who were pressed into service when the man power of the nation was being used entirely on war work, did well but now the war is over there has come a strong demand that men should once more answer the call of "front" and so the bell girls have sought fresh jobs.

SENTENCE EDMONDSON.

Venice Police Chief Job Lure in Conspiracy, Prosecutor Says.

William Frank Edmondson, a former private detective, was given a sentence of six months in the County Jail and a fine of $100, by United States District Judge Trippet, yesterday, on his plea of guilty of having smoking opium in his possession.

Edmondson figured in the hearing of the Hill-Proffitt-Homg Hong opium conspiracy case, although it did not appear that he had anything to do with the stuff, except that he agreed to sell a part of the drug taken from the Chinese.

Assistant United States District Attorney Lawson stated to the court that he did not think Edmondson had profited at all by the deal, and said that his evidence had done much to convict both Hill and Proffitt. He further said that Edmondson felt under obligations to his fellow officers, Hill and Proffitt, and hoped to land the job of Chief of Police at Venice by doing their bidding.

The plea of not guilty was withdrawn, on the part of Edmondson, to the count of the indictment charging him with having anything to do with the transportation of the opium from the Pasadena store, and it is expected that this particular count will be dismissed by order of the Attorney-General.

RAISE FLAG ON SITE OF OLD FORT MOORE.

Members of the National Society, United States Daughters of 1812, at noon yesterday participated in a flag-raising ceremony on the site of old Fort Moore, above the Broadway tunnel. The flag is the gift of the city, and was flung to the breeze with simple but appropriate ceremonies.

SEVENTH-STREET SCHOOL ASSURED.

CONTRACT WILL, IT IS SAID, BE AWARDED THIS WEEK. USE GENERAL FUNDS.

The Board of Education last night considered the construction of the Seventh-street school, and recommended that the contract be let. The Building Committee will probably award the contract this week. A resolution was adopted at the meeting regarding the awarding of the building contract which read in part: "Whereas, on May 26, 1919, the County Counsel rendered an opinion indicating that the Board of Education may only use the general funds for erection of school buildings when directed by a vote of the people."

Another section of the resolution reads:

"Whereas, the president and secretary of this board have verbally signified that they are willing to sign contracts for the erection of said building, payable from general funds, when authorized by a court of competent jurisdiction to sign such contracts;

"Now, therefore, be it resolved, that the sum of $122,000 be appropriated from the general funds to pay the cost of said proposed Seventh street (now known as Coronel) school building."

The auditor's report read at the meeting indicates there is sufficient money in the general fund to pay for the erection of the building, but not enough in the high school building fund. The auditor intimated last night that there was no such fund as a high school building fund.

NOTED ART LECTURER AND STUDENT TAKEN.

MISS LOCKE, VALUED MEMBER OF RUSKIN CLUB, DIES AFTER OPERATION.

Friends and associates of Miss Josephine C. Locke, 338 South Alvarado street, widely-known art student and lecturer, were informed yesterday that Miss Locke died in this city last Sunday evening of complications following an operation.

The deceased, a valued member of the Ruskin Art Club of Los Angeles, was especially known for her intimate knowledge of and sympathy for the Japanese people and their culture.

Miss Locke, who was 68 years of age, was formerly superintendent of art in the Chicago schools and later curator of the Art Institute there. She lived several years in China and Japan, studying Oriental life and development in her chosen field.

During the last few years she had resided in Los Angeles and had taken an active part in the flairs of the Ruskin Club.

Arrangements for the funeral have not yet been made.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, June 30.—Trading in stocks today occasionally was reminiscent of the dullness and hesitation which in pre-war times marked the advent of the new fiscal year and its attendant uncertainties.

Despite last week's better bank statement, call money opened at 6 to 6½ per cent., rising later to 8 for mixed loans, and 10 for all industrials, indicating increased discrimination against the latter form of collateral.

The new order created by the Versailles treaty found no very clear reflection in the course of quoted values.

Transportations shared only moderately in the day's movement excepting Texas and Pacific, which was again responsive to substantial accumulation.

Rubber issues related to the motor division extended last Saturday's gains, Ajax, Keystone, Kelly-Springfield and United States rubber recording gross advances of 2 to 7 points, but motors were relatively backward.

Food shares came next in speculative favor, Wilson Packing, Jewel Tea and Corn Products rising 3 to 5 points, with affiliated issues, notably American Can and Continental Can.

Baldwin and American Locomotives, Central Foundry, common and preferred, Central Leather, Hide and Leather pfd., American Woolen, American Express and International Paper were conspicuous among the other strong stocks. Sales amounted to 1,125,000 shares.

Bonds, including Liberty and international issues, were inclined to ease fractionally. Total sales, par value $10,800,000.

Old United States bonds were unchanged on call.

BANKER POINTS PEACE LESSON.

those devolving upon the present one. And the sooner it undertakes the solution of the vast problems now awaiting its consideration the better.

There must be no partisan politics to obstruct our national economic development. We are facing a new era in legislative duty and administrative service, as well as in business, industry and finance.

There seems to be no doubt that one of the first duties which Congress must assume will be a revision of the whole range of war and income tax legislation. At least, as to the practical workings of those measures. It appears very clear for instance, that there is much duplicate assessment under the revenue act of 1918, and the present income tax handicaps enterprise and penalizes thrown, with the inevitable result of retarding trade improvement.

The government must awaken to the fact that we cannot continue to do peace business on a war cost basis. Common sense but rigid economy is imperatively needed. It would have been far more sensible and serviceable if the government had stabilized expenditures, under proper budget, instead of vainly endeavoring to stabilize the prices of commodities, for every unjustified and reckless expenditure by the government not only adds to the already heavy burdens of the taxpayer, but also increases the cost of living and exacts a monetary tribute from those who can ill spare their earnings for the so-called "paternalistic" government to squander.

RETURN OF RAILROADS.

Certainly no more momentous question is pending before Congress than that involved in the return of the railroads and which must be answered within seven months. And in this connection it desire, incidentally to call your attention to a national campaign, which has just been launched by the railway brotherhoods affiliated with the Federation of Labor, to compel every candidate for national office to declare his position on government ownership and operation of the railroads. This movement is the first definite step which the brotherhoods have taken to turn the roads over to themselves as they have proposed in their plan for "solving" the transportation problem.

The danger of such a scheme for exerting political coercion does not lie so much in its chances of success as in its principles and practicalness in its undemocratic character and the possible, far-reaching reactions. It is nothing less than an attempt to impose class politics and class legislation upon the country for the benefit of less than 2 per cent. of the population and to the decided detriment of the other 98 per cent. of the people.

Whatever plan Congress evolves for the regeneration of the railroads, their rightful owners, there can be no question about the imperative necessity for ample provision to rehabilitate and maintain the credit of the roads, thereby enabling them to meet their financial needs in order to render adequate public service and to expand in unison with the business progress of the country. There must be assurance to private capital of a minimum and adequate return. There must be provided opportunity for private capital to earn more than a minimum, so that the spirit of enterprise and private initiative may be preserved and fostered; there must be simplified and centralized regulation, which will free the railroads from the conflicts and waste of the former multiple system of regulation; there should be community of interests between the railroad corporations and the government on an equitable basis of profit sharing and representation in control; there should be repealed all legislation compelling uneconomic operation and preventing consolidations and unifications; there should be Federal regulation of wages as well as of rates.

SHIPPING PROGRAMME.

Another crying need of the day is a definite shipping programme, which will create an adequate merchant marine for this country. Never again should Americans pay $200,000,000 a year in ocean freight rates to foreign ship owners and never again should war find us dependent on foreign ships.

All governmental restrictions on American shipbuilding should be removed. Our shipping laws should be amended to permit American vessels to compete with those of other nations upon an equitable basis. All our merchant marine should be owned and operated by private business interests with proper government supervision and co-operation. Only by the adoption of such measures can the United States hold its rightful place in foreign trade. There is imperative need, also, for an active, practical democratization of industry.

COTTON MARKET OPENS 6 TO 24 POINTS HIGHER.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, June 30.—The cotton market opened 6@24 points higher, but eased off on profit taking. There was renewed firmness in the early afternoon on covering by early sellers, who were evidently disappointed that liquidation for over the government report had not been more active. October sold at 33.71, with active months showing net advances of 35 to 40 points around 2 o'clock.

LIVE-STOCK BUREAU CLOSES

Cattlemen Here no Longer to Get Benefit of Daily Government Figures.

The closing yesterday of live-stock offices of the United States Bureau of Markets on the Pacific Coast is greatly regretted by everyone connected with this important industry, from the producer to the distributor. Lack of sufficient funds to carry on the work of guiding live-stock producers and farmed-meat buyers as to when to buy or sell on a favorable market is the reason, according to F. P. Allen, the local representative.

The annual appropriation bill for the Agricultural Department was passed by both Houses of Congress, but provided funds for only a pre-war basis of operation, which necessitated the curtailment of many important offices among them the Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, Salt Lake, Denver, Pittsburgh and Louisville live-stock bureaus.

A bill pending in Congress, known as the Kendrick Bill, which would make the live-stock offices all over the United States a permanent part of the Department of Agriculture, has the support of all the important live stock and meat interests, both large and small, throughout the country. It is thought this bill will finally become law, in which case the local office will be reopened as a permanent feature of live-stock marketing in Los Angeles.

Among the many activities of the Bureau of Markets, the local live-stock office held an important part, occupying a suite of rooms in the International Bank Building, convenient to both wholesale and retail districts, the offices were connected by leased wire with San Francisco, Portland, Salt Lake, Denver, Kansas City, St. Louis, Omaha, Chicago, Boston, New York, Washington and other eastern and southern cities, and were in hourly touch with the meat and live-stock market variations in every market center in the United States.

As representative sales were made on the Chicago and other live-stock markets, the leased wire caused the reports to all cities on the circuit, including Los Angeles. These reports, showing local dealers how to buy and to sell, were printed in bulletin form and dispatched to those interested shortly after the sales were consummated.

Before the local office was established, producers, packers and retailers who sought information to guide them in their transactions, were compelled to accept the opinion of but one dealer, who supplied the local papers with information. But government figures were obtained from the cattle market, unbiased and thoroughly reliable, under the Federal regime.

Many trainloads of live stock left Southern California from the first of April up to June 20, for the large eastern centers, and producers who shipped this stock were guided by the reports of the local office.

Mr. Allen, who has had charge of the work in this city, has resigned his position to accept a very lucrative offer from one of the local packers to buy cattle. An offer of assignment to take charge of the Salt Lake and Ogden live-stock market supervision was frowned upon by Mr. Allen, as this would take him from Southern California, where he wishes to make his permanent home. Mr. Allen was transferred to this office from Philadelphia, where he was in charge of all the Bureau of Markets offices a year ago.

Eat more meat, beef and lamb particularly, or the present high prices will look small by comparison with those of five years from now, according to a statement given out yesterday by W. J. Carmichael, chairman of a nation-wide conference of live stock men in Chicago.

Mr. Carmichael says the live stock raiser is in a panic because of the great overproduction in live stock throughout the country, and fears the bottom will drop out of the market, forcing the growers to market their stock at a tremendous loss. He says if this happens the live stock people will not take up cattle raising again, and that in five years we will be facing a famine in meats, and resulting high prices which will make those of war time look cheap. His statement reads as follows:

"(1.) It is reported that producers are desperately discouraged by the present beef and lamb situation. If it continues they will be forced to reduce their herds. Many of them already are suffering serious losses.

"The following facts were developed at the conference:

"(1.) Production in the last eighteen months, stimulated by war needs, has surpassed all records. Cattle which were raised at government request are still maturing, but martial demands for beef have virtually ceased. Vast quantities produced for export are now being thrown back on the domestic market in greater volume than home consumption is going. Furthermore, many persons, continuing sumptuary habits formed during the war, but now unnecessary, are neglecting lamb and holding back on beef. Others disdain the economical cuts, which require some time and care in cooking.

"(2.) A continuance of these tendencies means that cattle and beef prices will temporarily be driven still lower, despite the fact that beef is now the cheapest meat food. The reduction, however, will be short lived. Ultimately herds will be necessarily cut down, and prices will rise steadily.

"(3.) This prospect always has constituted one of the most serious food problems confronting the United States. Per capita production of sheep and cattle until last year has been losing ground hopelessly in its race with growth of population, with ascending prices as a consequence. Meat production of 191.8 pounds per capita in 1917 compares grievously with 248.2 pounds in 1900. If a part of the public, by continuing its discrimination against lamb and beef, forces the farmer to revert to the old ratio of increasing population and diminishing per capita production, the effect on prices is apparent and inevitable.

"At the conclusion of the conference the stockmen called in representatives of several hundred packing companies. Plans were formulated, for an educational campaign designed to show the public that no necessity for conservation of beef and lamb now exists, that there is an abundance of these meats, that beef has declined materially, and is now the cheapest meat food, and that a continuance of the present situation holds the menace of overproduction and high prices.

"Steps will be taken to show that consumption should be adjusted to market conditions, and that the people are now discriminating to their own cost against the cheapest meat—beef—which has been accumulated in abundance.

"Delegates attending the conference included representatives of the range interests, national swine and sheep interests, live stock organizations in the South, and the State organizations of Texas, Kansas, Illinois, Missouri, Indiana, Iowa, Nebraska and the Eastern States."

CHICAGO GRAINS ARE IN THE MAIN BEARISH.

PRESSURE COMES FROM LOCAL TRADERS AND TIRED HOLDERS LIQUIDATING.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, June 30.—Pressure on grains came largely from local traders who were in the main bearish and from tired holders who were leading. Oats in Minneapolis closed ¾ to ⅞ lower and rye futures there ⅝@1c lower with barley 1@1¾ lower. Winnipeg had a holiday.

Congestion developed in July corn after a break of ½c early. A wave of short covering disclosed the fact that small longs had sold out last week and that there was little for sale. A jump of 3½c followed to 1.81 or within 2½c liquidating especially the July. On the breaks July was picked up by cash interests. News on the whole favored the bears with the exception of a bullish corn report and at the close, while prices were not the highest, net gains were ⅛@1¼c. Oats acted weak as stocks are increasing and closed ⅛ to 1¼c lower in Chicago. Corn in the Southwest finished ¼@⅜c higher and oats ⅛@1½c lower. Kansas City of the best price of the season. The bulge brought out increased offerings but the undertone was strong to the close with final trades at 81.78½. Fluctuations of ½c between trades were the rule, rather than the exception.

The action of the July served to shake bearish confidence. While the close was on a moderate reaction from the top, there were fair net gains, with September 1.78⅛ and December 1.54⅝. Stubborn resistance was shown to bear pressure throughout the day, and the break in oats had only a temporary effect.

Oats showed fair strength early with corn, but liquidation set in later in the July, belated longs without license selling freely. Final trades were at 67½ for July, 67⅞ for September and 69 for December.

Buy Stock in a Company With $10,000 a Day Income? Here You Are!!

Well No. 21 Is In! With the Drill Barely Into the Sand This Well Is Producing 2,500 Barrels of Oil a Day!

Every Ounce of Steam—Every Effort Is Being Used and Made to Drill This Well Into the Big Pool—Looks Like a Sure 5,000 Barrel Producer

Well No. 2 is now drilling—in the very same formation as the monster that has just come in. No. 3—the rig is up and will be under steam at the earliest date possible. If you want action you will get it here! Just stop and think. One of these wells in and two more drilling—others following in quick succession, in the same formation as the WORLD FAMOUS BURK-WAGGONER, THRIFT NO. 2, KING 8, GOLCONDA, TEXAS CHIEF, and the spectacular UNITED WELL. REMEMBER—The Bradley Company has 21 producing wells and a full ¼ royalty in 160 acres, Block 74, Burkburnett, that is now making 7000 barrels a day with 20 rigs pounding into the ground for more OIL.

ONLY A LIMITED ALLOTMENT of this MONEY MAKING STOCK is open to your subscription! Offered you on the very eve of drilling in—what the consensus of opinion is free in saying—will be one of the big GUSHERS of the TEXAS FIELDS. We do not want that you believe we are insistent—but we do know that a great many fortunes have been lost for the want of a minute. This is a DO-IT-NOW PROPOSITION!

There are a number of outstanding features of this Company which we are herewith setting forth for your information—yet, this leaves so many just as good that it would take pages to tell you of the broad activities of this organization. Space is limited—it costs money—we are selling this issue as cheaply as possible—it is you who receives the benefit.

$10,000 INCOME DAILY.

The present income of this Company is over $10,000 daily. There are few if any other companies offering their shares to the public who can show a like amount. Yes, even a portion of such an income! Look at the stock quotations on any of these stocks! You will be convinced that a stock in a company like The Bradley Company, located, producing and drilling in such locality is an investment and as well a speculation. When Bradley Co. drill in, the market on this stock will go to the sky—your dividends coming in every month will gain for you and the little family, many things that have so very long past been luxuries. We are confident that in view of the other stocks in companies that surround us, that this stock will be worth 10 for 1 in a very short time.

ACTION IS THE KEY NOTE!

It is needless for us to tell you of the vast money-making possibilities in TEXAS OIL STOCKS—you know that—but often you do not know in what company to invest your money. Let us say now, here is a stock that will make more money for the stockholders than any issue that has been opened to the public in many a day.

EVERY REASON.

There is a reason for everything! Here are the reasons why Bradley Company are destined to be one of the greatest organizations of the year. Well No. 21 is producing 2500 barrels of oil a day, while not yet into the sand—being but 18 feet—but on the same formation which has produced the MILLION-MAKER BURK-WAGGONER, and well No. 2 now drilling. Two additional wells to follow in quick succession. The valuation surrounding this acreage is going SKY HIGH—single acres bring fortunes! They are fortune-makers long before the rigs are up!

DIVIDE YOUR INTERESTS.

THIS COMPANY HAVE A TOTAL OF 6000 OIL ACRES in nearly every proven field of TEXAS!—think what this means—in such fields as: RANGER, DESDEMONA, IOWA PARK, HUMBLE, EASTLAND, FALLS, HAMILTON and BELL COUNTIES. FINANCIAL AND TRADE REVIEW.

The total for the month shows an increase over the corresponding month in 1918 of $59,678,978.75.

Although this is a State election year the circumstance will have very little effect upon local business. Because of the rush which comes to the banks as a result of the beginning of a new month, a new fiscal year, and the handling of interest and dividend coupons business will proceed as usual, or more so, in financial circles.

Strawberries and H. C. L.

Strawberries are one of the fruit glories of Southern California. We have boasted that they were almost never out of season. We have quite unostentatiously called the attention of our eastern cousin to the fact that at certain times they could be purchased for as little as 5 cents a box, while 10 cents ordinarily procured the finest, rosiest, fattest berry imaginable. This year the "straws" have been scarce and high. Fifteen cents has been the limit of lowness and most of the time they have been from 20 cents to 30 cents the box. For days at a stretch they have been off the market entirely, a condition never before existent in June. No, there is nothing the matter with the crop. One man told me yesterday that it was the best strawberry year he remembers, and that from a patch of garden three by six feet this amateur had already harvested forty boxes of fine berries. The berry is easily grown, requires comparatively little care and brings excellent return. Why then the scarcity and the high prices? Answer: A practical monopolistic combine on the part of large Japanese growers to keep up the price. This is accomplished by establishing a sales deadline at 8 a.m. All berries not sold at the price fixed by some power, the actual materialization of which is never visible, are automatically taken off the market at that hour and sent to canneries said to be controlled by these same Japanese growers. This keeps a brake on the market, and the free offering and buying by growers and jobbers and retailers is practically a thing of the past. As soon as there is a tendency towards an equalling of demand by supply the source of supply appears to be automatically dammed, and of course the price at once advances. At periodical intervals the supply is stopped altogether and the market is bare of berries for as long as the growers see fit to discipline the consumer. They call it "between season," and claim that there are no ripening berries. It is difficult to prove that this may not be the case, but it is claimed that the canneries are never at a loss for raw material, and that there is no trouble over price adjustment. It may be admitted, in all fairness to the gardener, that labor and boxes are undeniably higher than ever before, but 1½ cents on a box would be a liberal allowance for this additional cost while the berry has advanced from 50 to 150 per cent. Our allen producers are fast learing the tricks of the trade and by canny understandings and much intervisiting bring strange things to pass. It is gradually seeping in upon the consciousness of a lot of folks that "unusual demand," "high costs," and all the rest of the stock excuses may possibly cover other reasons which eventuate to the great advantage of the man with the hoe.

Bank Consolidation.

The announcement of the absorption of the California Savings and Commercial Bank by the Hibernian Savings Bank comes as no surprise to Times readers for it was forecasted in this department weeks ago. It took a long time to go over the books and conform with the multitude of details required in consummating a combination of this character and there have been periods when it looked as though the deal would fall through altogether. State Superintendent of Banks Stern has devoted a good deal of time to the proposition and is of the opinion that the merger is highly desirable inasmuch as the resources of smaller institutions are combined to make a stronger, more virile organization. Pending reorganization and physical rearrangement the business of the combined banks will be transacted in their respective quarters, the California on the first floor and the Hibernian on the second floor of the Hibernian Building at Fourth and Spring streets. Later the Hibernian will occupy the ground floor. There is a tendency throughout the country and which will find further expression in Los Angeles before many years towards mergers of this character. Larger banks with greater resources operating branch institutions are gradually taking the place of the multitude of small banks which flourished in an earlier day.

P. G. & E. Expands.

The Pacific Gas & Electric Co. has offered to purchase, according to reports, all of the Northern California Power Company, Consolidated, $10,000,000 stock at $34 a share. The Northern California is developing 30,000 horse power of hydro-electric energy and has machinery ready to install that will increase its output to 50,000 horse power, and has undeveloped possibilities of another 50,000 horse power. The plant investment of the company is said to be $10,760,051 and total assets $18,197,101. In 1918 the gross revenue was $1,154,943; net revenue $661,110 and net income $344,673.

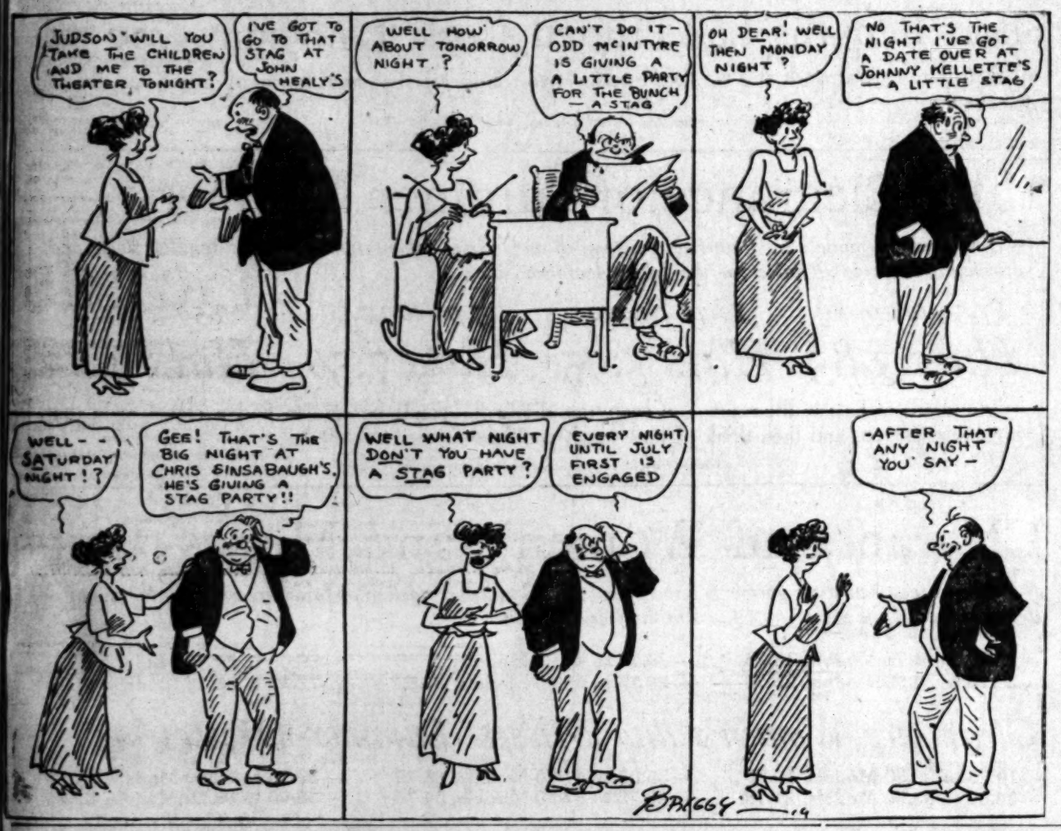
Following the Crowd.

Naturally enough the brokers are following the crowd and changing the burden of their song from the advantages of stock purchases in mines to the advantages of acquiring a wolf chaser via an oil well. The oil boom which is at present sweeping over the southwest is gathering momentum with every day, and even here in Los Angeles speculation is turning largely from the old listed stocks to the new oil offerings. Texas, of course, supplies the bulk of the excitement, and drilling is now going on in 109 out of the 252 counties in that State.

Interest Day.

This is one of the two most interesting days in the year to thousands of depositors and stockholders for it means the disbursements of millions of dollars in interest and dividends. Banks and corporations are all set for the rush and the public purse is receptive.

Oh, Man!



PRODUCE ADVANCES ON ACTIVE MARKET.

WATERMELON PRICES HOLD STEADY UNDER HEAVY OFFERINGS; BERRIES UP.

The local produce market was active throughout the entire session yesterday and all lines of produce moved readily at a moderate advance over Saturday's closing figures. The majority of the arrivals were in first-class condition, with the exception of a few vegetables, which still showed some effects of the recent hot spell.

Lettuce continues to arrive in very poor condition and prices on good stock made a sharp advance during the morning session but eased off at the close, owing to very little demand for offerings at the present high level. Retail dealers bought in the best early on an advancing market and there was very little good stock left for late buyers, who usually appear just before the close and buy at a low level.

Watermelons featured the market, owing to the heavy supply and the quality of the stock offered. Fifty-four cars have arrived on the local market during the past three days and wholesalers have been expecting a sharp decline; but instead, the market held steady, and all offerings were snapped up readily by the local restaurants and shippers. Speculators who have been laying low for the past week appeared on the local 'change and bought up market quantities of melons, with the intention of holding them until Tuesday or Wednesday and selling them at a good profit.

There are very few cherries on the market and prices made a moderate advance for good stock. Most of the arrivals were of very common stock, but trifles on all grades held steady through the session. Berries were also scarce and the majority of the offerings were snapped up quickly at a high level. Dealers refused to bid on the poorer stock and most of it was sold to peddlers at a very low level.

Cantaloupes opened strong and were in fairly good demand. Most of the offerings were in good condition but prices made a fractional decline, nearing the close.

Apricots are appearing in large volume, but a large percentage of the stock is in very poor condition, some of it unfit for local consumption. The arrivals so far have been very small and green. Wholesale dealers predict an advance on good stock during the next ten days and then a sharp drop owing to the fact that the market will be over supplied with first-class stock. The canneries have contracted for a large quantity of the season's crop, but, in view of the immense homegrown crops, the market will be well supplied for the rest of the season.

Other fruits and vegetables closed about steady.

APPLES—New crop, Watsonville White Astrakhans, 1.50@2.75 per box wrapped.

APRICOTS—3 cars arrived. Bulk in lug boxes, 50@8 per pound; lugs, 1.35@1.60.

BEANS—Kentucky Wonders, 6½@7 per pound.

BEETS—40 @ dozen bunches.

BLACKBERRIES—2.75@3.00 per crate of 36 baskets.

CANTALOUPES—9 cars arrived. Demand and movement good; prices slightly higher. Jumbos, 2.00; Green Meats, standards, wrapped and unwrapped, best, 2.50@2.75. Ponys, 2.25@2.50; Flats, 1.00@1.10; Honey Dews, standard crates, 1.52.

CARROTS—35@40 per dozen bunches.

CELERY—Local, best, 1.25 per dozen bunches; poorer, low as 75; crates, best, 4.50 @5.00.

CHERRIES—Resumont and Northern, Royal Annes, best, 14@16 per pound; Lamberts, 16@17 per pound; Bings, 17@18 per pound.

PLAN LAND CONFISCATION.

Authority on Mexico Says Bolshevism had Its Birth Below Border.

to Russia, where it is now bearing its perfect fruit. From its original source in Mexico the evangelists of anarchy hope to introduce it into the United States. They have made no little progress. Among other things, the Carranza movement maintains a press bureau in Washington and another in New York City from which emanate the roseate accounts of conditions in Mexico which appear so frequently in American publications.

"The truth of the matter is that there is no organized government in Mexico, using the word in the universal conception of what constitutes a government. Carranza is merely the nominal head of a movement, and does not even control his own so-called government. The control rests in the hands of military chieftains who acknowledge no allegiance to Carranza except that which is gained through being provided with money. Only ½ of 1 per cent. of the people in Mexico are responsible for the crimes that are committed there.

NO FREE GOVERNMENT.

"The theory of free government, as Americans understand it, is impossible in Mexico. Good government is founded on education, and is impossible without it. Mexico is sunk in an abyss of ignorance. Deceit, corruption, personal and political revenge are the motives animating so-called elections. Instances are on record in which persons reported elected to office were not even candidates on the ballots. Under such circumstances it is not surprising to find that political corruption unequalled in history exists in Mexico. Confusion has been worse confounded by the new constitution, which is out and out Bolshevism in practice. It provides for the confiscation of all property rights, as the civilized world understands them."

In substantiating this statement, Maj. MacDonnell presented as proof a textual translation of Article XXVII of the new constitution of the republic of Mexico whose provisions follow:

"(a) No foreign corporation or individual can legally acquire or hold any mines, oil wells, land or other real property in Mexico unless he renounces his citizenship.

"(b) No corporation, either domestic or foreign, can own agricultural, grazing or other rural lands in Mexico, and if title to such property is already vested in a corporation provision is made for its acquisition by the respective State governments in exchange for State bonds.

"(c) No corporation owning a mine, oil well, factory or other industrial enterprise can hold or acquire land in excess of its actual immediate requirements, the area to be determined by the Federal or State executive.

"(d) No foreign corporation or individual can, under any condition, hold or acquire ownership to lands or waters within sixty miles of its frontiers or thirty miles from the seacoast.

"(e) The ownership to all minerals, solid, liquid or gaseous, is declared to be vested to the nation, regardless of existing rights based upon the old constitution.

"(f) All contracts relating to the acquisition of natural resources made since the year 1876 are subject to revision by the present government and the executive is authorized to declare them null and void."

IS REPRESENTATIVE.

Continuing, Maj. MacDonnell said: "Chaos is the only work which describes the situation, when we attempt to view it as a whole. Racial complications unparellelled in history are intermingled with economic, social and political turbulence of first magnitude. Mexico presents a problem which staggers the mind of the social and political economist. Under such conditions, is it not imperative that America should be aroused to the menace of the southern border. Those who originated the National Association for the Protection of American Rights in Mexico thought so. And no violent protests against its aims and activities have emanated from Washington."

Among the great institutions of America which are sponsoring the association are: The National City Bank, Bankers' Trust Company, Chase National Bank, Guaranty Trust Company, and J. P. Morgan & Co. of New York, the Associated Supply Company of San Francisco, A. M. Lockett & Co., Ltd., of New Orleans; the Beaumont Iron Works of Beaumont, Tex.; the Illinois Malleable Iron Company of Chicago, the National Supply Company of Toledo, O.; the Durango Commercial Company of Detroit, Mich.; Pendleton & Gilkey of Minneapolis, the Carnegie Lead and Zinc Company of Pittsburgh, and Richardson Bros. of Los Angeles.

TWO-CENT RATE AGAIN IN FORCE.

Letter Postage Returns to Pre-war Status; Cards Go Back to a Cent.

The new postage rate of two cents on each ounce and part thereof, on first-class mail, went into effect at midnight last night.

The rate for local or drop letters where there is free delivery is also two cents.

There is no change in the rate on partially closed envelopes, containing advertising matter, which is one cent for each ounce and fraction thereof.

Postmaster Brown gave notice yesterday that the public will be allowed thirty days after today, in which to present their two-cent cards and three-cent envelopes for exchange at full value. After that date postage value only will be allowed for the envelopes and three-fourths of the postage value for the cards.

MEDICINE MAN LOSES DEPORTATION FIGHT.

CLAIM THAT COURT MUST INFORM DEDENDANT OF HIS RIGHTS IS PUNCTURED.

United States District Judge Trippet yesterday dismissed the application for a writ of habeas corpus in behalf of Joaquin Haro, conductor of a Mexican patent medicine concern at 227 Couth Spring street, who had been ordered deported, following a hearing before A. E. Burnett, the immigrant agent in charge, for alleged violation of the alien contract law. Before coming to Los Angeles, Haro, it is said, was a patent attorney in the city of Mexico.

Judge Trippet found that the applicant had been found a subject for deportation on a question of fact, and had no right to demand his release.

The attorney for Haro argued that his client was not a laborer within the meaning of the act, but a member of a learned profession and one who could come into the United States at his pleasure. It was also claimed in his behalf that Haro had not been advised of his right to have counsel and an interpreter until after he had made a statement to the immigration authorities in which he made admissions that resulted in his order of deportation.

Judge Trippet said there was nothing in the Federal law requiring that accused in such cases should be advised of their right to employ counsel.

Proceeding, Judge Trippet said: "It appears that before this case really began that Haro was told he could have counsel, and the fact that he had made a sworn statement before the warrant of his arrest was issued does not indicate that he was in any way deprived of his rights under our laws. This court has no jurisdiction to re-open the case, and can do nothing for this applicant."

CATALINA FLIGHTS TO BEGIN ON FOURTH.

ONE SEAGULL PLANE HERE; OTHERS, ONE TO HOLD EIGHT, COMING.

Preparations are being made by the Sid Chaplin Aircraft Corporation to launch the initial flight of its airline service between the Los Angeles Harbor and Catalina Island on July 4, providing the flying boat which arrived in Los Angeles yesterday can be put in readiness by Thursday. This was the word given out yesterday by Carlyle Robinson, personal representative of Mr. Chaplin, who said that later this week the company hoped to have its daily service to Catalina running.

The first seaboat to arrive was one of the "Seagull" type, four of which were ordered from the Curtiss airplane factory at Garden City, L. I. It reached this city over the Salt Lake road and was immediately taken in hand by Emery H. Rogers, general manager of the new company, a former lieutenant in the aviation branch of the United States Army. Mr. Rogers had the machine hauled to San Pedro, and today will superintend the job of putting it in shape for the maiden flight. Another of the "Seagulls" is expected later this week, word having been received from the Curtiss factory that it has been shipped. One of the "Oriole" type of airplanes ordered by the Chaplin company from the same manufacturer is expected to reach Los Angeles within a week or ten days. This will be put in service at the Hollywood aviation field.

The Chaplin company has also ordered an eight-passenger seaboat of the "Seagull" type for its Los Angeles-Catalina Island service, according to Mr. Robinson. It is expected to arrive here within the next few weeks, and will prove "a sensation," the company heads declare.

BOY FATALLY HURT.

Fell Under a Truck on Which He Had Tried to Ride.

Falling from the rear of a heavy truck beneath the rear wheels Jack Worsley, 11 years of age, of No. 6425 Crescent street, yesterday afternoon received injuries which, according to surgeons, will prove fatal. The boy, according to the police who investigated the accident, must have been stealing a ride on the truck and have lost his balance and been crushed beneath the wheels. Efforts on the part of the police to locate the driver of the truck failed. The accident took place at the intersection of Avenue 52 and Pasadena avenue, and the driver of the machine is not believed by the police to have any knowledge that the youth was riding on the rear of the truck.

TO SAN QUENTIN.

Joseph Jacques, convicted of forgery, was sentenced to from one to fourteen years in San Quentin yesterday by Judge Craig. Jacques was charged with passing a number of forged checks on local banks.

EXPORTS LEAD BY BIG MARGIN

Ship Out Five Times What We Import, Figures Show.

Internal Revenue Receipts Nearly Thirty Millions.

Postal Reports Show Usual Healthy Increases.

High spots in the June report of Collector of Customs Elliott, which was made public, yesterday, were figures showing that the exports from the local customs district for the month just closed, were about five times as large as the imports.

The exports for June, 1919, are valued at $1,092,344; for the preceding month, $1,678,860; for June, 1918, $249,052.

The imports for June, 1919, amount to $239,150; for the preceding month, $260,402; for June, 1918, $202,791.

The collections for June, 1919, were $22,594.13, compared with $17,803.37 for the corresponding month last year. Of the last month's receipts, Los Angeles paid $21,000; San Diego, $556.43; Calexico, $819.45; Tia Juana, $148.85; Gampo, $13, and Andrade, $56.32.

What the new internal revenue tax law has cost the people of the Sixth Internal Revenue district is shown by the figures furnished by Collector Carter, showing that about $5,000,000 is the size of the increase of collections in the ten counties of the district for the year ending June 30, 1919, over the receipts for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1918. The exact figures follow: 1918, $24,661,162.89; 1919, $29,500,000.

The total collection of taxes for the month closed last night, on account of income, liquor, sales and luxury taxes, aggregate $7,686,102.50. Of that grand aggregate, $6,677,991.22 was on account of income alone.

The total collection of all taxes for June, 1918, amounted to $14,261,028.08, of which $13,500,000 was on account of income tax alone. The large increase of income tax last June over the figures for June, 1919, is accounted for by the fact that in June, 1918, the full income tax was collected, whereas in the month just ended, it was only the second fourth of the total amount found due, with other payments to follow in September and December.

In March, 1918, the income tax collections were $10,000,000, as against $6,000,000 in March of the present year. In other words there were $4,000,000 more money collected in March, 1918, than in June of the present year.

The movements of War Savings and Thrift stamps at the local postoffice for June show that the redemptions still exceed the sales by a very large percentage. The sales for June, 1919, amounted to $15,842.83, and the redemptions to $141,936.53, or nearly ten times the value of the sales.

The receipts of the local postoffice for the past three months, were as follows: April, $287,189.70; May, $265,937.21; June, $243,097.41, or a total of $796,224.32, an increase over the previous quarter of about 10 percent. With the introduction of two-cent postage it is expected that the earnings for the coming months will show a substantial decrease.

DIVORCES CLIMB IN MONTH OF WEDDINGS.

BID FOR JUNE RECORD, BUT JUDGE THINKS THE LOSS OF BOOZE WILL CUT 'EM.

June, month of roses and marriages, is also bidding for the record for the number of divorce suits filed and tried. R. S. ("Cupid") Sparks issued last month 1070 marriage licenses. There were 224 divorce suits filed. The courts granted 236 interlocutory decreeso f divorce; 183 final decrees were entered; 9 annulments of marriage were granted. Of the divorce suits tried 25 decrees were denied. Yesterday Mr. Sparks issued 52 marriage licenses, an increase of 25 per cent. over the daily average.

Miss Shumway, who presides over the divorce index, reports that for the year ended June 30 last, there were 3303 divorce suits filed in the County Clerk's office. This is an increase over last year of 402 suits. Marriage licenses issued during the year numbered approximately 9000.

The two divorce judges, Fred H. Taft and Charles S. Crail, are optimistic for the future. Judge Crail thinks married people are going to "give and take" more; that is to say, they will be more tolerant, avoid "spats" and realize that neither party to a marriage is perfect.

Judge Taft believes that prohibition will cut into divorce suits. He thinks the lack of liquor will reduce the number of moody, sullen, brutal husbands whose wives, tired of the life they lead, seek the divorce court.

TAKES OFFICE TODAY.

New County Clerk Also Names as Deputy Liberty A. Hill.

Roy W. Dowds, deputy County Counsel, who was appointed temporary County Clerk by the Board of Supervisors until the County Clerk can be selected from the Civil Service eligible list, assuming the office today will name Liberty A. Hill, clerk in Judge Jackson's court, chief deputy County Clerk. This appointment will stand until an examination can be held under Civil Service rules. His sponsor is Judge Jackson.

Mr. Hill volunteered in the navy in the late war, although he is married, and trained to go overseas, when the armistice brought an end to his ambitions in the naval way. Mr. Dowds believes in honoring men who give themselves to their country in time of need.

By the way, Mr. Dowd's full name is Roy Wilson Dowds. He is a strong Wilson supporter.

EXTEND HIS LEAVE.

Edward Casey, member of the Harbor Commission, is still detained in South America, where he went some months ago on a business trip, and the Council yesterday extended his leave of absence until August 1.

ent in approval, enthusiasm and cooperation."

President Clinton E. Miller of the Livestock Asociation made a rattling good speech in behalf of holding a livestock show here every season. He declared there should be two State fairs in California—one at Sacramento and one at Los Angeles.

Hon. William M. Bowen presented the attractions and desirability of Exposition Park as a center for the coming shows and events.

"BEST IN WORLD."

Ex-Senator Frank P. Flint advocated a permanent organization and declared that whatever entertainment project is to be carried out—whether a music jubilee or an art exhibit or a fiesta—it should be the greatest and best thing of its kind in the world, nothing less.

Present at the luncheon were: Harry Chandler, The Times; G. B. Barham, the Herald; F. W. Kellogg, the Express; M. F. Ihmsen, the Examiner; E. A. Dickson, the Express; E. R. Collins, the Herald; H. E.
